Brevard College opens its 1971-72 basketball season with many new faces, including a new head coach. Many of the faces, however, are familiar to the basketball fans of Western North Carolina. Rick McClure from Pisgah High, Bob Miller from Enka, Eddie Taylor from Western Carolina University, Walt Clonts from Hiwassee (Ga.) High and Jerry Webb from Tuscola High comprise a strong nucleus. "We recruited heavy in Western North Carolina this year, and came out with some fine ball players. They will all play an important part in the success of this year's team," commented coach Larry Burch.

Brevard, however, will be faced with one major problem, a lack of experienced players. Out of the fifteen member squad, only four return as lettermen, and only one was a regular starter on last year's team. However, these returnees, Henry Jones and co-captain Bill McClain worked hard over the summer months and have returned much better ball players.

Two players, both High School All Americans, will add more experience. Eddie Taylor, a former Cullowhee cager, transferred to Brevard from Western Carolina University. "Eddie had some hard knocks at Brevard with knee ligament damage and a dislocated index finger, but he keeps going. He has a stand out in pre-season work, and has provided a man to look to when the going got tough, expressed Burch. Big Dave Crowford, a 6'10" 225 performer from South Hill, Virginia, is beginning to come around after a year's lay-off. "Dave has all the tools a big man needs. It is just going to take him to gain his confidence and timing back," Burch continued.

Freshmen seem to be the key for this year, with eight struggling to make the starting unit. At the guard position, Rick McClure, Bob Miller, and George Hester are all looking good. Hester was the first freshman in Brevard basketball history to be elected captain. He is an All-Star performer from Morehead City, N.C. McClure and Miller are both Blue-White All-Star participants. Mike Coles, Steve Rubin, Frank Blount, Bill Miller, and Jerry Webb provide a sturdy group of forwards. "His group of freshmen forwards give me more strength under the boards. However, they have been extremely inconsistent but are gradually coming around. And too, they are small in comparison to other college forwards, but all like to mix it up under the boards," Burch said.

"Generally speaking, we are a good deal stronger than last year. Our depth is good, with everyone pushing for the starting positions. We are bigger than last year, and much quicker. This will allow us to open up and do more things, hopefully right. Other teams in our conferences have improved and have more experienced players than we do, but I am enthused about the team and the players want badly to rebound back from last year's poor showing.

Season tickets are now on sale and can be purchased by contacting Brevard College Athletic Director, L. W. "Chick" Martin. The opening game is at Brevard College Boshamer Gymnasium November 20th at 7:30 p.m. with the University of North Carolina at Asheville's "B" Team.

counselors suddenly jumped to his feet: "I've got it! I've got it! We'll declare war on the U.S.!"

"War on the U.S.? Are you kidding?"

"No, it'll be over in a couple of days. Then they'll come and occupy us. They'll rebuild the country. They'll give us new factories. They'll make us a Marshall Plan! We can't lose!"

The whole cabinet concurred excitedly with the exception of one man—rumor says it was Dayan. He merely asked: "What if we win?"

Two Students From Brevard In WCU Play

Two Western Carolina University students from Brevard will participate in the next production of the WCU Department of Speech and Theatre Arts, "The Firebug." Catherine Jean Dixon of 58 Oakdale street is stage manager. Nancy Hammill of East Main Street Extension will appear as Anna.

The drama by Max Frisch centers around two arsonists and their invasion of the home of a wealthy businessman. The production, opening Nov. 15 and running through Nov. 20, will be the University Theatre's entry in the American College Theatre Festival.

Cathy, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mrs. Jean H. Dixon. She is majoring in speech and theatre arts and is a member of the University Theatre Family.

Nancy, also a sophomore is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Hammill. She is a member of the University Theatre Family. Both are 1970 graduates of Brevard High School.

Winn-Dixie Purchases Of Carolina Fruits, Vegetables Reported Over Three Million

Purchases of fresh Carolina fruits and vegetables by Winn-Dixie Stores during the recent growing season totaled $3,017,521, it was reported by the field-buying office at Hendersonville.

The company has 852 supermarkets throughout the South, many in the local area. Commenting on Winn-Dixie's promotion of home-grown products, Executive Vice President Joe A. Adams said:

"The high quality of Carolina mountain-grown products is bringing an increasing number of comments from our customers. We are grateful for the contribution Carolina growers themselves are making in providing us with these harvest-fresh fruits and vegetables.

"Similarly, our purchases at Hendersonville follow our longstanding policy of buying from growers in our own operating areas wherever possible."

High School Students Visit The Brevard College Campus

On Tuesday, November 16, Brevard College hosted high school students from Transylvania and Henderson Counties at the first annual Brevard College Day Program.

Over 100 students from Transylvania County and nearly 30 students from Henderson County attended the program. A minimal amount of planning was done for this program in hopes that the students attending would get the best possible idea of what the program is like at Brevard College.

for the humanities, where they had a specific interest. Here they talked with teachers and other students who shared those interests. For those students that had not been on campus before, a tour was arranged so they could see the general facilities of the college. Students then returned to their respective high schools in the afternoon.

Laugh Corner

Students arrived on campus at 10:30. They attended classes at 11:00 with college students so that they would get an idea of how the classes were taught. Toby Ives, Admissions Director stated, "we tried to have students attend classes in subjects which they were especially interested."

The visiting students ate lunch in the cafeteria with the college students.

"After lunch," continued, Mr. Ives, "we answered questions about the college program in order to find out some of the things they were interested in."

Shortly after that, the visiting students were invited to go to a specific area of the college whether it be the Library, the Science Building, Physical Education facilities or the Classroom Building

"But why did you buy a dachshund for the children?"

"So they can all pet him at once."

Proud mother (exhibiting her baby): "He's eating solids now—pencils, keys, rubber bands, pickles, spiders, etc."

"What did you do with your house in the divorce settlement?"

"We divided it."

"How could you do that?"

"She took the inside, and I took the outside."
