

TRANSYLVANIA—
The Land of Waterfalls, Mecca for Summer Camps, Entrance to Pisgah National Forest and Home of Brevard College and Brevard Music Festival.

THE TRANSYLVANIA TIMES

A State And National Prize-Winning Home Town Newspaper

REPRODUCTION OF
All Matter Herein Is Prohibited
Without The Expressed Consent Of The Owner.

★ Vol. 84—No. 32

SECOND CLASS POSTAGE
PAID AT BREVARD, N. C. ZIP CODE 28712

★ BREVARD, N. C., THURSDAY, AUGUST 12, 1971 ★

Library
WCVB
28 PAGES TODAY ★

PUBLISHED WEEKLY

EN ROUTE TO ENGLAND — The Brevard College group above flew to England on Sunday to perform at the Anglo-International Music Festival this weekend. On the front row, from left to right, are: Kathleen Newton, Carolyn Cox, Ann Tuttle,

Ruth Hunter, Virginia Ward, Celia Tolar, Jerry Allred, Peggy McLarty, Anna Holliday, Marie Holliday and Mary Stevenson. Second row: Patricia Austin, Pam Miller, Jenny Miller, Harvey Miller and Adelaide Miller. (Times Staff Photo)

Grand Finale This Weekend Climaxes Music Center Season

Capacity Crowds Expected For Three Concerts

A trio of outstanding programs make up the finale for the Brevard Music Center's successful 35th season. A traditional format for the final weekend of the center has developed over the years and is made up of a concert by a faculty artist, a Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta, and a major choral work. This year's finale hews to tradition, Friday night's program being a concert featuring internationally famous pianist, Lee Luvisi, Saturday's production is "H.M.S. Pinafore", and Sunday's matinee is the choral work Brahms' "German Requiem".

Lee Luvisi is, at 33, one of the ranking pianists in the world. This past winter a series of European concerts proved that his reputation is not confined to the United States. Critics in Berlin hailed him as "a great Beethoven interpreter". Zurich, Salzburg and Vienna, the famous music capitals of Europe, reported that "one heard here great piano playing", "his interpretation had the great aura of a pianistic titan", and "a name to remember".

Mr. Luvisi, who has been an artist-in-residence at the Music Center for seven seasons, has built a large following among Brevard audiences. People have been quick to recognize that in this man and his talent the Southeast has a rich natural resource. On the Friday night program (August 13) he assays Bartok's "Third Piano Concerto", assisted by conductor Emil Raab and the Transylvania Symphony. Included on the program are two Brahms pieces, his Second Symphony and the "Academic Festival Overture". Concert time is 8:15 p.m.

Gilbert and Sullivan operettas have long delighted Brevard audiences since they are not as widely produced as they once were. Partly pushed aside by the success of native American musicals and by their demanding style and diction, they still occupy a special spot in the hearts of music lovers. Written with satire in mind, G & S support these spoofs with strong music and lyrics. Saturday's audience will find the production of "H.M.S. Pinafore" true to the Gilbert and Sullivan spirit.

Opera Workshop mentor John Richards McCrae has assembled a winning cast from his storehouse of talent. Proven crowd-pleasers and talented novices make up the cast for Saturday night's (August 14) production. Featured as Little Buttercup is Deean Cowart, a recent graduate of Converse College, who is furthering her career at the —Turn to Page Three ever, was not so lucky, and was severely damaged in the accident. Sealtest officials stated that approximately $3,000 in milk was lost, while damages to the truck were estimated at $5,500. Charges have been filed against the driver of the State Highway vehicle, according to investigating officer Thad Elmore of the Highway Patrol.

AN EXPENSIVE ACCIDENT occurred on U.S. 64 near Penrose Monday afternoon when this Sealtest Dairy truck, pictured above, was involved in a wreck with a State Highway vehicle and overturned down the steep embankment shown. The driver of the Sealtest truck, Albert Pritchard of Asheville, fortunately sustained only slight injuries to his hand. The milk laden truck, how-

(Times Staff Photo)

In Guilford, England

College Group To Perform At British "Music Center"

By - Cal Carpenter

It is altogether appropriate that a group from Brevard, often called the "Music Capital of the South" because of the Brevard Music Center here, should perform in England, at what might be termed the "British Music Center."

