Beginners And Advanced Courses In Conversational Spanish To Be Offered, Starts March 28

Less Honey
North Carolina keekeepers produced 4 million pounds of honey in 1973 compared to 7.1 million pounds the year before. The sharp decline was attributed to a 2 percent decrease in the number of colonies plus a decrease of 16 pounds in the average yield per colony.

Conversational Spanish will be taught again for the general public at Olin Corporation by Aida White under the sponsorship of Blue Ridge Technical Institute.
The Monday and Tuesday classes will be reserved for the advanced classes which are being continued from winter quarter. A beginning conversational Spanish class will start March 28th, being taught Thursdays, from 6:30 to 9:00 p. m. in Olin's Training Center. Registration will be held open until the following week, April 4, 1974.

Mrs. White employs the most effective methods of instruction, involving a great amount of culture and information in the form of songs, and text. She is a native of Cuba.

This beginners' course is open to all who wish to enjoy themselves while learning to speak Spanish. A $2.00 registration fee and a book called "The Berlitz Self-Teacher, Spanish" are required.

A certificate from Blue Ridge Technical Institute will be presented upon completion of the course. Those interested should call Mrs. White at 863-4689 after 5:00 p. m. and on weekends.

Don Lewis

American Craftsman To Appear On Brevard College Campus

The Fine Arts Division of Brevard College will present a lecture and demonstration by American Craftsman, Don Lewis, on Thursday, March 21st, from 2:00 until 4:00 p. m. in Dunham Music Center, room 017. A reception will follow.

A slide lecture will be presented at 7:00 p. m. in the J. A. Jones Library seminar room, and the public is cordially invited to attend all events, admission free. An exhibition of Mr. Lewis's works is on display in the library through March 21st, and the public is invited to come in and view the beautiful pottery. His works are available for purchase.

Don Lewis is a professional potter whose work has been included in a national and international exhibits sponsored by The American Craftsman's Council, The American Federation of Arts, and the Smithsonian Institution, as well as numerous regional and one-man shows.

He received pottery training under Marguerite Wildenhain at her Pond Farm Workshop in Guerneville, California, and is a graduate of Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina. Recently he received that institution's Distinguished Alumni Award, for "outstanding achievement in your chosen field of endeavor that has brought honor to the university." He has contributed articles to Ceramic Monthly magazine, and is included in the book Artisans of the Appalachians.

He is part owner of the Twelve Designer - Craftsman shop in Gatlinburg, Tennessee, where a complete assortment of his pottery may be seen year-around. He is an exhibiting member of The Southern Highland Handicraft Guild and Piedmont Craftsmen, Inc., and participates in exhibits sponsored by those organizations. His work is also seen in outstanding shops throughout the United States.

Don Lewis and his wife, poet Bennie Lee Sinclair, live near Campobello, South Carolina.
