United Fund Adopts Budget Of $35,476, Drive Begins 28th

Transylvania YDC Group To Attend Meet

A large delegation of Transylvania Democrats is expected to attend the state-wide YDC rally on Saturday, Sept. 12th, at Maggie Valley.

Local attorney, Bruce Morton, has tickets for interested persons.

Registration will be held at the Mountain Valley Inn at Maggie Valley, beginning at 2:00 o'clock, and the dinner meeting will begin at 7:00 o'clock.

Jim Graham, newly appointed commissioner of agriculture, will be the principal speaker, and candidates for the presidency of the YDC are also expected to be heard.

Amount Needed Slightly More Than Last Year

A budget of $35,476.00 has been adopted for this fall's campaign of the United Fund in Brevard and Transylvania county.

This amount is less than $200 over last year's budget, Jack Mitchell, the president, reports, and the Board of Directors gave long and careful consideration to all requests.

The drive will begin on Monday, Sept. 28th, with a kick-off breakfast for officers and workers in the United Fund.

President Mitchell praised the work of the Admission and Budget committee. This group is headed by Neville Fuleihan.

"We are pleased that we were able to come up with a budget comparable to last year's, and we feel that this is the minimum amount needed to support the community's essential health, welfare and recreational services," he declared.

The careful review and final judgment of the Admission and Budget committee provides assurance to the contributors that their dollars are allocated wisely, the president continued.

The great majority of the funds raised here remain in Brevard and Transylvania county, and the local UF also supports its fair share of state and national needs.

Charles F. Himes will direct the campaign this fall.

The Voices Of Newsmakers Are Heard On WPNF

Through special arrangements with a national organization, WPNF is now presenting the voices of the important newsmakers on its daily news summaries.

Among the world figures being heard on the local news broadcasts are President Johnson, Senator Goldwater, U.N. dignitaries and many more.

In addition to adding color to the news reports, these special features bring the news to the listener in far more depth than with an ordinary report, station officials said.

A total of 17 world or state summaries are heard daily over WPNF, and many of these features.

Community Thanked By Director, Music Center

Sept. 8, 1964
At the end of the Brevard Music Center's 28th season, it is more than just appropriate that I thank the citizens of Brevard for the help which made this the most successful summer we have known. It is a pleasure to be able to do so.

The paradox which makes things most dear to us often most neglected or forgotten was resolved in Brevard this summer, as more and more of our citizens began to share the rewards—and not just the burdens—of the "Summer Music Capital of the South." Students from 44 states and Puerto Rico came to study and to play at Transylvania Music Camp; and the finest performances and the greatest musical artists enriched our community. Thousands of tourists attended the Center's concerts, in addition to the increased local following.

Annual Fire School Will Begin, 21st

Plans are underway for the Sixth Annual Western North Carolina Firemen's Training School, slated for Brevard the week of September 21st.

D. R. Boyd, Brevard fire chief, expects the largest enrollment in the history of the school this year.

Many phases of fire-fighting and training will be taught by capable, well-qualified instructors from the various departments in Western North Carolina and Sherman Pickard and a staff of professional instructors from the Insurance Commissioner's office, Raleigh.

Dan Merrill, retired chief, who is assisting with preparations for the school, will also serve as an instructor.

College Opening With Capacity Number

Brevard College's annual Faculty-Staff-Student Work Conference, which is now in progress, will conclude on Saturday with an evening of fellowship for all participants.

New students will arrive on Sunday to begin a program of testing and orientation. They will be joined by the sophomores for Wednesday's registration, and classes will begin on Thursday.

Seven well-qualified persons of considerable training and experience have been added to the faculty for the coming school term.

Dr. Ora Railsback, an A.B., A.M., and Ph.D. graduate of Indiana University, will teach physics and mathematics. Dr. Railsback served as head of the physics department of the Chicago division, University of Illinois, for 12 years and as assistant to the vice-president of that division for two years. He has written a number of scientific articles which have been published.

Miss Marie Benge, a former Brevard College honor student, received the B.S. from Western Carolina and the M.A. from the University of South Carolina. Miss Benge was a recipient of the National Science Foundation grant for mathematics teachers. She has had teaching experience at Franklin and North Buncombe high schools, and has assisted with the Gifted Child program at Western Carolina. Miss Benge will be instructing in mathematics.

Professor Ray H. Burson, a B.S. graduate of Rutgers University and an M.A. graduate of the University of Missouri English department, has had considerable experience in foreign teaching. He has served as a language instructor for the Turkish Air Force Language School in Izmir and as instructor and director of courses for Centro-Colombo-Americano in Cali, Colombia, South America. He will join the English department personnel.

Dr. Robert Jeffers of Kansas City, Kansas, is a B.S., M.A., and Ph.D. graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he finished with honors. He will be instructing in biology and chemistry.

The program of guidance and counseling will be under the direction of Harrison E. Tawney, who holds the B.S. in education from Ohio State University and the M.A. in education from Kent State University. Professor Tawney was employed as director of public relations at St. Mary's Seminary and Junior College in St. Mary's, Maryland, as principal of Troy High School in Welsh-field, Ohio, and as director of guidance at George Mason High School in Falls Church, Virginia.

Miss Willoughby G. Jarrell, who holds the A.B. and M.A. degrees in government and history from Indiana University, will teach in the history department and serve as Dean of Women. Miss Jarrell has done research in political science at Indiana University and has taught at Joseph Foust School in Columbus, Indiana.

Girls' health and physical education classes will be instructed by Mrs. Barbara W. Daye, a B.S. and M.A. graduate of Appalachian State Teachers' College. Mrs. Daye has taught at West Henderson High School, at Lees-McRae's Appalachian Summer Camp, and as a fellowship grant teacher in Appalachian State's elementary school and college classes.

Gavin Brings Campaign To Local Area

Gubernatorial candidate Robert L. Gavin spoke before Brevard Republicans last Saturday night emphasizing industry and job development.

Speaking before just under 200 people at the fund-raising dinner, Mr. Gavin proposed that a job development commission be established for North Carolina.

The duties of this commission, he said, would be to coordinate the activities of the state's many administrative departments which are concerned with industrial development.

Mr. Gavin pointed out that industry has been slow to locate in the extreme eastern and western portions of the state because lack of transportation has kept them out.
