Book, Plate Club Hears Mr. Hunter

Maynard R. Hunter, executive director of the Brevard Jaycee Sheltered Workshop, was introduced to the members of the Brevard Book and Plate Club by Mrs. George Spicer at the December meeting.

Mrs. Robert Gash was hostess for the Club at her home on Laurel Lane.

Mr. Hunter talked to the club members concerning the organization of the Sheltered Workshop here in Brevard and its cooperation with the North Carolina Department of Vocational Rehabilitation.

He demonstrated through the use of colored slides how the Workshop has become an asset to the community and of the many beneficial services it provides for people who are physically or mentally handicapped.

The Workshop provides opportunity for useful training and productive work for many handicapped persons. Most important, it offers them hope and a sense of dignity. Mr. Hunter pointed out that Workshop clients are available, by arrangement, for yard work, snow clearance and other tasks. He reminded the club members that the Workshop is very anxious to receive any old cotton cloth that can be made into rags.

Mrs. Patrick Bohan, President, presided over the business meeting which followed. The budget for the coming year was presented by Mrs. Glenn Winston, treasurer. Announcement was made that John Williams and Robert Rhyne, both students at Brevard Senior High School, would represent the Book and Plate Club in music at the Fine Arts Festival to be held in Asheville in March. Heidi Stricker will be the Academic Scholarship representative with Gayle Masteron as alternate.

Mrs. Tom Ramsey, Christmas Chairman, told of plans for Christmas concerning the family the Club has sponsored for several years.

Mrs. Patrick Bohan, retiring president, gave a resume of the club's achievements for the past year and intro-
