

A "SHOTGUN" START got things rolling at the new Glen Cannon golf course last Saturday, as the long awaited opening of the scenic 18-hole layout took place. With foursomes stationed at each of the 18 tees, Glen Cannon Country Club President L. J. Madden fired a shotgun at 9:00 a. m. Saturday indicating the official start. The honor of teeing off first on No. 1 went to W. H. "Bill" Keith, right, the initial president of the country club. Others in his foursome include, left to right, C. W. Bradburn, Dr. Walter Clayton and Vance Jackson, all standing by as President Madden fires away. Dr. Clayton, incidentally, started things right. He birdied the first hole and went on to card a fine 75 score.

Run-Off Is Called In The Sheriff's Race Here, Date Set For June 25

To Carry Out Major Work On US 276

In answer to a resolution received last week from residents in the Dunn's Rock and Cedar Mountain communities, W. Curtis Russ, Highway commissioner for this area, told The Times this week that major improvement would be made on US Highway 276 from Brevard to the South Carolina line this year.

He said the project would include the straightening of dangerous curves, building up of the stretches that flood during rainy weather and repaving of the entire road.

He said that the Highway commission is anxious to improve roads in Transylvania county, and he made a plea for residents to sign right-of-way agreements.

"This is especially true in the Lake Sega bridge area," he declared.

A deadline of July 1st is expected to be set for this action.

GILL THOMAS

T. WOOD PAXTON

A SECOND PRIMARY will be held in Transylvania on June 25th between Gill Thomas and T. Wood Paxton. Democratic candidates for nomination for Sheriff in the General Election in November. In the race on May 28th, Mr. Thomas polled 1,250 votes, while Mr. Paxton received 1,146. There were three other candidates in the running.

Demos To Ballot For Gill Thomas, Or Wood Paxton

A run-off has been called in the Sheriff's race in Transylvania county between Gill Thomas, the high man, and T. Wood Paxton, who was second high in the five-candidate contest in the Democratic Primary on May 28th.

Mr. Paxton said he is calling the run-off because of the insistence of many supporters.

Due to the fact that there were several candidates in the race and the closeness of the vote, Mr. Paxton says his friends are convinced that the Primary vote does not give a true picture of the wishes of the Democratic voters.

He has set up headquarters on East Main street opposite the Town Hall.

In the Primary, Mr. Thomas received 1,250 votes, while Mr. Paxton was given 1,146 by the Democrats.

Others in the race and the vote they received are as follows:

Paul Fisher - 502
Marvin Gaddy - 331
Charles Owen 241.

Smith Reynolds Foundation Makes $50,000 College Grant

Brevard College has received a grant of $50,000 from the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation to assist in the completion of its development program, according to an announcement from President Emmett K. McLarty, Jr.

"With two buildings under construction simultaneously, for the first time in the history of the college," said President McLarty, "the $2,115,000 building program includes two more that will be complete within the next two years."

The Lena Sue Beam Hall, a dormitory that will house 180 students, will be ready for occupancy next September.

The building is named in honor of Mrs. C. Grier Beam of Cherryville. Mr. Beam is a member of the college Board of Trustees. The new Beam Administration Building, dedicated last May, was made possible by his matching gift of $200,000.

Ground was broken last week for the new library. Expressly designed to be an adjunct to the teaching process, it will have all the conventional library facilities, and other features, such as: seminar rooms, group study rooms, faculty research cubicles, a small audio-visual auditorium, and exhibition walls.

The present library will be renovated to become a Student Union. It will house the college store, recreational facilities and be headquarters for many extra-curricular activities.

A new food service building will be under construction by next spring, scheduled for use in the fall of 1967. It will be called the Meyers Dining Hall in honor of Albert G. Meyers, of Gastonia.

The fourth building in the development program will be the Sims Educational Building which will complete the south campus quadrangle. It will be named in honor of the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Sims; Albert Harold and Rufus Davis.

Mr. Sims, who is president of the Citizens National Bank of Gastonia, has served as chairman of the college Board of Trustees since 1961. It has been under the leadership of Mr. Sims and President McLarty that the college undertook its current development program.

More New Equipment Is Installed At Radio WPNF

Station officials of WPNF this week announced that the local station recently received a new master control console, and the new equipment has already been placed in operation.

The station received the new control equipment from RCA in Camden, New Jersey.

Recent purchase of this equipment, plus the recent installation of a new 1,000 watt transmitter at WPNF, represents a substantial outlay for new and improved facilities, and reflects the confidence of the stations' stockholders in the continued

Rural Community Clubs Spearhead Roadside Efforts

Something special is going on in the way of roadside clean-up and beautification in Western North Carolina.

This is very much in evidence in 67 organized communities in 16 counties in the Western North Carolina Community Development Program that are competing in a special Roadside Improvement Contest this year. These communities are undertaking to make an all-out effort to make their areas more attractive.

Hundreds of loads of trash have already been removed

Elks To Hold Dance Saturday

A Mr. and Mrs. Elks dance will be held Saturday night of this week at the Brevard Elks lodge, and Robert Y. Rhyne, the exalted ruler, urges all members to bring their wives to the event.

