Thousands Expected Here Saturday For Shrine Parade And Fish Fry

Event To Begin 12:30 O'Clock Public Invited

Thousands of people are expected in Brevard Saturday to view the Shrine parade by the uniform units of Oasis Temple, Charlotte. The event will begin at 12:30 p.m.

These parade units are made up of men from Charlotte, Asheville and Greensboro, principally, and will feature bands, trick vehicles, clowns and a large group of uniformed Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

This is the first time the Shriners have brought such a parade to Brevard.

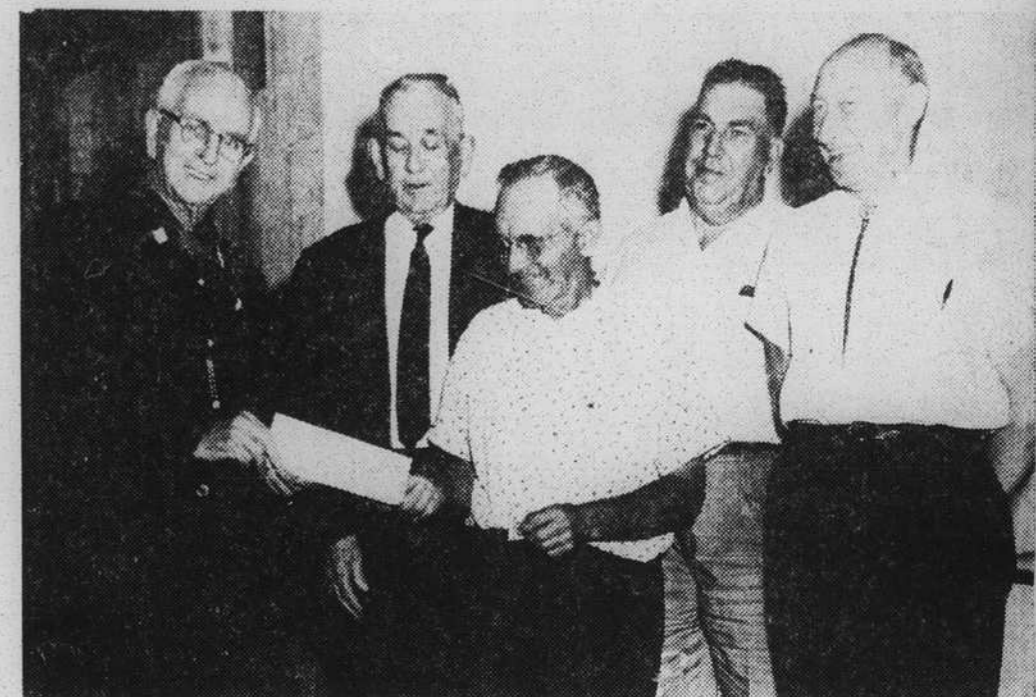

They will also stage a parade in Hendersonville prior to the Brevard parade.

Plans for the event have been underway for several months, and it promises to be a colorful affair.

According to Ralph O. Hood, of Charlotte, potentate of Oasis Temple, the purpose of the parade-visitation is to bring the Oasis Temple program to the members. "In these visits to the home towns of the members, we share our fun with our members as well as with the public," he stated.

Following the parade, more than 1,000 Shriners will participate in a big fish fry at Sycamore Flats in Pisgah National Forest.

T. E. Reid is president of the Transylvania Shrine club, and Henry R. Henderson is ambassador for Transylvania county.

College Begins New Term

Brevard College has started another year and students are checking in from many parts of the nation. To the outsider, it might appear to be the "usual crop" of students. But this year there is a difference.

There are no "re-treads" — students who failed to make the grade at another college and hoped to transfer to this, a small school. Brevard College has become very selective.

There are 250 freshmen enrolled this year. They were picked from over 500 applicants as those having the highest scholastic records. 50 percent of the freshman class are from out-of-state.

According to Alan Wallace, of public relations at the college: "There is an assumption in some quarters that any student who graduates from high school will be admitted to a junior college if there is room.

"Brevard College does not fit into this category. It is not a refuge for the intellectually inept."

