

Rev. Hayes Will Lead Revival At Zion Baptist, Other Rosman News

BY MRS. AUSTIN HOGSED

The Rev. Paul Hayes, evangelist of Liberty, S. C., will be in charge of revival services at Zion Baptist church, August 23-28.

Services will begin at 7:30 p.m. each night except Friday when it will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The pastor, the Rev. J. K. Pressley, invites the public to attend.

The Rev. Hayes conducted revival services August 1-8 at Middle Fork Baptist church.

The Rev. Hayes attended North Greenville Junior College, Tigerville, S. C., and Furman University, Greenville, S. C.

Over a 36 year period, he has pastored 13 churches in S. C., assisted in 238 revivals in N. C., Fla., Ga., Ark., S. C., Penn., Calif., and N. Y.

He has also preached in Mexico, Republic of Panama, and to the Holy Land where he visited in Rome, Egypt, Syprus, Israel, Greece, Switzerland, Spain, and England.

For some years he had a radio ministry over radio stations in Easley and Seneca, S. C.

In 1967, the Rev. Hayes was presented the achievement award for the year 1967 by the Lion's club of Pickens and Liberty, S. C.

Homecoming

The annual Homecoming will be held Sunday at the Middle Fork Baptist church.

The Rev. F. A. Raines, a former pastor, will speak at the 11:00 o'clock service.

Dinner will be served at 1:00 o'clock at the Eastate Community Center. Special singing will feature the afternoon program.

The pastor, the Rev. Jesse Meece, invites all former pastors and the public to attend.

Benefit Party

The Rosman Rescue Squad Auxiliary will sponsor a benefit party Saturday night at 7:30 at the Rescue Squad and Fire Dept. Building.

Refreshments will be sold.

In charge of the arrangements are Mrs. Robert Lance, Mrs. W. O. Galloway, Jr., and Mrs. Mamie Whitmire.

Rotarians Hear Rev. Wheelhouse

The best seller, "Future Shock," was reviewed by Rev. Otis Wheelhouse at the weekly meeting of the Brevard Rotary club in Gaither's Rhododendron room on Monday.

Written by Alvin Toffler, the book was described as "must" reading. In his very interesting and informative review, Mr. Wheelhouse said that the most progress of mankind had been made in recent years. He told of a few startling things to expect in the immediate future.

The speaker was presented by President John Anderson, who presided.

During the business session, John Clark was named program chairman for the year. He announced that Gene Baker and J. C. Gaither would be in charge of the programs during the month of September.

Douglas Thomason was inducted into the club as a new member of Harry Haderler.

There were many visiting Rotarians present at the meeting.

Living Off The Land

By - Marian Van Atta

SAPPHIRE—We've finally found the answer! We've found how to distinguish between a huckleberry and a buckberry.

It's been a question that puzzled us for the 10 years we've been coming to these Western North Carolina mountains and enjoying the delicious wild fruits.

According to Arthur Stupka, naturalist who wrote TREES, SHRUBS, AND WOODY VINES OF GREAT SMOKY MOUNTAINS NATIONAL PARK, the berries we've been picking here are black huckleberries or if you want to be botanically exact, Gaylussacia baccata.

The black huckleberry differs from the buckberry, which bears the fancy botanical title, Gaylussacia ursina, because the black huckleberry has veins or glands on both surfaces of its leaves.

The buckberry has veins on one side of its leaves and a smooth surface on the other.

The buckberry, to further confuse, is also sometimes called "bear huckleberry."

Now that we've got that questioned settled it might be nice to mention the blueberry which is a member of the Vaccinium species. We've never had any trouble telling a blueberry from a buckberry or huckleberry because they are a much lighter shade of blue and look like tiny basketballs.

But - we found a way to be absolutely sure.

Cut your berry in half with a sharp knife. The buck and huckleberries have 10 tiny, hard seeds. The blueberry has many even smaller soft seeds scattered throughout.

No matter what you find - buck, huck or blue, they can all be eaten.

Betty Blair and Maryjo Batson, who summer here in Sapphire, have been filling their freezers with berries.

"How do you use your berries?" I asked.

"You can make berry muff-ins, add them to pancakes and make jam and jelly," answered Betty.

"Heard that buckberries added to peaches makes one of the very best pies," added Maryjo.

Down at Laura's Home Cooking, a tiny restaurant right on Highway 64, Ken Wilson said that buckberries make a very extra special tasty jelly.

Over at the Red Barn, a gift and snack shop on Highway 64 close to Toxaway Falls, we picked up this recipe for a real "He Man Buckberry Pie".

Mix 3 cups, washed and stemmed buckberries with one cup sugar. Dissolve 4 tablespoons cornstarch in ½ cup water.

Add to sugar and berries and cook over medium heat until mixture thickens and becomes clear.

Four into baked pie shell. Chill and serve with plenty of sweetened whipped cream.

No matter what you call them, buck, huck or blue. They are all "berry good."
