More In Upper Brackets In Transylvania

By Staff Writer

A larger segment of Transylvania county's population than ever before is now to be found in the middle and upper income brackets.

The income gains of recent years have carried many of them to new and higher levels.

Families who had been in the $4,000 to $7,000 category have moved into the $7,000 to $10,000 bracket. Their former position has been occupied, in turn, by families who had been in the $2,500 to $4,000 group previously.

The facts are brought out in a breakdown of 1962 incomes, conducted by Sales Management. The copyrighted study, which shows the proportion of the population in each grouping, covers the entire country.

It determines, for each community, whether the so-called "average income" is enjoyed by a large part of the population or whether it is merely a statistical figure resulting from a balancing off between very high and very low income classes.

Some 2,020 households in Transylvania county had disposable, cash incomes last year of $4,000 or more, it is shown. This was after payment of their Federal and state taxes.

It marked a gain over the preceding year, when there were 1,786 local households in the "over $4,000" brackets.

The change in the one year amounted to 13.1 percent. The comparable gain in the United States was 2.7 percent. It was 19.2 percent in the State of North Carolina.

Auditorium Campaign Is Extended

Chances are the Brevard Music Center will have its new $185,000 auditorium by next summer when hundreds of young people, faculty members and guest artists begin arriving at the Transylvania Music Camp in Brevard.

Dr. James Christian Pfoh, director of the music camp, said today from his offices in Charlotte: "We are extremely optimistic at this time."

The original cut-off date for the drive was Oct. 1st, but the deadline has been extended. Final results of the campaign will be announced by Thanksgiving, he said.

The drive was launched when an out-of-state foundation offered a challenge grant of $75,000 toward a badly needed new auditorium at the camp.

An offer of $20,000 was added by a group of businessmen. "The campaign has been tre—" —Turn to Page Four

Start-Up Of Ecusta's No. 11 Paper Machine Is Said To Be Satisfactory

Is The World's Most Modern, Progress Noted

Olin's No. 11 paper machine, which represents the latest in technological advancement in design, construction and controls, is now in operation at the Pisgah Forest plant, and officials of the corporation describe the "start up" of the giant machine as being "very satisfactory".

No. 11 is a twin to machine No. 10, which at the time of its completion was the largest in the world for the manufacture of lightweight papers.

No. 10 was put into operation in August, 1958, and ground was broken in March, 1962, for the new machine.

No. 11 was built by the Paper Machine Division of The Black-Clawson Company of Watertown, New York. Ecusta's first eight machines were also built by Black-Clawson.

The machine, designed primarily for the production of WAYLITE printing papers and carbonizing paper, will produce a sheet 160 inches wide at speeds ranging from 700 to 1,000 feet per minutes.

Ecusta's printing papers have special uses because of their light weight and thinness coupled with superior qualities of whiteness and opacity. —Turn to Page Four

$100 Billion Observance Savings And Loan Cites Record Here, In Nation

R. M. "BOB" BOYD, who is chairman of the Transylvania County Board of Commissioners, is currently on a "Good-will People-to-People Travel" tour of Eastern and Western Europe. The tour is designed for American governmental leaders on the county, state and national levels to meet and discuss mutual problems with foreign officials. Mr. Boyd also plans to spend a couple of weeks visiting his sister and brother-in-law, Major and Mrs. John Williams, in West Germany. He will return to Brevard the latter part of the month.

The Brevard Federal Savings and Loan Association joins over 6,300 such associations across the nation in the $100 Billion Celebration, commemorating the passing of this amount in total assets held by the association.

Begun in the 1830's as a series of wage earners' "Cooperative Building Associations," local Savings and Loan Associations last year financed the building of 429,000 homes and the buying of 757,000 others. In the process, it is estimated that they created 700,000 new jobs (for workmen to construct the new homes) and $2.4 billion worth of retail sales (of furniture, appliances, and equipment for these homes.)

Jerry Jerome, president of the Brevard Association, took time out from a busy schedule this week to remark upon the place which the Brevard Federal Savings and Loan has made for itself in the admirable history of Savings and Loan Associations.

Since it was established in 1938, the organization has fulfilled its dual purposes of promoting thrift and home ownership. In addition, the Savings and Loan Association has served Transylvania through savings accounts. —Turn to Page Four

Local Rotarians Gain National Recognition

The Brevard Rotary club was the winner over the West Asheville club in a recent attendance contest, and as a result, local Rotarians were guests this week at a steak supper at Camp Deerwood.

According to Dr. James Sanders, president of Brevard Rotarians, the club here gained national recognition with its perfect attendance record for 6 consecutive months.

President Allen Culberson, of the West Asheville club, presented Brevard Rotarians with a plaque for their outstanding achievement in attendance.

President Sanders urges all members of the Brevard club to attend the important meeting next Monday night in Gaither's Rhododendron room. Meeting time, as usual, is 7:00 o'clock.

The Weather

Almost four inches of precipitation were recorded at the local weather observation station in Brevard during the past week, with well over half of that amount recorded Friday evening until Saturday evening.

Daily highs and lows averaged out at just under 69 and 44 degrees, respectively.

High temperature for the week was 75 recorded on Friday, with the low mark being a chilly 35 on both Wednesday and Saturday mornings of last week.

Readings for the past week are as follows:

The five day forecast calls for temperatures slightly below seasonal normals of 73 and 50. Chance of scattered showers over the weekend, and no important day to day temperature changes.

The 1964 United Fund campaign is now in full swing in Brevard and Transylvania county.

The drive opened with a "big feed" for the chairmen and solicitors in Gaither's Rhododendron room.

President Bill Keith presided over the meeting, and other speakers were Director Turner and James M. Wulpi, the executive secretary.

The United Fund office is now open each day in the little house adjacent to the Brevard post office.

Mr. Wulpi announced at the breakfast that the First Union National bank was the first firm to pledge 100 percent.
