Brevard Choral Society To Present Concert This Sunday

The newly organized Brevard Choral Society will present its inaugural concert this coming Sunday, November 4th, at 3:30 p.m., at the First United Methodist Church in Brevard. This group was organized for the purpose of performing major choral works in the area. For the November concert the performers will present two works by the well-known German 18th century composer Buxtehude, "Jesu, Joy and Treasure" and "Magnificat".

The last portion of the program will be a composition by the contemporary composer Zimmermann entitled "Psalmkonzert". This unusual work will be accompanied by three trumpets, vibraphone and electric bass. A unison choir of nine members of the Youth Fellowship Choir of the Methodist Church will sing the well-known chorale tune "Now Thank We All Our God" during the final section of this work. This tune is superimposed over the fabric of the complex vocal parts of the five part chorus and the five instrumental parts.

Instrumentalists for this initial concert of the Choral Society will include Lisa Frederick, Tina Keller and Libby McGimsey, flutes; Duane Bradley and Pete Merlin, violas;

George Barrier and Mike Wyman, trumpets; Kelly Strawn, bassoon; and Rick Pusey, electric bass — all students at Brevard College. Two music faculty members Virginia Tilotson, vibraphone; and Larry Whately, trumpet will also accompany the chorus and soloists.

Vocal soloists for the Buxtehude will be Loyd Courtney, soprano and David Wilcox, bass; college students, and Marion Whately, soprano, a member of the music faculty. Dr. Frank B. McGuire will be the featured baritone soloist in the Zimmermann work. The accompanist for the Choral Society is Adelaide Hart Miller, who will perform both on the organ and harpsichord for this concert. The director of the group is Nelson F. Adams.

Membership of the 40-voice Choral Society is currently divided almost equally between college students and individuals from the town of Brevard. Members of the Brevard College Choir are automatically involved in the Society.

Membership in this new musical organization is open to anyone residing in the area.

Polls To Open At 6:30, Will Close At 7:30

Next Tuesday, November 6th, will be Election Day in Brevard, Transylvania and across North Carolina.

The polls will open at 6:30 a.m. and they will close at 7:30 that evening.

Registrars and Judges in the Election are announced elsewhere in this issue of The Times.

In Brevard, voters will elect a Mayor and two members of the Board of Aldermen.

At Rosman, they will choose a Mayor and three members of the Board.

Transylvanians will also vote in three statewide issues. These are: A school bond referendum, a Clean Water and Air referendum and Liquor By-the-Drink. Sample ballots are carried elsewhere in this week's Times.

A heated campaign is underway in the race for Brevard Mayor in which incumbent Charles Campbell is being opposed by Don M. Blackwell.

There is also a lot of interest in the race for two seats on the Board of Aldermen. Candidates are: Dwight L. Moffitt, the incumbent, Karin Ingrid Brown, Clyde Duvall, Richard Haney, Cornelius Hunt and Jud McCrary.

Rosman voters are facing a problem. No one has announced for Mayor, so the voters will have to write in their choice.

Mrs. Edith Osborne, the incumbent Mayor, has declined to run, because she plans to vacation part of this summer.

Environmental Group Urging Recycling Of Solid Waste

Since Transylvania County has a pressing problem in the matter of the disposal of solid waste, the last meeting of the Transylvania Environmental Association (TEA) was devoted to a study and discussion of this subject. Ronald J. Arps presented a study he made of recycling as a method of solid waste disposal. He had investigated the recycling methods now underway in nearby areas such as Sylva and Hendersonville. A spirited discussion of the advantages of recycling followed.

The consensus of the Association members present appeared to be that this method is the most advantageous from all points of view and will most certainly be the method of the future. Recycling solid waste reduces the area needed for sanitary landfill and, more importantly, returns an economic benefit to the towns and counties using such methods. For example, Kraft cardboard is in short supply and brings $50.00 a ton if collected and sold. The town of Sylva has been collecting and selling waste paper to the Mead Paper Corporation for re-use and bringing the town a tidy profit.

A discussion took place on how to educate home owners to separate their waste papers into newsprint, cardboard and mixed papers and on how these papers might be collected for re-sale.

Mr. Arps is writing a report on his findings and the Association plans to make copies available to the civic authorities for study.

A series of articles on recycling prepared by the Association will be appearing in coming issues of this newspaper.

All persons interested in helping to preserve and improve the environment in which they live are urged to join TEA. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, November 20th in the Science Building at Brevard College, Room 101.

As of press time Wednesday, Transylvania had subscribed to 74% of its goal of $62,152.79. Please make your pledge as soon as possible to put our county "over the top."
