Cordial Welcome Is Extended To College Students And Faculty As Term Opens

Comments Made To Community By President

As Brevard college begins the new term, President Emmett K. McLarty issues the following statement to be included in this special issue of The Transylvania Times:

"The new academic year, 1963-1964, is under way at Brevard college, and the prospects are excellent for a good year.

"396 students in regular standing have been registered, and in addition to this number there are several special students taking regular college work. These figures do not include the many Brevard people who will be studying art and music in the college facilities this year.

"The college personnel is always impressed and deeply grateful for the many expressions of welcome extended by individuals and businesses in the local community. Since over half of our student body come from outside North Carolina, the reputation of Brevard as a warm-hearted community is spreading throughout the nation. In a recent open house held at the college for new and returning students and their parents, there were many expressions of commendation for the kindness and hospitality expressed by the college and community. Now I wish to add my own appreciation to the people of Brevard for their interest and support of the college.

"Cities and towns throughout our State which do not have colleges of their own are realizing what a great asset an institution of higher learning is to a community. Those on the administration, staff and faculty of the college confidently believe that Brevard college is one of the very best two-year colleges in the nation, and our belief is supported by high school counselors and four-year college admissions offices throughout the nation.

"35 of the present student body are day students, meaning that these live in the immediate area and commute to college. One third of the graduates of our local high school who attend college attend Brevard.

Draft Board Is Wanting Information

Local Board No. 89 of the Selective Service system for Transylvania county requests that all registrants who are married and living with their wives in a bona fide family relationship report this fact immediately to them, if they have not done so.

A recent executive order issued by President Kennedy places these registrants in a lower order of selection for Armed Forces physical examination and induction at the present time.

An announcement of a registrant's marriage published in a newspaper is not enough evidence for the local board. It must be reported by him personally. Immediate attention to this matter should be given.

The local board office is located in the basement of the post office in Brevard. The telephone number is 883-2155.

Civic Chorus Holds First Meet Tuesday

The first meeting of the Brevard Civic Chorus for the 1963-64 season will be held Tuesday, September 24th, at 8:00 o'clock, in the choir room of the Brevard Methodist church.
