

From Floods County To Get $56,750 For Bridges, Roads

Of the $64,384.00 allocated in Washington on Tuesday by the Bureau of Public Roads to repairs bridges and approaches damaged by the floods last October in Western North Carolina counties, Transylvania will receive $56,750.00.

According to Congressman Roy A. Taylor, this money will go for four projects in the county.

They are as follows:

- Rt. 1107 - $30,750.00
- Rt. 1149 - $7,000.00
- Rt. 1533 - $14,000.00
- Rt. 1109 - $5,000.00

All of the WNC projects are for repair of bridges and bridge approaches, except Rt. 1109 in Transylvania, which is for repair of roadway.

While the allotment has been approved, actual disbursement of funds depends upon congressional appropriations to replenish the bureau's emergency relief fund, which is almost depleted.

A continuing emergency fund of $30,000,000 annually is provided to the bureau by Congress to help repair highway facilities damaged by natural disasters.

Pertelote Is Dedicated To Cantrell, Popular On Campus

By Dorothy Wallace

The 1965 Pertelote, Brevard College annual, has been dedicated to Quentin Eugene Cantrell, director of maintenance.

The dedication reads:

"Whether driving a bus load of students to a special function, calling a square dance, supervising the maintenance of the campus, mending a leaking faucet, or repairing a furnace in the middle of winter, the person to whom the 1965 Pertelote is dedicated is a continuing example of the finest characteristics for which men are remembered. The strength, the patience, and laughter of the hills abide in him, and persons from all walks are enriched by his good humor and warm friendliness.

"Soft-spoken, hardworking, a loyal friend—these words are descriptive of Quentin Eugene Cantrell to whom the 1965 Pertelote is affectionately dedicated."

The first copy of the annual was presented to Mr. Cantrell last week during chapel services by the editor, Miss Monica Driscoll, also of Brevard. Following the presentation, the audience gave him a standing ovation.

Mr. Cantrell has served the college for the past 10 years.

A favorite with the students, he rarely misses a ball game, he takes students mountain-climbing, he drives the bus to special activities. He, along with Mrs. Irma Monteith, is

Brevard Jaycees Lauded At The State Convention

The Brevard Jaycees were acclaimed one of the outstanding clubs in North Carolina at the N. C. Jaycee state convention in Asheville last weekend.

The local club, competing in the population class of towns with populations between 5,000 and 15,000, won first place awards in two categories, second place in one and third place in two others.

In addition, local attorney John K. Smart, president of the Brevard club last year, was awarded the Charles Hutchins Memorial Award as the outstanding local president for all clubs of towns in the 5,000 to 15,000 population category.

The local Jaycees won top honors in "Americanism, Government and Public Affairs", mostly for their work in a "get out the vote" campaign that they conducted, as well as their work in the general election last fall when they called in local returns to the state and national wire services as they came in.

"Ways and Means" was another category in which the local club took top honors. The annual folk festival, pumpkin and light bulb sales and the awarding of an expensive travel trailer were instrumental in winning first place in this category.

The second place award was in "Health and Safety", with the Teen-age Road-E-O, Labor Day safety program and the safety check lane leading to this honor.

A third place in "Youth and Sports" went to the local club for their sponsoring of the WNC Relays and the National Junior College Southeastern Regional baseball tourney, and their publication won a third place award in the "Publications" category.

Jaycee Oscar Grant was in charge of preparing the numerous scrapbooks that the local club entered in each category, and he was most pleased with the outstanding showing that the Brevard Jaycees made at the convention.

The convention in Asheville was climaxed last Saturday night with another unusual honor when Brevard Jaycee Robert Hunter was succeeded by Brevard Jaycee John K. Smart as vice president of this region of the N. C. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Federal Project 'Head Start' Launched Here

Project "Head Start", a program designed to give children a "head start" in their school experiences, will get underway in Transylvania county this summer.

News that $21,588 has been allotted for the local program was received Wednesday morning by Superintendent Wayne Bradburn in a telegram from Sargent Shriver, Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Funds for the program were approved under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.