This is how it will be this coming Sunday when the Brevard College Chamber Music Ensemble, in Brevard College Blazers and representing Brevard, perform at the Anglo-International Music Festival in Guilford, England.

The British festival is of a more international makeup than Brevard's Music Center, nevertheless, the two are remarkably similar. Brevard's center is founded around the purpose of providing educational and cultural opportunities for talented young people; of helping in the definition, through music, "of a few of those greatest human values which mold the future of mankind."

The Anglo-International Music Festival is "designed to promote friendly relations among people of different origins through a cultural medium." In both cases the culture is music and it is not only appropriate but a high honor for the Brevard group to be invited. Only groups of —Turn to Page Six

Assessing Strength

Hugh Morton Is Coming To Town Friday, To Be Luncheon Speaker

Hugh Morton, Wilmington businessman and owner of Grandfather Mountain who is sampling the political winds in the 1952 Governor's race across the State of North Carolina, will be in Brevard on Friday.

He will speak at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock in Gaither's Rhododendron room.

Persons desiring to attend are asked to make reservations by calling Gaither's at 883-9470.

During the past few weeks, Mr. Morton has covered much of the state by helicopter.

During the past five weeks,

Mr. Morton has had a professional opinion survey firm working to assess his chances in the next gubernatorial race.

He announced Tuesday that the results showed that if the election was held today he would run second in a three-man race with Lt. Governor Pat Taylor and State Senator Hargroves "Skipper" Bowles.

He said the results were encouraging to him at this time.

Both Mr. Morton and Lt. Gov. Taylor were in Asheville Monday making speeches and talking with Democratic leaders.

Log Reviewed

Public Service Programs Are Popular Daily Over WPNF

Listeners to WPNF are reminded of the public service broadcasts on the local station each day, such as the Bulletin Board at 1:15 each weekday afternoon, and the Trading Post, heard weekday afternoons at 12:30 p.m.

A special program for lost and found animals is the Pet Department, broadcast at 11:15 each morning, also at 3:15 each afternoon.

The listening public is invited and urged to take advantage of these free services over their local station. The Trading Post has been sponsored over WPNF Radio many years by Western Auto Associate Store.

Other Programs

The schedule for the Farm and Home hour is as follows: Thursday, Brevard vo-ag dept., John Bradley; Friday, U. S. Forest Service, Dan Hile; Monday, Assistant County Agent Dennis Winters; Tuesday, N. C. Forest Service, Clark Grissom; Wednesday, Home Agent Miss Jean Childers.

Speaking this week on Morning Devotions is Rev. Jim Davis, pastor of Brevard Church of Christ.

The Sunday morning church service is being broadcast through the remote facilities of WPNF from the Brevard-Davidson River Presbyterian church. Rev. Tom McPhail is in charge of the services.

Brevard's temperatures warmed up last week, as the rains slackened somewhat in the area. Last week's rainfall was slightly less than one inch.

Temperatures averaged 82 and 84 for the area, with a high of 86 on Sunday and low of 62 Monday and Thursday.

Long range forecast for the area calls for the usual summertime outlook: Partly cloudy and warm, with chance of scattered afternoon and evening thunder showers each day. High temperatures should be in the 80s with lows in the low 60s.

Weather data for the past week was as follows:

	High	Low	Prec.
Wednesday	82	64	0.08
Thursday	83	62	0.15
Friday	78	67	Tr.
Saturday	82	64	0.13
Sunday	86	63	0.48
Monday	83	62	Tr.
Tuesday	83	63	0.02

Look Inside...

Classifieds, pages two, three and four, section four
Sports, page four, third section, and page four, first section

News of and for the women, page six, second section, and pages six and seven, third section

Youth downs in upper county, page five, third section

Schedule Listed

Lions Clubs Sponsoring Free Eye Clinic For Pre-Schoolers

The Brevard and Pisgah Forest Lions Clubs are sponsoring a free eye clinic for pre-school age children at several different locations here in Transylvania county during the next several weeks.

The WNC Lions, Inc. Pre-School Visual Screening Van, operated by the Lions of Western North Carolina, will be in this county starting next Monday, August 16, and continuing through Thursday, August 26.

