Murray and Poe display paintings in Winston-Salem

The Gallery of Contemporary Art in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, has recently announced that paintings by Tim Murray and Robert Poe of Brevard College have been accepted for the three-month Winston-Salem Annual Exhibit. Of Mr. Murray's works, the polymer "African Corner #2" was accepted to be displayed. Mr. Poe's "Azonal", an acrylic, will be shown also.

Although art is something that can only be experienced visually, artists are being forced to talk more about it. Recently Mr. Murray and Mr. Poe gave some guidelines for a better appreciation of contemporary art. They would first remind the viewer that the history of twentieth century art is based on the premise that it is not so important what you see but how you see it.

Too often the public tries to create much more mystery in a work of art than is really there. They need to understand that the artist is trying to eliminate complexities in order to reach a simple way of expressing himself.

In some cases this may mean that the only aesthetic response can be from the artist himself, but gradually the public is beginning to grasp the concepts of the artist and appreciate his dealings with perceptive values as well as with social values.

Homecoming Dance held

As the night started off with music and dancing, everyone awaited the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. The court was presented by President Davis. Freshman attendants and their escorts were Cecilia Chiles, escorted by Steve Burch; Joye Jones, escorted by Bobby Kennedy. The sophomore attendants were Lynn Sarella, escorted by Jimmy Copeland; Lila Salisbury, escorted by Rod Rudisill; and Laurie Kidd, escorted by Mike Allen.

As the group anxiously awaited the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, President Davis presented a white rose to Clyde Penry as a joke.

The Homecoming Queen for 1971-72 was Laurie Kidd. Then the Queen and her escort danced as the attendants fell in behind.

SNEA Represents B.C. At U.N.C.-A.

On Tuesday, October 5, four students and Mr. Tawney attended a district meeting for the SNEA at the University of North Carolina at Asheville. In addition to Brevard College, LeNoir - Rhyne College, Western Carolina University, Mars Hill College, and the University of North Carolina at Asheville were represented. This was a cluster meeting to unite the colleges of this area to compare notes about their activities, projects, and the courses available at each college. Voter-election drives (drives for education majors to become involved in politics) were discussed also.

The SNEA is still accepting members in hopes that education majors will become involved in a club which will benefit them. If any non-member is interested in joining, the next meeting will be held on Monday, October 18. For further details, see Mr. Tawney or Judy Houser.

Weaver College Rummage Sale Painting Donated October 23rd To Brevard

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will hold a rummage sale of good used children's, Men's women's and infant clothes, a TV set and other items at the American Legion building Saturday, October 23rd, beginning at 7:30 in the morning till 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

In the spring of 1971, Ruby and Pressley Biel of Austin, Texas, donated to Brevard College a massive painting of a new campus proposed for Weaver College in the late 1920's. This painting is now on exhibit in the campus library.

The Archives Committee, chaired by Mr. David Holcombe, and consisting in addition of Mrs. Mary Stevenson, Mrs. Margaret McLarty, and Miss Irene Brychein, took on the project and placed the painting on display this fall.

The painting reveals a tie to the dreams of Weaver College and President Trowbridge of Weaver College for an ideal small Methodist campus. It is interesting to note that the plans of Weaver College resemble the campus of Brevard College today.

This is a good indication of the work the Archives Committee has been doing. Their job is to gather historical material of Brevard College's past and to date, to interpret and to store these facts for use as aids in research into the past.

Egg Publicity
KIAMESHA LAKE, N. Y. — "Unless those of you in the egg industry take steps now to combat adverse publicity, you aren't going to be in the egg business in a few years," declared Dr. L. A. Wilhelm president of the Poultry and Egg National Board.

Dr. Wilhelm, was asked by the Neppco program committee to review the current status of the cholesterol controversy.

He charged that DESPITE A LACK OF CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE linking heart disease and cholesterol, the industry has been blasted at least twice a month since April with publicity on the dangers of cholesterol.

Outlining PENB's basic strategy, Dr. Wilhelm listed five target groups who will be told the basic story that "eggs are good for you."

One of these primary target groups will be the medical and para-medical professions. The others will be food editors and specialists consumer educators, food retailers.

From the Poultry Times 6 Oct. 1971 our target group is you. With the freshest information and eggs.
