

A MOONSHINE STILL was located and destroyed on Cantrell Creek in the Quebec section last weekend by the sheriff's department. The steamer-type still, made with four 55-gallon drums, was hidden away in a dense wooded area, but not too far off the highway. Before destroying the rig, the officers made a fake run, and Deputy Ed Owens is pictured pouring mash into the still. At the left is Deputy Floyd Owens and at the right is Sheriff Carter McCall. '63 Brevard Music Festival Opening Successful, Continues

Farm Census Cited

According to the January 1963 census survey, there were 57,038 acres of land in farms in Transylvania county.

Cropland harvested during 1962 amounted to 6,645 acres or 574 less than in 1961.

Crops showing reductions in 1962 were, small or mixed grains, vegetables grown for sale and miscellaneous crops, including orchards, vineyards, etc.

Acreage increases appeared in corn, alfalfa hay, all other hay, including clover, mixed grasses, etc. and Irish potatoes.

Livestock inventories as of January 1, 1963, showed decreases in brood sows and dairy cows of 52 and 83 head respectively, but beef cows were higher by 324 head, and laying hens were increased by 1,204 birds.

Farmers reported the use of 1,856 tons of limestone during 1962.

At the time the survey was made, 186 people had left the farm since January 1, 1962. During 1962, 777 farm people worked 100 days or more in off-farm jobs.

JOE DIXON, who assumed his duties at Brevard College librarian on August 1st, is pictured above with Mrs. Dixon. They and their two daughters recently moved to Brevard from Waynesville, where he was Haywood county public librarian. In addition to being a librarian of considerable experience, Mr. Dixon is an avid reader and does oil painting in his free time. In addition, he makes puppets for Mrs. Dixon, who enjoys entertaining children's groups. This coming Saturday morning at 9:30, the children of Brevard will have a special treat when Mrs. Dixon presents her puppets in "Tales of Uncle Remus" at the Transylvania county public library.

Famous Artists To Be Featured This Weekend

World-famous violinist Aaron Rosand will be guest artist at the Brevard Music Center next Friday night and Sunday afternoon as a part of the String Workshop. Joining Rosand on the Brevard stage during the weekend will be tenor David Lloyd and mezzo-soprano Beverly Wolff, long a favorite with the Brevard concert goers.

On Friday night, August 16th, Aaron Rosand will perform "Six Humoresques for Violin and Orchestra" by Sibelius. Indiana-born Rosand made his professional debut at the age of ten with the Chicago Symphony. He made his New York debut in 1948 and since then has played with many orchestras in the United States and Europe. He is married to pianist Eileen Flisler.

Guest Soloist

Hans Schmettau will be guest soloist with the Brevard Festival Orchestra in Dvorak's "Cello Concerto, B. Minor, Opus 104." Schmettau, first cellist with the Brevard Music Center and Brevard Music Festival Orchestra for the past two summers, is a music teacher in the Mankato public school in Mankato, Minnesota.

The Brevard Festival Orchestra, under the direction of James Christian Pfohl, will complete the Friday night concert with Respighi's "Gli Uccelli (The Birds)" and Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks, Opus 28."

On Saturday afternoon the Symphony of Voices under the direction of David Butolph will give its first program of the Festival season. Among the works to be performed are a "Mass" by Igor Stravinsky with double Woodwind Quintet, "Psalm 86" by Holst with organ and strings, three spirituals, "Concierto de Navidad" by Consona with Edward Vito playing the harp, and "Easter Cantata" by Daniel Pinkham with brass, percussion and celesta.

Williamson To Be Heard, St. Philip's

The Rev. Thom Williamson, retired, of Decatur, Georgia, will supply at St. Philip's Episcopal church for the 8:00 a. m. communion service Sunday, August 18th.

He has been a guest minister at St. Philip's on many occasions in recent years.

Lay readers will be in charge of the 11:00 o'clock service, and Sunday school classes through first grade will meet at the parish house at that time.

First Graders Offered Free Vision Tests

Many publications point out that learning to read is vitally important in the first grade and gets progressively more important as the child gets into the higher grade.

In order to make sure that children starting school for the first time this year are visually ready to learn to read, the North Carolina Optometric Society is again offering the pre-school vision screening program. This program, which will be available to every child in North Carolina who is starting school for the first time, will be held in —Turn to Page Three

Data Compiled

Economic Report On County Is Made At Meeting Tuesday

Directors of the Brevard Chamber of Commerce heard and discussed the long-awaited report on the Transylvania county area planning project at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday night in the library.

The report was given by Josef H. Perry, Research Planner for the Western North Carolina Regional Planning Commission, and dealt mainly with the economic trends of the county and a projection of present trends into the future.

Mr. Perry has been in Brevard for some time compiling data for this report, and he gave a brief run-down on his findings in the informal question-and-answer discussion.

For the basis of his report, Mr. Perry said he studied the county's economy and what it specializes in, as compared to the economy of the nation as a whole.

He said that it is the exporting companies in the county that bring the most money into Transylvania.

According to his findings there has been a large change in the specialization in this county — from paper, leather, lumber and education in 1950, to paper, silicon (and now X-ray products), cigarette filters and education in the 1960's.

Mr. Perry reports that there has been a decline in jobs for males in the county over the last 10 years but an increase of one-third in the number of jobs available for women. He says that if present trends continue, he expects an increase in the labor force in the county to approximately 5,850 workers in 1970, an increase of 15% (based on the population). —Turn to Page Four

Mrs. Macfie Is Winner In WPNF Treasure Hunt Contest

Weekly winner in WPNF's "Summer Treasure Hunt" last week was Mrs. Anita MacFie, who received $25.00 as an award.

The correct answer in last week's contest was as follows: Harry . . . Eighteenth Century . . . Four Leaf Clover . . . Georgia.

The seventh and eighth contests this week and next will be worth $25.00 each, with the final contest beginning August 26th to decide the winner of the summer jackpot, now valued at $175.00. Entry blanks are available.

An article entitled "Blue Ridge Samaritan" complete with pictures covers four pages in the August 27th edition of Look magazine.

It tells a story concerning Dr. Gaine Cannon, who practices medicine in Balsam Grove area, and describes his patients as "simple people, poor and largely illiterate. They raise hogs, and they gather moss for sale as wreaths to funeral parlors, and devote moonlit evenings to the manufacture of that regional delight, 'corn likker'."

It also speaks of the Albert Schweitzer Memorial hospital, now nearing completion, which has been built mostly by the mountain people.

Dr. Cannon is described as plagued by a ruptured disc and heart trouble, a quiet, gentle man who spends most of his time in the hills treating the people too ill to come to the clinic.

The doctor calls himself, the article states, "just a plain mountain doctor, available with or without pay, seven days every week, whenever my neighbors need me."
