

Three Concerts Are Scheduled This Weekend

health reasons, was missing from last year's roster.

Long associated with the famous NBC Symphony of the venerable Arturo Toscanini, when the maestro was conductor of the NBC Symphony, All harp sounds of the Toscanini records are his.

Mr. Vito, is highly respected by critics and colleagues alike, both of whom recognize him as one of the finest harp virtuosos in the world. The Brevard Music Center is honored to have a musician of Edward Vito's stature and accomplishment on its faculty as an artist-in-residence.

The BMC Orchestra under the baton of Center Director Henry Janiec will back up Mr. Vito's July 4 performance of Handel's "Concerto in B-Flat". Included in the program are Sibelius' "Symphony II" and, appropriately enough, Handel's "Royal Fireworks Music". This matinee performance begins at 3:30.

The Center's first opera of the season, Donizetti's "Don Pasquale" sees many of the local favorites in leading roles. Under the expert direction of John Richards McCrae, David Rae Smith of the New York City Opera Company returns to sing Don Pasquale, Perry Daniels will play the scheming Malatesta, and Jane Frazier Rolandi and Bill McDonald returns to Brevard in the roles of Norina and Ernesto. The 19th century Rome setting is designed and lighted by David Holcombe, a very talented young man enjoying his first season at the Brevard Music Center. The singers are to be supported by the BMC Orchestra under the direction of Charles Rosekranz of the Houston Opera Company.

Again this season the husband-wife piano duo of Joan Yarbrough and Robert Cowan are featured performers in the premiere concert. The NEW YORK TIMES has only praise for the duo: "The performers were admirable in their ensemble. Attacks, releases, phrasings, pedalings and tone-quality were unified in timing, quality and expressive intent. The pianists played with vivacity and projected the spirit and mood of the music as well." With the backing of the BMC Orchestra under Dr. Janiec, the duo will work their expertise on Mendelssohn's "Concerto in E Major", concertizing on their custom built German Steinways. Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture" and Schumann "Symphony IV" are also featured on this opening program.

Princess Irene of Greece, originally scheduled to appear with her noted teacher Gina Bachauer, will be unable to honor her commitment. The Princess must remain in Rome, where the deposed royal family lives in exile.

The list of guest artists is not without its royalty, however. Gina Bachauer, acclaimed as "Queen of Pianists", will perform as scheduled. The complement of artists also includes Metropolitan stars Marilyn Horne and Jerome Hines, pianist Lee Luvisi, an artist-in-residence, internationally acclaimed cellist Martha Gershefski and brilliant young violinist James Oliver Buswell IV.

Other operas include "Lucia di Lammermoor" (July 9), "Pagliacci" (July 16), and "Il Trovatore" (August 6). In addition, the Opera Workshop will stage Gilbert and Sullivan's H.M.S. "Pinafore" and the Broadway hit musical "Music Man". Pops concerts will include music from "Mame", "Hair", and "Fiddler on the Roof" a medley of Jim Webb songs and concert versions of "Showboat" and "My Fair Lady".

Season tickets are still available, offering a savings of almost $60 over single performance admission. The savings is consistent with the Center's policy of bringing the best in music to the most people for the least cost.

Tickets and performance schedules for this year's program may be obtained from the BMC Box Office, tel. 832-5222, Box 182, Brevard, N. C. 28712.
