Realtec Developments Rated Top Stories Of '71 Locally

By - Cal Carpenter
Feature Editor

Editor's note: With the ending of 1971, the TIMES staff again attempts to select the top 10 news stories of the past year. We are aware we cannot do this to everyone's satisfaction because people differ widely in what they consider important stories. Nevertheless we try again this year as we have in the years past.

The effort has been to find the common denominator wherever possible; that is, to select on the bases of the broadest interest and effect on the country as a whole rather than individual likes or dislikes in the news. We pass no judgment on these stories by their position in our selection; we only say that in our opinion and for the reasons briefly given in this article, they were the top stories of last year.

We note with pride that this year's selections are over half about county progress—development, building, and recognition by important people. This has not always been the case in our selections and it points up the fact that last year was a growing one for Brevard and Transylvania County. Looking back over previous selections, we are struck by the tremendous growth and progress reflected in the stories, which were honestly chosen on the bases of wide public interest and effect as we noted before, without any preconceived idea of the strong progress theme that has emerged.

We again would like to note that the top ten stories are not all single stories. Most of them, in fact, are continuing stories — developments of which appeared in several papers over periods of time.

New Brevard Post Office Opens Monday, Has Twice The Space

The Facility Said Modern Throughout

Construction on the new Brevard Post Office is being completed this week, and this modern facility will be opened to the public next Monday morning, January 10th.

According to Postmaster Charlie Patton, Sunday will be the last day of operations at the old Post Office, and he cordially invites the public to begin using the new Post Office next Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

"We will complete moving operations over the weekend, and we will be in our beautiful new Post Office bright and early Monday morning," Mr. Patton declared.

He urges patrons to pick up their mail in lock boxes on Sunday at the old Post Office so that it will not have to be transferred on Monday.

The new Post Office is located at 211 West Main street, directly opposite the Fire Station in the New Municipal building.

Persons desiring to park in one of the 16 parking spaces in front of the building are asked to enter from England street, and the exit is on to West Main street.

There is a huge, fenced-in parking lot behind for employees and for mail trucks and for others desiring to load or unload large quantities of mail.

Built By Bryant

Built by Bryant Construction company, the new Post Office is almost twice as large as the old one. It contains 7,958 square feet, as compared with 3,978 in the old building.

There are 600 lock boxes in the new building as compared to 400 in the old building. The Postmaster emphasizes that there is also room for expansion when the need arises.

All renters of the lock boxes are urged to bring their old keys as soon as they can next week and exchange them for new ones.

Modern throughout, the new Post Office has bank-type counters, which are separated from the lobby and are closed off when the windows are not open.

"Open House"

Postmaster Patton is anxious to "show off" the new Post Office to the public, and he hopes that an "Open House" can be held in the immediate future.

Naturally, the public is in- —Turn to Page Six

The Brevard Little Theatre will present its first play of the 1971-72 season January 13, 14 and 15. The production, "The Voice Of The Turtle", will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m., with a matinee performance slated for Saturday at 2:30. Performances will be in the Little Theatre building, located behind The Transylvania Times.

Originally scheduled for a December presentation, the play had to be postponed until January when one of the cast members suffered appendicitis during the final two weeks of rehearsal.

"The Voice Of The Turtle", a smash Broadway play of the 1940's, is considered a classic of modern, sophisticated comedy. The action, which takes place in a New York City apartment, centers around a most attractive and charming young man and an equally attractive young woman. By gradual stages, the two fall in love with each other. A second woman completes the triangle, making for a lively evening's entertainment. —Turn to Page Five
