

Pictured above is a scene typical of the Brevard area, if one can label such a view typical. The beautiful mountain setting is a major factor in most students' decision to attend Brevard College. Many classes will graduate from BC before the mountain landscape alters its features. Many Homecomings will pass and be forgotten, but the mountains — and Brevard College — will endure.

Brevard College History Is Fascinating Over Years

One golden autumn day in the early 1850's, a one-horse wagon passed along the Caldwell County roads, going west. In the wagon were packed a man, his teenage wife, three children, and all their earthly possessions. Their destination was a small community in Burke County, called Excelsior by some and Happy Home by others.

In 1910, through the efforts of John Rutherford, the school became a four-year institution.

"Only two buildings stood on the old campus for classes and administrative purposes. Around these buildings in the yard were thirty or forty rough, planked up and down, one roomed structures for the use of students. Of course there were no lighting, heating, or sanitation facilities. The college contained only the great trinity of education—the teacher, the pupil, and the book. Crowding was a problem. Oftentimes food was scarce, and the "first table" demolished the supply till there were few scraps or left-overs for those of us who sat at the second serving."

The curriculum at this time was divided into six schools: Latin, Greek, Mathematical, English Literature and Rhetoric, School of Natural Science

Rites Held For Vessie Stamey

Vessie Stamey, age 56, of Whitmire street, died last Wednesday morning in a Burke county hospital following a lingering illness. He was a retired textile worker.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Louise McCall Stamey; one daughter, Mrs. Carolyn W. Gillespie of Asheville; four brothers, Thomas H. Candler, William M., James N. and Jessie Stamey, all of Brevard; one sister, Mrs. Josh Keaton of Brevard and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon in the Brevard Church of God with the Reverend James H. Hamblin officiating.

Burial was in Pisgah Gardens, and pallbearers were Clarence and Paul Curlee, Harold Cox, Ralph Jones and Harold Stamey.

Frank Moody Funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Maraged Teeth

Maraging steel, a super-strength alloy developed by International Nickel for heavy engineering uses, is being tested for dental bridgework and caps for teeth. The special nickel steel is expected to enable dentists to fit a patient with stronger and more comfortable dentures.

Flower GARDENING

By Mrs. S. R. Harrington

In the lazy days of Autumn there's a melancholy air, and a richness in the sunshine when the days are bright and fair.

In the days of mid-October days are shorter it would seem, and the night-time brings a coolness.

Adding sparkle to a dream. Nature plays her part so perfectly.

In her grandest role of all, at least she draws the curtains.

It's farewell to gorgeous fall.

do hope you have enjoyed all the colorful beauty over the last few weeks . . . It's going fast—God's greatest gifts of color!

Gardening: The planting of Evergreens to give us Winter beauty in the landscape continues. Let's think about Arbor-Vitae (Thuja). They fill such an important role in gardens, and in landscaping the home grounds.

There are many varieties of Arbor-Vitae; many heights and forms. They start with the Dwarfs, come on up with the
