American Thread Continues Its Expansion Plans

The American Thread company, as part of a program of planned expansion, is in the process of securing options on land in the Marble area for possible use as a future plant site, Company President E. B. Shaw disclosed this week.

The American Thread company, manufacturers of cotton and synthetic threads and yarns, now operates six plants located in five states from Maine to Georgia. The company has recently started operation of its second North Carolina plant. Located near Brevard, it is reported to be one of the south's 10 most modern spinning mills.

Congressman To Speak

Schenck Job Corps Center To Be Dedicated Saturday

The new Schenck Job Corps center in beautiful Pisgah National forest will be formally dedicated on Saturday, Nov. 6, at 2:00 o'clock.

Congressman Roy A. Taylor will be the principal speaker, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

According to Phil Clark, the director, "Open House" will follow the dedication ceremony, and he is anxious to show the fine Job Corps center to the public.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Brevard high school band, under the direction of John D. Eversman.

The dedication is being sponsored by the Brevard Kiwanis club, and President Don Blankinship will preside over the program.

Richard H. Miller, assistant regional forester, will also speak on the program, as will E. Hunter Smith, of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Others on the program include Rev. Ed Roy, of Brevard College, and Donald Lee Moore, chairman of the Transylvania County Board of Commissioners.

Tours during "Open House" will be conducted by the corpsmen of the center, and Mr. Clark is anxious for the public to meet these young men.

The Schenck center is located along the Davidson River, just inside the Pisgah National forest. The property is adjacent to English chapel, and is easily reached from US Highway 276.

Corpsmen receive basic

Grand Jury Inspects Institutions

Members of the Grand Jury of the October-November term of Superior court inspected the schools of the town and county, the court house and the jail.

Various recommendations were made at the institutions.

The jurors commended the principals of the schools and said they are dedicated to give the best of their efforts to the job they are doing.

They also commended the management of the lunchroom at Brevard senior high school.

"An excellent and substantial lunch is served there," the report states.

A committee also found both the school and cafeteria at Straus school in very good shape and all those concerned were complimented.

Merrimon H. Shuford served as foreman of the Grand Jury.

Both Issues Pass Here And Across State, Vote Light

Transylvanians voted 10-to-1 in favor of the Governor's $300 Million Dollar Road bond issue in Tuesday's special election.

While the vote was light, it was decisive. The unofficial count was as follows:

"FOR" - 2,101
"AGAINST" - 211.

Transylvanians also approved the establishment of a Court of Appeals.

The vote was:
"FOR" - 1,710
"AGAINST" - 507.

Both issues were also approved by the voters across the state of North Carolina.

Transylvania's representative, B. W. Thomason, issued a statement when the votes were in Tuesday night, thanking all persons who helped give the county such a favorable vote in the election.

He pointed out that the program was a five-year one and that it would be launched in the immediate future.

"It certainly means better roads in Transylvania and in the state," he declared.

He thanked the press and radio for their excellent cooperation in the election.

The Times received the following telegram Wednesday morning from Curtis Russ, of Waynesville, the Highway commissioner for this area:

"The overwhelming victory given the road program by your county Tuesday was a source of genuine gratification. I was so elated that I called Governor Moore and Chairman Joe Hunt at once and they are most grateful for the effort and enthusiasm given the program. Again thanks for everything. A new era is truly dawning for this area."

Commissioner
14th Division

J. O. Wells, chairman of the Board of Elections, expressed gratitude to all election officials in the county for their promptness in tabulating and reporting the returns in their precincts.

"Every precinct had reported the results of the election to us by 7:45 p.m., which was only one hour and fifteen minutes after the polls had closed," Mr. Wells stated. "And I wish to express my appreciation to each of them," he concluded.

Officials of the Transylvania Times and radio station WPNF were also appreciative of the prompt reporting by election.

John Russell O'Shields Killed In Auto Accident, South Carolina

A 17-year-old North Carolina youth was killed when a car went out of control and overturned on U. S. 25 seven miles north of Travelers Rest last Saturday afternoon.

Greenville County Coroner George W. McCoy identified him as John Russell O'Shields, Jr., of Pisgah Forest.

State Patrolman J. A. Ednes said James Leonard O'Shields, 19, of Pisgah Forest, identified as the driver of the car, and David Allen O'Shields, 16, of Brevard, were hospitalized.

James O'Shields suffered an injured left arm and was admitted to the hospital for observation. David O'Shields was admitted for treatment to an injured right leg and abrasions.

Witnesses said the automobile began to go out of control some 380 feet from where it came to rest on its top.

The highway is being repaired where the accident occurred.

Services were held Monday in Brevard Church of God.

The Rev. A. L. Gardin and the Rev. Roger Olson officiated and burial was in Pisgah Gardens. Pallbearers were Joe Terry, Ralph and Pete Corn, David West, Charles Moris and Billy Holden.

Frank Moody Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Transylvania's Foster Ray Decorated

A sergeant from Brevard received the fourth highest military award, the Silver star recently at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Sergeant First Class Foster Ray was awarded the Silver and Bronze Star medals for gallantry in action and outstanding meritorious service in ground operations against hostile Viet Cong forces in Vietnam.

The date of the battle was May 11, 1965. Sergeant Ray recalled that it was a hot, misty morning at approximately 1:30 a. m. when American and Vietnamese soldiers were attacked by four battalions of Viet Cong who had infiltrated the village which American and Vietnamese were occupying and directed their main assault at the advisor compound.

Moving from foxhole to foxhole and without regard for the intense mortar fire, artillery, and small arms fire. Sergeant Ray replenished each man with ammunition.

In spite of enemy fire and wounds suffered by a tossed Viet Cong grenade, he volunteered to take the wounded to the aid station. He began to evacuate the aid station when it became apparent that the Viet Cong would attempt to enter it.

Judge Rules In Favor Of Town In Auction Of Country Club

Superior Court Judge Hugh B. Campbell supported the Town of Brevard Monday by ruling that the auction of the Brevard Country club property on August 21st to L. E. Bagwell, who was the high bidder, was not legal because the required 30-days notice was not given.

The Brevard Board of Aldermen had rejected Mr. Bagwell's bid at a called meeting on August 31st in accordance with their rights as reserved in their advertisement of the auction.

While the minutes of the meeting do not record any reason for the rejection, it was understood from town officials that there were more than one.

Judge Campbell said he had no choice but to find that the 30-day notice specified by law had never been achieved, despite two separate moves by the town to set up the auction.

"The property has never been properly advertised," he said Monday. "Until it has, the
