Superb Stuffed Eggplant Delights At Dinner

It's not an egg, but nevertheless we call the large purple vegetable an eggplant. The reason—the first eggplants in Europe were the small-fruited kinds, resembling an egg, thus accounting for the name. This attractive vegetable is in good supply at your market now. For a satisfying main dish how about Stuffed Eggplant? It's marvelous, and it uses thrifty ground beef. The eggplant pulp, which you remove from the shell, and the sautéed meat are seasoned with zingy fresh vegetables. Then the filling is placed in the satiny purple eggplant shell, topped with buttery crumbs and Parmesan cheese, and baked. Bring out a loaf of Italian bread. Serve some fresh fruit for dessert, and there's dinner, simple but so special.

Stuffed Eggplant

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| 1 large (1½ to 2 pounds) eggplant | 1½ fresh parsley |
| 1 clove garlic, cut in half | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| ½ cup chopped fresh onion | ¼ teaspoon dried leaf oregano |
| 1 tablespoon olive or salad oil | ¼ teaspoon pepper |
| 1 pound ground lean beef | ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs |
| ½ cup chopped green pepper | ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese |
| 3 tablespoons chopped | 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted |

Wash eggplant and parboil 10 minutes in boiling water to cover. Remove from water and cut a lengthwise slice from the top. Scrape out pulp to within ¼ inch from the skin and from the slice removed from top. Chop finely. Sauté garlic and onion in olive oil in large skillet. Remove garlic. Add ground beef and cook until it is no longer pink. Add eggplant pulp, green pepper and parsley; cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add seasonings. Sprinkle additional salt and black pepper inside the eggplant shell and fill with meat mixture. Mix bread crumbs with cheese and melted butter. Sprinkle over the top. Bake in a 350°F. oven 30 minutes or until crumbs are browned. Makes: 6 servings.

Distaff Deeds

Inexpensive, but unique Christmas decorations can be fashioned from clothespins, excelsior and seed pods.

All you need are the materials and the creative imagination of Wayne County homemaker Mrs. T. A. Beaman.

Mrs. Beaman made decorations from clothespins by hand painting them to look like dolls; from excelsior by forming it into bird nests; and from various seed pods by painting and sprinkling them with glitter.

All the ornaments were beautiful, yet retained that sought after "hand-made" quality, said Mrs. Evelyn D. Raper, home economics extension agent.

Sewing Son

After watching his three sisters do a great deal of sewing, G. W. Gardner, III, Rowan County, decided to try his hand too.

He used some fabric his mother had on hand to make a reversible vest.

Mrs. Gardner, a 4-H leader, was just as proud of her 17-year-old sewing son as she was of his finished product. Mrs. Louise Woodard, assistant home economics extension agent, relates.

G. W. is enthused too. He wants to make some more clothes and is seriously thinking about entering the county 4-H fashion revue.

Friendly Advice

When a nine-year-old asks

his mother to buy liver "because it will help us grow big and strong" that's unusual.

It's also good teaching on the part of Mrs. Annie Murphy, Extension Program Aide with the Expanded Nutrition Program in Durham County.

As Mrs. Murphy taught the homemaker a delicious way to prepare liver she also taught the children why liver was good for them.

Now when the mother goes to the supermarket to shop, her children give her a bit of friendly advice: buy liver.
