THE SIMS STUDENT UNION BUILDING on the campus of Brevard College will be dedicated at 5:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and the public is cordially invited to the ceremony on the second floor of the building. This modern structure was named on honor of Allen H. Sims, left, who is one of the most distinguished leaders of the College. Since 1961, he has been serving as chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Mr. Sims will also be honored at a dinner Thursday evening, when Trustees of the Institution will begin their Spring meeting that will continue through Friday noon. The new Sims Student center was built by Bryant Construction company of Brevard, and it has proven already to be a fine asset to the college. It was formally opened in January of this year. To Honor Chairman

Public Invited To Dedication Of Sims Student Center Today

This Thursday, April 29th, Brevard College will honor one of its most distinguished and dedicated leaders, Allen H. Sims, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Highlighting the day will be the dedication of the new Sims Student Union Building designed to serve as a center for college activities. The building features recreational and lounging facilities as well as the College Post Office, Bookstore and Tornado Room (Snack Bar). Funds for the building were raised by the trustees of the college as a tribute to Mr. Sims, Board member since 1945 and chairman of the Board since 1961.

business session through Friday noon.

Commenting on Mr. Sims' contribution to the college, President Davis stated:

"Much of the strength and excellence of Brevard College today is the result of Mr. Sims' vision and leadership.

This Is Occupational Education Week In County, Throughout State

This is Occupational Education Week in North Carolina and several events will highlight the local observance, according to G. H. Farley, who is in charge of the program here at Brevard high school.

Governor Bob Scott has called on citizens to focus attention on this important week.

Here in Transylvania Occupational Education is also important to the school program.

Mr. Farley reports that 1,221 students in Transylvania are enrolled in Occupational Education courses.

These courses are not only important to the students but also to the businesses and industries where they may be employed.

A total of 51 Occupational

His untiring efforts in behalf of the college have brought support from many other individuals and groups within the state. It is most fitting that this newest building on our campus bear his name."

Environmental Conditions Of The Area Studied By College Students

What local industry and governmental organizations are doing to monitor local environmental conditions has been the concern of Brevard College chemistry students. The unit includes study of water and air pollution and the effects of pollution on plant and animal life in the areas around Brevard.

According to Miss Bobbie Jean Nicholson, chemistry teacher and Head of the Math and Science Division at the college, an impressive group of speakers have made the study particularly dramatic. Representatives from Olin's Environmental Control Center, J. H. Tomlinson and Jerry Wise, demonstrated equipment used by industry to monitor air.

U. S. Forest Service's hydrologist, Morris Jarret, conducted a tour of a climatic sta-

Five Young Men Arrested After College Dormitory Fired Upon

Five local young men were arrested in the early hours of Wednesday morning near the Brevard College campus and charged with discharging a firearm into an occupied dwelling, according to Chief of Police J. C. Rowe.

The arrests were made by Officer Mike Bradley, who was parked near the campus and hearing the blast. He took a shotgun from the group that had been recently fired.

The incident occurred a little after 1:00 a.m. A little earlier, Officer Bradley had been called to the campus because of some kind of a disturbance and he was keeping the area under surveillance when the building, Green Hall, a boys dormitory, was fired upon.

The young men have been placed under a certified bond of $1,000.
