

Pops Concert At Music Center Takes Wry Look At Serious Music

By Clifford Chalmers

Anyone blundering by accident into Whittington-Pfohl Auditorium at the Brevard Music Center last Saturday evening would have done a double-take indeed. Especially if he or she hadn't been able to obtain a program beforehand to learn what was being played. That first selection sounded a little like a symphony, but . . . could the orchestra have sounded THAT bad?

It was all in jest, of course, part of a musical put-on the Center arranged as part of its Pops Concert series. Entitled "Comedy In Music," the selections showed that there's a light side even to so-called "serious" music.

In Gillis' "Symphony 5 1/2", for example, the movements are entitled "Perpetual Emotion", "Spiritual", "Scherzofrenia" and "Conclusion". Conductor Henry Janiec led the BMC Orchestra light-heartedly through chords and passages that satirized just about every composer from Beethoven to Bartok.

The fine thing about the evening was that the more knowledgeable you were about music, the quicker the laughs and chuckles kept coming. In Mozart's "Musical Joke," there were all sorts of sly digs at the revered Johann Sebastian Bach . . . and could it be that old Wolfgang Amadeus was poking a bit of fun at himself, too?

In "The Worried Drummer", composer Montague Schreiner milked lots of humor from the plight of a symphony orchestra drummer bedeviled by boredom and the drummer's ever-present nemesis of waiting, waiting, waiting. A trio of seductive ladies bent on driving him to distraction during a performance made a distinctive hit with the audience.

The showpiece of the evening, though, was Saint-Saens' delightful "Carnival of the Animals", which featured the duo-piano team of Yarbrough and Cowan and the 90-member BMC Orchestra under Dr. Janiec. David Rae Smith, the Broadway and operatic baritone who hails from Asheville, delivered the amusing narration in a winning fashion.

In this work, the orchestra went through the whole menagerie of creatures, including elephants, birds, kangaroos and even a wild jackass. Younger audience members seemed particularly charmed by Saint Saens' melodies and the musical antics of the various creatures.

This was a truly unusual and enjoyable Pops Concert on the BMC schedule. Two more are coming this summer; one highlighting the great songs of George Gershwin on July 25 and another honoring the music of Rodgers and Hammerstein on August 8.

A farmer's wife complained to her husband, "Look at the old clothes I have to wear; if anyone came to visit they would think I was the cook."
Her husband replied, "Well, they'd change their minds if they stayed for dinner."

A man in a strange town was looking for a church on Sunday morning. He stopped in front of several to listen to the comments from the pulpit and finally entered one. After asking what made him choose that particular church, he answered that when he walked up, being read in unison was "We have left undone the things we ought to have done and we have done the things we ought not have done." He quickly replied that he knew he had found his kind of people and went into the church.

Jack Benny was invited to the White House to entertain the President and his family. He was carrying his violin case and the guard, as usual, asked what was in the case. Jack said "Just a machine gun" in his usual expressive way. The guard said, "Thank goodness, I was afraid for a minute it was your violin," in a very deadpanned voice.

A church was having a pot-luck supper. The editor of the bulletin made the following announcement, "bring enough pot for your family."

The little boy had been to the principal's office for four days and on the fifth, the principal said since it was the fifth time what did he have to say for himself. The lad remarked, "It's Friday, isn't that nice?"

Plea Made By Transylvania's Social Services Department

By Staff Writer

The Transylvania County Social Services Department is able to offer only the services that the community makes available. There are many services that are not offered to people because there are no resources available.

Transylvania County has no licensed homes for adults. There are 25 people living out of the county in licensed homes as there are none available in the county. There is one licensed foster home for children in the county. It is licensed for two children. This summer the homes has had two children.

Recently the Social Services Department was awarded custody of two children by the District Court Judge. The staff of the department spent much time and energy trying to locate a home for these children. Around 30 telephone calls were made. If a home was available for this service, this would be unnecessary.

The following information is given in hope that people in Transylvania County will open their homes and hearts for these much needed community services.

MORE INCOME FOR YOUR HOME

If your home is LICENSED through the State Department of Social Services, you might be able to board people in your home for extra income.

Homes would need to meet sanitary inspection, fire inspection, persons in home would need health certification and there would need to be a home study made.

SERVICES YOU MIGHT GIVE WOULD BE:

1. Family Care home for adults ($184.00 per month per person) This is room, board, and supervision for an aged or disabled person, who would live in your home. The boarder is responsible for own clothing and medical care. A home can board up to 5 individuals when they are licensed as a family care home.
2. Foster Home for children ($50.00 per child per month) Room and board for any age child you might want to keep. Clothing and medical care are paid by County as they are needed. These children stay in your home day and night.
3. Day Care home (Rates to be worked out by you and licensing agent) This is Care only during day-time for any age child you might want to keep under 12 years of age. It would mostly be for pre-school children. Hot lunches, snacks and naptime would need to be furnished by you. Outside play area would have to be provided.

If you are interested in providing any of these services in your home, please contact the Transylvania County Social Services Department, Telephone 883-8263 for more detailed information.
