NASA's Satellite Tracking Station In Upper County To Be Dedicated Oct. 26

Governor Will Head Officials In Visit Here

The $5 million Rosman Satellite Tracking station in upper Transylvania county will be dedicated on October 26th in elaborate ceremonies.

Governor Terry Sanford, other state officials along with Congressmen and NASA representatives from Washington, D. C., are expected to attend the event that will have national significance.

In advance of the formal dedication NASA space mobiles are now visiting at Brevard, Rosman and Hendersonville, explaining the space effort to high school students.

Adult groups are being invited to attend evening sessions.

NASA lecturers are Herman Oberle and Myles Doherty. Both are experienced space science lecturers and accredited science teachers. This space science program is designed to familiarize the local communities with NASA's space science program in advance of the dedication ceremony.

The new tracking station is designed to track, command and receive information from scientific satellites such as Orbiting Geophysical and Astronomical Observatories. The station has an 85-foot tracking antenna. It is linked with NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Maryland, on the outskirts of Washington, D. C. The large antenna serves as the station's radio "ears" with which to "hear" tiny sounds from outer space, generated by orbiting satellites. Some of the satellites to be tracked will be more

UF Drive In Full Swing

The United Fund thermometer located on the courthouse square has started its rise toward the 1964 goal of $35,304.00, according to William H. Keith, president of the Transylvania County United Fund.

"We are pleased with the response so far," he stated, "but we have a long way to go, and we urge our citizens to do their share in our drive."

Solicitors are urged to turn in their reports as soon as possible to the Fund headquarters located next to the post office.

The goal is expected to be reached by October 15th, according to Larry Turner, campaign chairman.

The First Union National Bank was the first business firm to report 100 percent participation this year. Pledges have been received from the following camps: Illahee, Gay Valley, Rockbrook, and High Rocks.

Gifts from firms outside the county include Wign Dixie, of Greenville, S. C.; Smile Stations, Inc., Conover; Home Security Life Insurance of Durham; and A. W. Ripley, Jr., of Atlanta, Georgia.

Other outstanding pledges have been received from Abercrombie's, Brevard Auto Parts, Gaither's Restaurant, Moore-Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Keith, R. J. Duckworth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry N. Carrier, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Freeman, Miss Jane Darnall, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Knott, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. LaMotte, Miss Marie Strasser, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Clark, Mrs. Lila M. Publications At Senior Hi Top Winners

Brevard senior high school won top honors at the 12th Annual Editors Roundtable conference last weekend at Cullowhee.

Brevard was given undisputed first place in the printed newspaper division, and Brevard and Canton tied for first in yearbook competition.

Principal N. A. Miller said this week that he was very proud of the two staffs.

Over the years, Brevard has been a consistent winner, and having two firsts this year is quite a record, he stated.

Some 125 editors gathered on the WCC campus for the two-day meeting and featured speakers were Miss Gertrude Ramsey, of the Asheville Citizen-Times; John M. McGrail, professor of photojournalism at USC; and Clifton Metcalf, president of the WNC Press association.

The Weather

Only a trace of precipitation was recorded in Brevard during the past week, with average highs and lows of 75 and 40 degrees.

Extremes temperature wise were 81 and 33 degrees.

The forecast calls for temperatures near or slightly below normals of 70 and 47 during the next five days. Little, if any, rain is indicated in Transylvania.

Statistics for the past week were:

	High	Low
Wednesday	74	33
Thursday	81	44
Friday	75	45
Saturday	71	39
Sunday	72	39
Monday	76	38
Tuesday	76	40

A trace of precipitation was recorded on both Saturday and Tuesday of the 7-day period.

Peak Of Fall Color Expected This Week

Tax Collections For 1962 At High Percentage

The collection of 1962 taxes for Transylvania county reached the high percentage figure of 95.98, according to an announcement by L. R. Hipp, tax collector.

Last year the collections were 95.51 per cent.

At the same time, Mr. Hipp reported that he had collected $17,522.56 in back taxes.

The net levy, plus discoveries, less errors and less town and county owned property was $527,392.69.

Total collections were $512,547.74.

It is believed that last year's collection percentage of 95.98 is the largest ever in this county, and one of the largest percentages ever collected by any county in the state.

Mr. Hipp also reported on tax collections for the towns of Brevard and Rosman this week.

Collections for Brevard were 94.49 per cent.