Food will be served "a la carte", and no admission will be charged.

Four door prizes will be awarded during the evening.

Upper French Broad Group Water Resources In Area

Officials of the Upper French Broad Economic Development Commission appeared this week before the Wildlife Resources Commission in Raleigh.

They were there to discuss the proposed water resources development plan for the Upper French Broad River Basin.

This plan had previously been presented to the North Carolina's Planning Task Force, and the Wildlife Commission requested that it be presented to their full Commission.

The Commission Executive Director L. D. Hyde, and Commission members, William J. Wallis, of Transylvania county, and David F. Felmet, of Haywood, told the Wildlife group that the plan for economic development of the five county area of Buncombe, Haywood, Henderson, Madison and Transylvania reflected the most reasonable plan possible.

This plan would provide the greatest benefits to the greatest number of people and would improve the Wildlife habitat in the area.

The Upper French Broad group was accompanied by Reed Elliot, Bernard Zellner, Don Mattern, Jack Chance and Gordon Hall of the TVA.

The Tennessee Valley Authority is serving as engineers for the program.

The water resources plan calls for the construction of 12 dams creating permanent pools, and three which would

Community Center Plans Summer Recreation Program

A second annual summer recreation program is being considered by the Transylvania Community Center for the benefit of the children and youth of Transylvania County.

Last year's program, conducted under capable leadership, was attended by over 200 youths who participated in such enriching activities as handicrafts, junior life saving, a pet show, story times, a decorated bicycle parade and numerous team-type games.

Duration of the program is six weeks. Activities were centered at Franklin Park.

Planning meetings have been held between the Board of Directors of the Transylvania Community center and the Youth association, and representatives of the advisory staff of the North Carolina recreation commission to explore more fully effective organization of this year's proposed program.

Recommended contents of a program to satisfy common needs of people in pursuit of leisure-time activities were:

- 1) providing the opportunity to engage in physical activity,
- 2) offering an opportunity to be creative and have a feeling of accomplishment, and
- 3) giving an opportunity to satisfy the urge to socialize.

As an outgrowth of these meetings, a tentative program has been drawn up to last six to eight weeks starting in the latter part of June.

Franklin Park (including the pool), public school facilities and the Transylvania Community center building would be used for activities best conducted at either site.

A weekly calendar of planned events would be announced for review and registration of participants.

The summer program would be at no cost to the individual. A budget of $2,000 including salaries for two qualified directors, purchase of basic athletic equipment, materials for arts and crafts, transportation costs

Davis Heads June Dairy Month Locally

The month of June will be observed as Dairy Month in Transylvania county as well as across the rest of the nation, according to James E. Davis, county chairman for the June Dairy Month program.

"The purpose of this observance," stated Davis, "is to remind the consuming public of the value of milk in the daily diet and to point out the economic value of the dairy industry to Western North Carolina."

He emphasized that milk has long been regarded as "nature's most nearly perfect food".

Dairying ranks as one of the major agricultural enterprises in this section of the state and contributes mightily to the economy. Sales of milk by area farmers returned over $11.5 million in 1965.

Importance of the dairy industry has grown steadily in recent years. Western North Carolina has gone from a milk importing area to a milk exporting area, with local farm-

Brevard And Transylvania Are Featured, USA Travel Guide

Brevard has been given special note in a set of recently published travel guides of the United States. The series of eight regional guidebooks, entitled "Fodor — Shell Travel Guides, USA", will soon be on sale at all book stores and Shell Oil service stations. For the first printing, 500,000 copies were produced.

In a section devoted to "Exploring North Carolina", Brevard is referred to as "summer music capital of the Southeast" because of Transylvania Music Camp and the annual Music Festival at Brevard Music Center. The tourist is also urged to visit the NASA Data Acquisition Station at Rosman.

Eugene Fodor, general editor of the series, describes the books as the greatest undertaking of his career. In the last 16 years, he has edited and published 24 prize winning travel books on Europe, Asia, Hawaii and the Caribbean.

Each region and each state contains an introduction which traces the history of the region and captures the mood of the

For Marketing Management

Personnel Changes At Ecusta Are Announced This Week

The Ecusta Paper Division of Olin Mathieson Chemical corporation has announced a series of changes in its marketing management.

The division, with headquarters at Pisgah Forest, manufactures Olin fine papers which include Waylite lightweight printing papers and Bible papers, one-time carbonizing papers, and specialty papers. It is also a major supplier of cigarette papers and other tobacco industry products.

As a result of these changes, said Arthur J. Loeb, vice president of Olin and general manager of the division, end-use market analysis and planning would be more heavily emphasized in marketing programs.

W. F. Taylor, Jr., has been appointed director of marketing, fine papers. He has been director of printing and specialty paper sales.

R. E. Matthews has been appointed director of marketing, tobacco industry products. He was previously director, tobacco industry sales.

James P. Callahan, formerly sales manager for fine papers,
