Karin Brown Cites Platform In Bid For City Alderman

Karin Brown, candidate for City Alderman stated that she believes the "first and foremost business of Brevard is people and their needs — not an administrative or care-taker's operation per se."

"While good administration is very essential to efficient government operation, there would be no need for it if there weren't a lot of people with a lot of very real needs," Mrs. Brown continued. "Our emphasis should be on concern for people and their needs. Then our desire for efficient businesslike administration can be justified, for it is then a valuable factor in making sure these needs are met," she stated.

"The jobs of City Alderman and Mayor are responsible positions in being able to meet the needs of the people. We don't need just managers in these positions, we need people-oriented action getters who are going to be responsive to what people need and want, and who will report to the people exactly what is being done."

Mrs. Brown is basing her campaign on her concern for the community and her interest in seeing Brevard get results on a number of "people oriented" issues. She wants to see the women of the community have more representation in the planning and governing of the city and the actions of the government as it affects them.

She strongly supports the new city housing program and its HUD support, and feels that we must look into developing other housing projects of this kind in the future.

"We live in a beautiful area and a progressive community. It is therefore very much in our interests to see that good and decent housing is available for our people to both protect and care for our citizens as well as to keep our community clean and attractive," Mrs. Brown stated.

She states her concern for the protection of the ecology and natural beauty of our area and plans to develop and work for programs that will guard our area from further harm, while at the same time permitting well planned economic growth.

At Middle Fork
The Southern Joy Quartet of Greenville, S. C., will sing at the 11 o'clock service Sunday at the Middle Fork Baptist church. The pastor, the Rev. Jesse Meece, invites the public to attend.

Open House
Open House was held Thursday night at the meeting of the Rosman PTA. A very large number of parents attended the meeting in the auditorium, prior to visiting the teachers in their classrooms.

The junior and senior bands presented a short program under the direction of Jim Jackson. The Rev. J. K. Pressley was in charge of the devotions.

Committees were announced as follows: membership, grades 1 - 3 Mrs. Louise Hogsed and Mrs. Susie Reece; grades 4 - 7 Miss Deborah Landreth and Mrs. Brenda Jamerson; 8 - 12, Mrs. Jane Williams. Refreshments, Mrs. Lillie Paxton, Mrs. Patsy Owen, and Mrs. Lucy Bryson publicity, Mrs. LaVerne Hogsed; election committee, Mrs. Betty Tinsley, Mrs. Ann Gillespie, Clinton Owen, and Mrs. Ollie Mae Wood.

Mrs. Jane Reece, vice - president presided. She announced the membership drive is underway and will close November 2nd.

Teachers and school personnel were introduced by Principals A. L. Warren and Charles Whitley. In the grade count of parents present, the attendance award was won by Mrs. Mary Hardin's third grade and Mrs. Jackie Greene's fifth grade.

Clogging Team
The newly organized Rosman Junior Clogging team will perform Saturday night at 6:30 at Connestee Falls.

The lead couple will be Blane Morgan and Carla Morgan. Several other clogging teams will be appearing and music will be provided by Roy Chapman's Band.

No admission is being charged, and the public is invited to come out and see this fine clogging team.

enjoyment by our own and future generations, while at the same time incorporating good economic growth, are needed," she said. "This is what I mean by people oriented programs and concern. This is the type of program we then need to relate to efficient administration," she continued.

"Another area of concern to Mrs. Brown is the need for recreation facilities and programs for our youth. "Instead of worrying about enlarging our parks for the benefit of visitors and tourists, we should be concerned with developing plans to make these parks better for our youths and have programs at the parks and other facilities that show our youths how to use them to good advantage.

Nature programs as well as good sports activities would help tremendously and if done with the right guidance of themselves could do much to draw tourists. Youth arts and crafts festivals, youth nature gardens featuring plants and shrubs of the area raised by our own youths, youth sports contests and clogging competitions can all be of interest. The difference is that we're caring for our youths while at the same time providing interest for tourists."

Mrs. Brown is also concerned about proper planning and safety for the school children. She is strongly for the new school building program and also for development of a good airport but feels that better planning should be involved so that the two interests do not conflict.

"Having an airport right next to a school, where planes will fly directly over the school, is not good planning and it actually endangers our youth. I feel we should investigate ways to solve this dilemma and should not allow such things to happen in the future. It is neither fair to the school children, the airport owner or the taxpayer who must stand the bill of not only the building of the school, but the responsibility for the safety of the children as well as repairs to the building if anything goes wrong," Mrs. Brown stated.

"I am interested in these programs as well as new ideas from the people," she said. "We need better communication between the people and their representatives and this is another reason I'm running. I want to get action for our people while at the same time having an efficient operation and actually aiming at the things the community needs most. I love the people here and want to do all I can for them, so that we can all enjoy our community and its activities in a more enriching way."

Mrs. Brown is originally a native of Wiesbaden, Germany. She gave up her citizenship in Germany 14 years ago because she wanted to come to the United States. She officially became a citizen in 1965 because of her love for, and strong interest in, this country and has lived in the Brevard area for nearly 14 years. She is familiar with the area, its people, and its problems and strongly believes that the people are the nicest found anywhere. She is available for questions, and for further information can be contacted at 883-2773.
