of the safe room and the open safe are pictured at the right, showing the mess that was made after the culprit(s) had gained admittance through the wall. The local police and the SBI are investigating the robbery. (Times Staff Photos)

Brevard College To Build Large Dormitory, Costs Are $665,000

McLarty Quoted In A Double Announcement

Contracts totaling $665,000 have been let for the construction of a new dormitory for Brevard College, according to an announcement coming today from the office of Brevard College President E. K. McLarty, Jr.

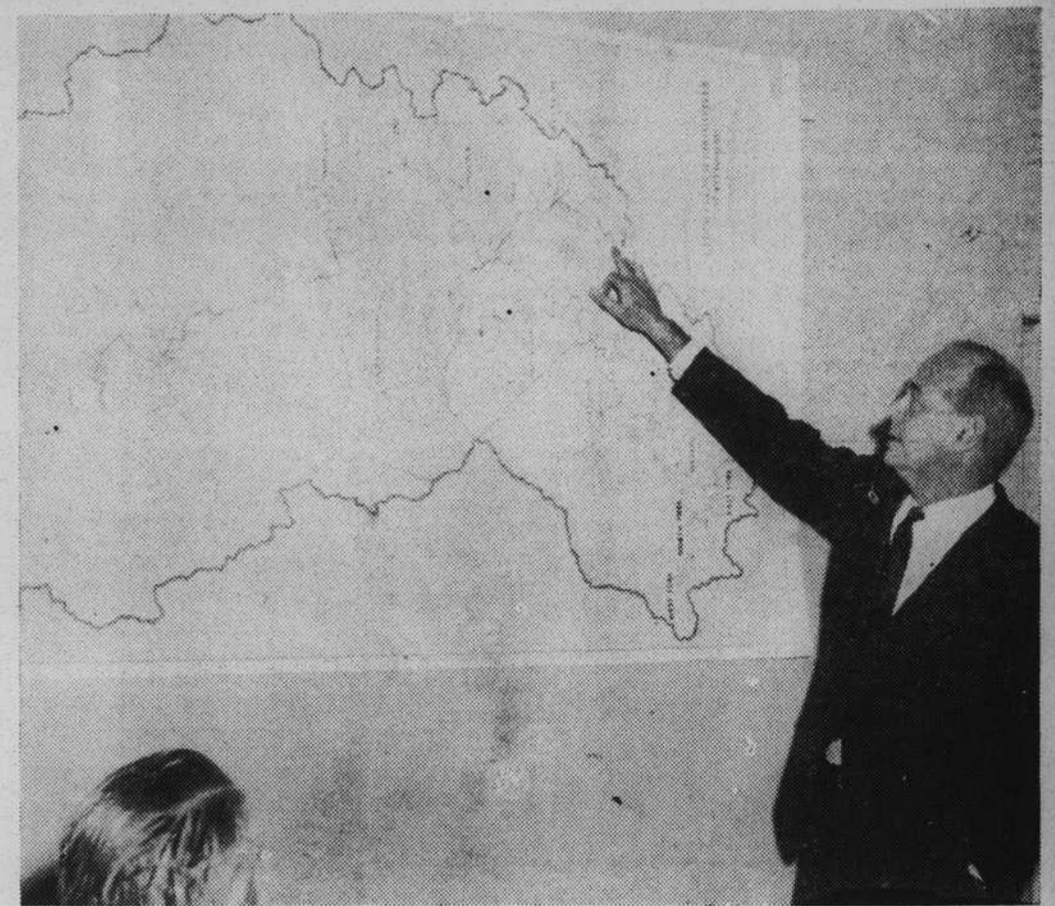

The contracts call for the four-story dormitory, housing 160 students, to be ready for occupancy when the college opens for the fall semester next September.

A local firm, C. E. Cochran Construction company, was named general contractor with a bid of $400,500.

The electrical contract was awarded to another Brevard firm, Bryant Electric company, with a bid of $37,535, while the heating and ventilating contract went to Price Piping company, of Asheville, with a bid of $56,275.

Sanitary Plumbing & Heating company, of Greenville, S. C., was low bidder for the plumbing contract with a bid of $42,245, and Palmer Furniture company, Inc., of Denmark, S. C., was awarded the contract for bedroom furnishings for $60,722.

Teen-Agers Contribute To Economy

By - Staff Writer

Transylvania county's teenagers have come into their own. They have wealth as their parents never dreamed of at their age.

They have plans, ideas and an influence over the family pocketbook that was unheard of in former years.

Mother has virtually abdicated in their favor. Time was when she was the family purchasing agent. She still does most of the buying, but only after lending an attentive ear to what junior has to say.

On the other hand, junior does his own purchasing without consultation, except among his own contemporaries.

And he does plenty. On the basis of recent surveys, Transylvania county's teenage capitalists are spending in the neighborhood of $1,206,000 of their own money per year.

Stock Certificates Issued

Much Progress Is Reported On Glen Cannon Golf Course

Christmas came early for the stockholders of Glen Cannon Country club who received their stock certificates this week. All certificates have now been issued and the club reports 404 shares of stock outstanding. No additional stock will be issued.

