Sky City Shopping Center Has Grand Opening Thursday

Sky City Discount Center, a subsidiary of Sky City Stores, of Asheville, opens their new 45,000 square foot store in Brevard today. The store is located in the new Brevard Plaza complex on the four lane Asheville highway North of Brevard near the proposed Hospital construction.

Leon Shook, long the local manager of Bower's Store, also a Sky City unit, will manage the new store. According to Mr. Shook, Sky City will feature quality goods sold on a money back guarantee and at prices discounted from the usual retail. The store features over 40 departments with convenient family shopping hours, abundant free parking spaces in a well lit, paved parking lot.

Company officials said the idea of Sky City Stores was conceived by M. C. Peterson, company president, when he recognized the parking and traffic problems of downtown shoppers and felt they would appreciate and patronize a store in a convenient location, with plenty of free parking, a store where most of their everyday needs could be purchased under one roof, and at popular prices.

Asheville known as "The Land of the Sky" suggested the name Sky City as the first store was opened in Asheville in 1962

The success of the store was immediate and shortly afterwards expansion plans were necessary and the first store was enlarged to over twice its original size. In

Measles Clinics Are Being Planned In County Next Month

Legislation enacted in April of this year requires all North Carolina children to be immunized prior to age two against measles ("red" measles or rubeola). This then, of course, requires school children to be immunized prior to entering school. A recent directive from Raleigh has waived this provision of compulsory immunization for this current school year, but the law will be enforceable from next year on.

Because of a recent upsurge in red measles in the county, the Transylvania Health Department will soon be preparing for a special measles campaign to revaccinate all children ages one through 12.

Directors of the Brevard Chamber of Commerce held a busy session at their regular meeting Tuesday night at the library, and action was taken on several important items confronting the local civic body.

President Milton Massey introduced Fred McCloud of Hendersonville, director of Blue Ridge Technical Institute there, who spoke to the directors concerning the federal regulations coming from the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

He asked the Chamber to help in making this information available to local employees, and Cecil Hill moved that any such assistance needed be rendered by the body. The motion was passed, and a committee consisting of Robert Merrill, Don Blankinship and Jerry Pursler was appointed to head up this program.

Membership committee chairman Vernon Fullbright reported that there were eighteen members who still had not paid their 1971 dues. It was then announced that December 15th will be the cutoff date and that the names of members who have not paid their dues by that time will not appear on the ballot for the election of the 1972 board of directors.

The present dues structure of the Chamber then came under discussion, and a committee consisting of Ben Patterson, Larry Turner, Carol Grahl, Jerry Jerome and Walter Cantrell was appointed to study the dues structure and report any recommendations of changes at the next meeting in order to have them in force by 1972.

UNC Men's Glee Club To Be Heard, Fall Contest Underway

One of WPNF's most "listened to" programs is that of the Transylvania Times each Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

The program features "easy listening" music with an editorial from The Times.

This Sunday afternoon the Glee Club of the University of North Carolina will be heard on the program.

The men will sing some of the songs that they will sing when they give two concerts here in Brevard on November 18th. (See story on the front page of the third section).

Contest
WPNF's fall contest is off

Transylvanians are urged to pay their property and personal taxes now.

According to Tax Collector Vernon P. Fullbright, a penalty of two per cent goes into effect on January 1st.

Mr. Fullbright states: The 1971 N. C. General Assembly has re-written and modernized the property tax law of this state known as the Machinery Act. The revision went into effect on July 1, 1971.

This means that your current real and personal property taxes are due and payable NOW, and that you will be assessed a 2% penalty if you wait until after the first of the year to pay.

and running, and everyone can win a free turkey for Thanksgiving if they'll just enter the contest and are lucky enough to win.

Listeners should mail a letter or card to "Turkey Shooting Contest", and on that card give their name, address and telephone number.

The contest is being run several times each day over WPNF and will continue until Thanksgiving.

Contest sponsors over WPNF include: Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio; Harper's of Brevard; The Kyurio Shop on Highway 64; Partner's Restaurant;

Lutherans To Have Note Burning Ceremony Sunday

The concerted efforts of members of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, under the direction of George Wilson, chairman of the Church Council, and the assistance of friends, have resulted in the final payment on the recently constructed Unit of the physical facilities, located at the corner of Fisher Road and Broad Street, according to information released last Sunday.

Sunday, November 14th, in connection with a meeting of the entire congregation, a note burning ceremony will take place. The interim-pastor, the Rev. J. Lewis Thornburg, D. D., has commended the membership for the splendid spirit in which they have worked to erect, and now finish paying for, this much needed Unit. Adequate provision is now available for the total ministry of the congregation, including worship, teaching, and fellowship. Since the completion of the Educational Unit, noticeable growth in participation has been noted.

The annual stewardship supper will take place on Sunday evening, beginning at 6:00 o'clock, and followed by a showing of a film along with a script of the work of the Lutheran Church in America, the Lutheran Synod of North Carolina, and the local Lutheran congregation. This represents a "first" in this phase of the stewardship program, and Lewis Rasmussen and his entire committee has worked long and hard to complete the project, and all members are urged to be present both for the fellowship meal, and the program which is to follow.

The Rev. John Hawn, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Asheville, will be the guest speaker for the occasion.

Fred Kilstrom, Associational Music Director, will lead the Associational Youth Choir in
