

Rosman Junior Class Presents Annual Play This Friday Night

By Mrs. Austin Hogsdorh Owen, make up. Mrs. Joanne Gordon is faculty sponsor.

"Open House"

"Open House" will be held Thursday night at the meeting of the Rosman P.T.A.

A general meeting will be held in the high school auditorium at 7:30, after which the parents may visit the rooms and meet the teachers both in high school and elementary school.

At the conclusion of the visitation program, refreshments will be served in the home economics department.

Sky Diving

An exhibition in sky diving and parachute jumping will be given Sunday at 2 p.m. at Burton's air strip in Rosman under the sponsorship of the Rosman Volunteer Fire department.

John Bruner is in charge of the arrangements.

No admission will be charged but donations will be accepted, according to Don Butler, chief of the fire department.

Ham Supper

The senior class of Rosman high school is sponsoring a benefit ham supper Thursday night from 5:30 to 8 o'clock in the Rosman school cafeteria. Tickets are on sale for $1.50. Proceeds will be used for the senior trip to Washington, D.C.

Bake Sale

A bake sale and a bazaar will be held Saturday beginning at 10 o'clock at the Rosman club center under the sponsorship of the WSCS of the Rosman Methodist church.

Homemade cakes, pies, and cookies will be on sale along with various articles suitable for Christmas and for family use.

Mrs. J. C. Galloway, president, is in charge of the arrangements.

Proceeds will be used on the fund for purchasing carpet for the church.

Electric Welding

A class in basic electric welding is scheduled to begin next Monday night at 7 o'clock in the Rosman high school agriculture building.

Anyone in the county who is interested in enrolling in the class should contact B. E. Keisler prior to Monday night.

Turkey Shoot

J. C. Cassell, Jr., president of the Rosman Boosters club, announces that another turkey shoot will be held Saturday from noon until 5 p.m. near the Rosman elementary school.

Proceeds will be used for club projects.

Slide-Lecture

The Rev. Ed Roy, chaplain of Brevard College, and a member of the Brevard Lions club, presented a very interesting slide-lecture program of his recent tour of Israel at the recent Ladies Night meeting of the Rosman Lions club.

Voight Earl Boley was inducted by the Rev. Roy as a new member of the club.

Revival

Revival services began Monday night at the Rosman Church of God with the Rev. S. Z. Harris of Hickory as the visiting evangelist.

Transylvania And Four Other Counties Win

trict, asked Edney whether the Army Corps of Engineers had been consulted about performing the dam and river channel improvement. Edney replied that his commission had worked with TVA on the project planning from its inception and added that since the five counties concerned lie in the TVA area of operation, it's logical that the work be performed by TVA.

Sen. Ervin suggested that every member of the N. C. congressional delegation personally contact the Bureau of the Budget and urge inclusion of the initial construction funds in the 1968-69 budget.

A spokesman at the meeting said there was "no negative response" from the 11 members of the N. C. delegation present. At the luncheon were 10 of North Carolina's 11 representatives and one of its two U. S. senators.

Absent were U. S. Rep. L. H. Fountain, Democrat of Tarboro who represents the Second District, and U. S. Sen. B. Everett Jordan, Democrat of Saxapahaw. Fountain was said to have been detained elsewhere by duties as a representative to the United Nations in New York while Sen. Jordan was out of town. Jordan was represented at the luncheon by his administrative assistant, William Cochran.

To show what support the dam project holds in WNC, Chairman Edney read the group a long list of organizations backing the proposal.

It was said that the dam that will inundate the community of Little River cannot be relocated without impairing the effectiveness of the entire 14-dam network.

The 14 dams will create lakes covering some 6,700 acres of land but will provide freedom from periodic flooding to 13,000 acres. The city of Asheville will get as part of the program a $6.6 million levee on the east side of the French Broad river, to protect the city's $100 million industrialized waterfront.

From Henderson County—C. Silver, chairman of the county Board of Commissioners; P. R. Elam; Clyde Roberts, solicitor.

Transylvania county — Raymond Bennett, mayor of Brevard; Hale Siniard, member of the board of county commissioners; Jack Dense, plant manager of the Du Pont plant at Brevard; Robert P. Stewart, division counsel for Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. at Brevard.

From Madison county — W.