Those who have driven out to the new course recently have been very pleased at its fine condition. Very little erosion can be found in the fairways and the greens all have well over 75% grass coverage.

These results are unusually good considering that the greens and fairways were not planted until late September and early October.

Plans to put the swimming pool out for bids by November 30th were delayed slightly, but several pool builders will be contacted within the next two weeks. The contract should be let in January.

Bill Keith, president of the club, said today that a study is now being made to determine the best design and floor plan for the new clubhouse. A proposal for converting one of the barns has been reviewed, and an optional plan calling for an entirely new building will be submitted to the Board of Directors within 60 days.

"After the Board has had an opportunity to study the two proposals, it is our intention to call a stockholders meeting in order that the club members may express their opinion on this very important matter," Mr. Keith said.

Last Rites Held Tuesday For Prof. Carl Trowbridge

CARL TROWBRIDGE

Last rites for Prof. Carl H. Trowbridge were held Tuesday in Charlotte at the Harry N. Bryant Funeral home with Dr. E. K. McLarty and Rev. W. B. A. Culp officiating.

The beloved Mr. Trowbridge served longer than any other person in an administrative capacity at Brevard College.

During recent years, he has been residing at the Methodist home in Charlotte.

Mr. Trowbridge and his wife came, in July 1907, from Missouri to Brevard Institute, an industrial self-help school, where he was superintendent until 1923. During his administration, "Old Taylor," later known as West Hall, was brick-veneered and modernized.

Spencer Hall, now Dunham Hall, was built and many additions and improvements were made in the academic program. The primary department was dropped and two years of practice teaching were supervised by a director.

He went to Weaver College, Weaverville, as president in 1923. Here his administration —Turn to Page Six

New Scouting Official Is Named Here

Jimmy O'Dell Almon has been appointed district Boy Scout executive for the Transylvania district effective this week.

Mr. Almon comes to Brevard from West Asheville. He is a graduate of Enka High School and received his B.S. degree in Business Administration from Western Carolina at the close of the fall quarter. While at Western, Mr. Almon served as vice-president of the student chapter of S.A.M., and was secretary of Alpha Phi Omega national service fraternity.

Mr. Almon is a member of the Grace Baptist Church in West Asheville. He is married to the former Carol Ann Dees, who is a senior at Western Carolina. He resides at 109 Summit avenue in Brevard.

Mr. Almon will serve the units of Cub Scout, Boy Scout, and Explorers in Transylvania, with some of his time being devoted to the Dogwood district which includes West Asheville.

Dr. Ryan Heads Medical Society

Dr. Albert O. Ryan, Jr., medical director at Olin, was elected president of the Transylvania County Medical society for 1966 at a recent society meeting. He succeeds Dr. George B. Dysart and will take office on January 1, 1966.

Dr. Ryan will also become chief of staff of the Transylvania Community hospital for the year 1966.

Dr. James H. Sanders, Jr., was elected secretary of the society for the coming year. Dr. Julius Sader was named delegate to the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina, with Dr. Robert L. Stricker as alternate delegate.

1965 Tax Collections Said Good

Collections of 1965 taxes were reported good this week by Lawrence Hipp, tax collector, to town and county boards.

The charge of Transylvania taxes to the collector was $626,196.15.

Pre-payments totaled $265,057.05, and collections as of December 1st were $155,134.19, leaving a balance of $206,004.91.

For the Town of Brevard, the charge was $154,778.93.

Pre-payments totaled $17,174.53, and collections as of December 1st were $52,628.24.

Mr. Hipp also reported that $17,471.46 had been collected on unreported taxes in Transylvania, Brevard and Rosman.

Post Offices Giving Added Yule Services

Post offices at Brevard and Pisgah Forest will keep their parcel post windows open all day on December 11th and the following Saturday, December 18th.

The hours will be from 8:30 a.m., until 5:00 p.m.

Postmaster Charlie Patton, Jr., also announces here that delivery of packages will be made on six days during each week instead of five during the Christmas period.

Mr. Patton wishes to express appreciation for the early mailing done so far and urges all patrons to continue to mail parcels and cards as soon as possible.

He also noted that use of ZIP code on the address will help speed parcels as well as letters and cards to their destinations. For patrons living in the Brevard delivery area, the correct ZIP code for your return address is 28712.

Buck hunting in Western North Carolina's Wildlife Management areas improved noticeably in 1965.

Unofficial tally for 11 of the 12 days hunting was in progress show an increased kill in most of the areas.

Kill figures do not necessarily indicate more deer in an area, but that the ratio of deer taken to the number of hunters entering the forest is up slightly over the totals recorded at the end of the 1964 season.

Figures such as these can be interpreted several different ways. Deer may be foraging more and becoming careless, or hunters may be turning into better marksmen.

North Mills River, where 2,078, more hunters than any other management area, participated, recorded 102 buck kills from November 22 to December 3. Two bears also were taken.

Last year in this area 2,369 hunters killed only 57 deer in the 12-day season.

Davidson River also recorded a good kill ratio which did not take in last Saturday's figures.

There 1,788 hunters took 91 —Turn to Page Five