The free clinic, for all children three to six years of age, is to help detect such conditions as "lazy-eye", "weak-eye", and

At Tuesday Meeting

Directors Of Civic Body Endorse Improved Airstrip

Gubernatorial Candidate?

Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor Visits Brevard, Speaks At Breakfast

Lt. Gov. H. Pat Taylor brought his Western North Carolina tour to Brevard Tuesday morning.

He began the day with an address at a breakfast of some 50 Democrats in Gaither's Rhododendron room at 8:00 o'clock.

As to the Governor's race, Mr. Taylor said that he was evaluating the situation and said that he was finding good response in WNC.

"I'm especially pleased with the turnout here this morning," he declared. Monday was spent in Henderson and Buncombe counties.

Lt. Gov. Taylor was accompanied to Brevard by Rep. Linton Ramsey of Madison county, and he was introduced at the breakfast by Editor John I. Anderson, of The Transylvania Times.

Mr. Taylor said that he not only was assessing strength for the Governor's race, but he was also trying to determine what the people are thinking.

He also said that before a person can run for the Governor's office, he must develop a program.

"As I see it, there must also be a close relationship between Raleigh and the local people," the Lieutenant Governor declared.

He emphasized that economy must be applied to state government.

In recalling the activities of the recent State Legislature, Taylor said that it was a busy and long session.

"One factor that we must remember," he commented, "is that 80 per cent of our money is spent for highways and for schools."

Other serious problems that he touched on were the illegal use of drugs in North Carolina and auto liability insurance.

Referring to the drug problem, he called for a "massive type of program" that would involve chambers of commerce, county commissioners and local government units.

He said the problem is growing, "not arithmetically, but geometrically" across the state.

In commenting on auto liability insurance he said:

"Rates are getting too high and companies at the same time are losing money, they say, and we have more people on assigned risk than any —Turn to Page Three

Directors of the Brevard Chamber of Commerce took positive action to endorse the proposed construction of a privately owned airport here in Brevard at their regular monthly meeting in the Library Tuesday night.

The directors heard Gil Coan explain that plans were being considered by an individual to construct a paved 3,100 foot airstrip at the approximate location of the present airstrip here.

Before these plans can be formulated, however, it will be necessary for certain properties to be re-zoned in the area, and this will come up at a meeting of the Zoning Board next Tuesday night, August 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building.

The directors present unanimously endorsed the proposed construction of the new airstrip and will have representation present at Tuesday's meeting to help encourage positive action in that direction.

In other business, several committees reports were heard, including those of the finance, membership, and Western North Carolina Associated Communities committees.

Considerable discussion was held on two highly important topics that vitally concern Transylvania's welfare, the deplorable —Turn to Page Three

At Squad Building

Brevard Rescue Squad Will Hold Auction Three Nights

The Brevard Rescue Squad will hold its big summer Auction this weekend.

The sales will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, beginning at 7:00 o'clock each night.

They will be held in the squad building on Fisher Road, and the public is most cordially invited to attend.

To reach the squad building, turn at the Lutheran church on Broad street and cross the railroad tracks. The building is located on the left. Hundreds and hundreds of household items, furniture, appliances, etc. will be offered for sale.

There will be bargains galore. Persons desiring to donate merchandise to be auctioned off are asked to call 883-3580 or 877-4282 for pickup.

"Come one, come all and enjoy the fun," squad officials declare.

Refreshments will be served each evening by the Rescuetees.

Receiving Testimony

TVA To Hold Hearing On Mills River Dam Proposal On August 31

The Tennessee Valley Authority says it will hold a public hearing Aug. 31 in Asheville on the ecological impact of its proposed Mills River Dam and Reservoir project near Hendersonville.

for flood control and future water supplies.

Farmers in the area oppose the plans on grounds it would destroy several mountain communities, thousands of acres of farm land and miles of scenic mountain streams.

The public hearing will be at 10 a.m. at the University of North Carolina at Asheville. Public testimony will be received as late as Sept. 10.

An official notice of the hearing is carried on page four, third section, in this week's issue of The Transylvania Times.

TVA plans to build 14 earthen dams on tributaries of the French Broad River between Asheville and Brevard, mainly