Congressman Mizell To Speak At Local Lincoln Day Dinner

(Continued from Page One) the United States Congress as representative of the Fifth Congressional District of North Carolina, was first elected to Congress in 1968 after one of the most colorful careers of any legislator in American history.

Born on August 13, 1930, near Vinegar Bend, Alabama, (population 37), Mr. Mizell became known throughout the nation as "Vinegar Bend" Mizell during his ten years as a major league baseball pitcher.

During his career with the St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, Mizell proved to be a consistently valuable performer and was named to the National League All-Star team in 1959. In 1960, he helped pitch the Pirates to a National League championship and a World Series victory over the New York Yankees.

Turning his attention to politics, Mizell was elected in 1966 to the David-on County Board of Commissioners and served as chairman of the board.

He won election to the United States Congress in November, 1968, as a Republican, and was re-elected in 1970 by more than twice the margin of his 1968 victory.

Mizell retired from baseball after the 1962 season, which he spent with the New York Mets, when arm trouble began to curtail his effectiveness. "By the time I quit the game," he says, "there were still only two batters I had trouble with — right-handers and left-handers."

After retiring from his baseball career, Mizell worked in sales management and public relations for the Pepsi-Cola Company in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, where he had once pitched in the minor leagues.

Mizell has been active in such areas as rural development, efficiency in government, spending (winning a "Watchdog of the Treasury" award in 1970), local control of schools textile import policy, social security benefits, the prisoner-of-war issue, and tobacco legislation.

The congressman is a member of the House Committees on Public Works and Agriculture. His subcommittee assignments on Public Works include economic development, roads, flood control and internal development, public buildings and grounds, and investigation and oversight.

In the Agriculture Committee, he is a member of the subcommittees on tobacco, cotton, and oilseeds and rice.

Mizell is a second term member of the executive committee of the Republican Congressional Committee, which oversees campaign policies and operations, and conducts a public information program on Republican activities.

He is also a member of the House Republican Research Committee's Task Force on Rural Development, and the National Advisory Council of Teen-age Republicans.

Mizell has received numerous awards, and was named Distinguished Citizen of 1969 by the George Washington University, and was the Southern Baptist Christian Athlete of the Year in 1951.

The congressman served in the U. S. Army in 1953-54, and is a member of the American Legion.

Mizell is married to the former Nancy Ruth McAlpine of Davidson County, North Carolina. The Mizells have two sons, Wilmer David, Jr. (Dave), 15, and James Daniel (Danny), age 9.

Mizell is a deacon in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, and frequently serves as a lay speaker.
