Beta Rho Hears Of Cancer Research

The January, 1972, meeting of the service-minded Beta Rho Chapter of Epsilon Sigma International was held on January 5, 1972, at the home of Mrs. Cookie Barnes in Pisgah Forest.

Mrs. Nancy Glazener, president of the chapter, called the meeting to order and asked for the reports from the standing committees.

Mrs. Martha Jayé Johnson, Chairman of the Welfare Committee, reported on the Christmas party held for the children of the Beta Rho-sponsored Jack and Jill Day Care Center.

To the delight of the children, Christmas stockings were made for them by the young people of the Pisgah Forest Baptist church and all the children enjoyed the many gifts these stockings held.

She also reported the families much appreciated the Christmas baskets made by the chapter which were given to selected families during the holidays. Beta Rho is considering extending its help by contributing to a family all year instead of just through the Christmas season. All the members were in favor of this idea as needs continue throughout the year.

Mrs. Carol Tyson, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, reported how very successful the Money Doll had been for the budget of Beta Rho and will enable the chapter to continue and enlarge its philanthropic work in the community. Carol received many congratulations on a job well done.

Mrs. Keitha Reddick, Vice President and chairman of the January social, informed the membership that the social will be a dinner party for the members and their husbands at the Red Lions Inn to be held on Saturday, January 15.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. Barnes, immediate past president of the Transylvania Chapter of the American Cancer Society, presented a program to acquaint the members with the many new press releases and developments being made in Cancer Research.

She also informed the sisters of the greater appropriations recently made by Congress to aid in the research. Many new breakthroughs being made now were discussed and Mrs. Barnes informed the membership of the Post Office box at the Brevard Post Office, Box 645, where donations and memorials can be sent. The membership was very enlightened and interested by this presentation.

Immediately after the educational program, the sisters got together for refreshments served by Mrs. Barnes, after which secret pal and "phantom" gifts were exchanged and enjoyed.

AAUW Keeping Abreast Of News

Keeping abreast of the news is one of the duties of today's woman. Not being able to keep informed because of duties at home is a common complaint of mothers with small children. Sometimes the news reports just can't compete with the small fry, and the poor mother collapses into bed at night wondering when and how she's going to be the woman for her intelligent husband.

With this in mind, the American Association of University Women (AAUW) organized a study group a few years ago. The group meets twice a month and delves into international topics relating to foreign policy of the United States. Most participants are AAUW members but it is open to any woman interested in studying reading, and thinking about today's news.

For example, this group of women made a comprehensive study of Southeast Asia, how the United States became involved in that crisis, what U. S. policies were and are toward those countries. Some of what the group learned was not pleasant, but they all agree the study was worthwhile.

The Middle East was subject for discussion last year, and the women again reached into history to learn reasons for the conflict. They read related books, collected news articles from papers and magazines and diligently viewed the news coverages on television. Soon they were listening better and were more interested because of their new knowledge.

The AAUW Study Group is now studying the countries of Latin America and plans to go into a thorough study of the U. S. relations with China. Programs are prepared by the members with