The levy, plus discoveries, less errors and less town and county owned property, was $92,188.61. Total collecting amounted to $87,565.44, and collections of back taxes were $4,759.18.

The percentage figure for the collection of Rosman taxes was 88.77, and the amount was $2,789.27.

Back taxes collections amounted to $182.21.

The Fall color season in the Pisgah National Forest should be at its peak by this weekend and next according to Ranger Ted Seely.

A panorama of brilliant yellow, gold, and red colors are replacing the green leaves of summer throughout the forest and along the Blue Ridge Parkway.

More than 100 species of trees and shrubs that grow in the forest are adding their own distinctive colors to the scenery.

At low elevation there are the red, oranges and yellows or red maple, sumac, sourwood, ash, sassafras, and tulip poplar.

At the higher elevations the gold of beech and the bright yellow of birch highlight the panorama of color.

Every road in the forest is expected to be bordered by brilliant color this weekend, and next, Ranger Seely said.

Contest Begins

Byerly Opens Observance Of National Newspaper Week

Kenneth R. Byerly, associate professor of journalism at the University of North Carolina, opened the local observance of National Newspaper week in Brevard and Transylvania by appearing on four programs in the county last Thursday and Thursday night.

He spoke to the student body at Rosman high school, and later in the afternoon he addressed the journalism classes at Brevard senior high school and at Brevard College.

That evening he was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Brevard Kiwanis club.

He was introduced on the various programs by John I. Anderson, editor of The Transylvania Times.

Mr. Byerly "wore many hats" last Thursday.

To the students he was a learned professor, giving tips and advice on education today. He stressed the importance of readings newspapers; making good grades; and going to college.

To the Kiwanians, he was an interesting and dynamic after dinner speaker.

He asked the members of the club to put themselves in the role of a newspaper editor during his talk.

Fire Prevention Being Stressed

Members of the Brevard and Rosman volunteer fire departments are this week joining in the annual observance of Fire Prevention week.

Mayor B. W. Thomason here at Brevard and Mayor Austin Hogged at Rosman have issued proclamations calling on citizens to make every week, "Fire Prevention week."

They urged citizens to eliminate fire hazards in the homes, in businesses, in the schools and in the communities.

Fire Chief Dan Merrill stresses the fact that despite fire safety reminders, 11,800 persons died in fires last year.

Thousands more were seriously injured, and property damages reached an all-time high.

The majority of the fires were caused by human carelessness.

"Therefore, we urged you to bring this matter to the attention of those with whom you work. If the department can be of service to you during Fire Prevention week or at any time, please do not hesitate to call on us," Chief Merrill declared.

Both the Brevard and Rosman departments carry on year round training programs, and at this time of the year they put special emphasis on fire prevention.

Highlighting the local observance of National Newspaper Week, which is Oct. 13th-19th, The Transylvania Times will again sponsor an essay contest in Brevard and Rosman high schools.

The theme of the observance this year is "Newspapers Make a Big Difference in People's Lives."

The contest will be open to all 11th and 12th graders in the two schools, and Editor John Anderson is asking these students to submit an essay of not more than 500 words to their English teachers by 3:00 p.m., October 25th.

First prize in the contest here in Transylvania will be $15.00, second $10.00 and third, $5.00.

Robert Reid Addresses Friends Of Library

Jack E. Driscoll, president of Friends of the Library, announces today that Civil War buffs and those interested in library activities will be pleased to learn that through the courtesy of Christ School arrangements have been made for Robert H. Reid to address the annual meeting of Friends of the Library.

"Mr. Reid, who is registrar and Latin instructor at the Arden, N. C. educational center, is widely known in this area for his vigorous and stimulating talks on Civil War history, and on the implications for our own day of notable events during that period," Mr. Driscoll says.

Known as "Cap" Reid to his students and associates since his service in the Air Force, Mr. Reid received his A.B. degree from Davidson College, and his Masters from Duke University and has taught for 18 years at Christ School.

During the summers from 1955-1962, he was also seasonal ranger historian at Appomattox Court House, Virginia. The subject for his talk will be "The Closing Scene at Appomattox."

The annual meeting will be held at the Transylvania County library at 8:00 p.m. on October 16. The public is cordially invited, and many who follow the growth and progress of the library are expected to attend.

The program will also feature a brief review of Friends' activities during the past season, and an election to fill —Turn to Page Eight