First choice will be given those who will begin school in the fall, Mrs. Olson stated.

Progress Report On Glen Cannon Made This Week

Anyone with enough curiosity to have visited the Glen Cannon Country Club property during the past few weeks is fully aware that much progress has been made on the golf course.

Curiosity is running well ahead of schedule—so is the construction of the course.

According to W. B. Lewis, who is building the course, it is entirely possible that by Saturday of this week, 12 of the 18 greens will be graded and shaped. They will then be ready for the drain tile, stone, sand and topsoil. All of this precedes the actual planting of the greens.

In the meantime, work is progressing on tees, fairways, and lakes. Two of the lakes are virtually complete.

Walter S. Clayton, chairman of the construction committee, announced the hiring of a golf course superintendent this week.

The new superintendent, Gene Houston from Highlands, will report for work on July 1. Further information about this will appear in the next progress report.

The swimming pool committee is currently having preliminary plans drawn for the pool. After a design has been approved, it will then be submitted to prospective builders for bids. It is hoped that construction will begin on the pool during the late summer.

Membership in the club now stands within two or three of 400.

Camp Concerts Open June 27, Festival Aug. 8

Henry Janiec, Artistic Director of the Brevard Music Center, announced today that the Center had received an opera grant from the Martha Baird Rockefeller Fund for Music in New York.

The sizeable grant provides specifically for the appearance at the Brevard Music Center of the Festival Opera Theater under the direction of Metropolitan Opera Music Consultant George Schick.

The opera, "Così Fan Tutti" will be performed twice, in the afternoon and evening of August 14, as a part of the Brevard Music Festival, and will feature professional artists in the leading and supporting roles. An additional performance by the company is scheduled at Converse College on August 16.

The Festival Opera Theater will bring a double cast for the opera to North Carolina and each performance will feature entirely different singers. Scenery and costumes will also be provided through the Rockefeller grant. All singers in the company are members of the Metropolitan Opera Studio.

The Martha Baird Rockefeller Fund for Music has made a great contribution to the performing arts through the years in its generous support of individual musicians studying in the United States and abroad, and to performing organizations such as the Brevard Music Center.

Camp concerts will begin this summer on June 27th, and the festival programs open on August 8th.

The appearance of the New York group at the Brevard Music Center is a significant part of an entirely new aspect of the Center program. For the first time in the Center's history, a resident company will produce and perform operas during the entire season. Performances of Madame Butterfly (Puccini), Dido and Aeneas (Purcell), Down in the Valley (Weill), Lucia di Lammermoor (Donizetti), Cinderella (Rossini) and Annie Get Your Gun (Berlin) will be produced on Saturday evenings during the 1965 season. All of the operas will feature nationally and internationally renowned singers and will be under the direction of John Richards McCrae.

Greens Damaged By Pranksters At Golf Course

Vandals did considerable damage to golf greens of the Brevard Country Club Tuesday night, according to club manager, E. E. Fraser.

The damage was done when someone maliciously rode a motor scooter or some similar type vehicle around in circles on both No. 4 and No. 5 greens, ripping up the new, expensive turf.

Mr. Fraser reported the incident to Police Chief Jimmie Rowe early Wednesday morning, and an immediate investigation was started to find and prosecute the individuals responsible.

The act of vandalism was done with no regard for the unnecessary expense that will be incurred in repairing the greens, and was apparently done just for "kicks". Beer cans were in evidence at the scene, and the entire episode seems to have been just a thoughtless, expensive lark.

Chief Rowe stated that the investigation to uncover the guilty parties was continuing.

by Richard Wynne, executive news editor of the Asheville Citizen Times and John I. Anderson, Jr., editor of The Transylvania Times.

The last two programs will feature Jack Belt of WLOS-TV with Mrs. Peg Fry from WHCC Radio and George Searle of Miller Printing company and publicity relations consultant, John E. Jones.

The general theme of the program is "Ask the Experts About