Every effort is made at Brevard College to determine whether or not a prospective student is capable of doing college work, because the program at —Turn to Page Four

Long Listed Carried Many Students In Colleges From Brevard, County

Many Brevard and Transylvania county students are now enrolled in colleges and universities in the south and throughout the nation.

The Times is happy to report that a large number from this group is receiving Brevard's prize-winning weekly newspaper.

Editor John Anderson says the paper will be a "letter from home" for them each week.

The staff of The Times has made a survey to determine just how many town and county students are enrolled in college, and a long list is carried this week.

"Naturally, we couldn't get the names of all, but we will carry those in future issues if they will report to us where they are in school," the editor said.

Bowling Lanes Reopen This Weekend

The opening of the Brevard Lanes is coming.

Completion of the lanes is being held up by lack of parts for the equipment. Six "sweepers", the device that brings the ball up from the ball return lanes and into the magic circle racks, have been ordered from Chicago and have not yet arrived.

According to Dan Hawkins, AMF is a 3-part organization, lanes, pin-spotting equipment and bowling area furniture and equipment, and since the lanes —Turn to Page Seven

Town Board Has Busy Session

The Town Board of Aldermen had a busy night at its regular meeting Monday.

The board suspended Hale Siniard's license to operate a taxi stand pending the outcome of his trial in General County Court on charges of illegal possession of tax-paid liquor.

Hal Cartwright and T. H. Worsham were authorized by the board to install a standard size (6") water main between Neely Road and Oak street. This main would serve the subdivision they are developing on Neely Road. The board also prohibits tap-ins on this water line by anyone else unless they settle costs with Mr. Cartwright and Mr. Worsham.

"This is the same thing that we are doing with the water line to Pisgah Heights," said Bill Edens, town manager. "This is one way we can get the much needed improvements in North Brevard without a large outlay of Town capital."

The board appropriated funds to run a sewer line out Railroad Avenue to the Brevard Manufacturing Company and to assist in the installation of a line to the Imperial Motel. The estimated cost of the line to Brevard Manufacturing is $2500.00.

Action was taken to advertise for sale 2 tracts of land owned by the Town.

The proceeds from one tract, the Brackens Creek Watershed, will be reserved for water supply purposes. The other tract, Singing Branch, located between Batson road and the New School road, is no longer used or needed for access to the sewage —Turn to Page Seven

Slightly Higher $35,304 Budget Adopted For 1964 By United Fund

Public Reaction, Planning Report Causes Concern

The Brevard Chamber of Commerce showed great concern over the merchant's reaction, or rather, their lack of reaction to the planning board's preliminary report on the proposed modernization of the town.

Five copies of the board's diagram have been placed in store windows uptown for public inspection, especially for the merchants, and it was hoped that the public would express their opinions to the board.

The public and the merchants are urged to view these diagrams and attend the meeting of the planning board Tuesday, September 17th, at 8:00.

Gary Cooper, assistant director of the WNCRPC, will be on hand to answer any questions and give an explanation of the board's proposed plans.

In other business conducted by the chamber at its meeting Tuesday night:

A budget of $35,304.00 has been adopted for this fall's campaign of the United Fund in Brevard and Transylvania county.

According to William Keith, president, this amount is $4,640.00 more than it was last year, and several new agencies have been added.

Mr. Keith says the sum of $35,304.00, in the opinion of the board of directors, represents a minimum amount needed to support this community's essential health, welfare and recreational services that are included in the campaign.

"Our admissions and budget committee, chaired by Rev. Ben Ormand and made up of 12 of the county's top leaders, has spent hours meeting with agency representatives and reviewing all the needs of all the agencies," Mr. Keith said.

"Their careful review and final judgment provides assurance to the contributors that their dollars are wisely allocated."

The following are the agencies and the amounts approved for their support as approved by the board at the recent meeting:

- Associated Charities (Heart, Cancer, Crippled Children) —$1,000
- Boy Scouts —$4,250
- Carolinas United —$2,374
- Girl Scouts —$2,830
- Humane Society —$800
- Mary C. Jenkins Community Center —$2,500 —Turn to Page Three
