fitting for the hospital according to Mrs. Dot Hunter, President of the Auxiliary.

The painting, a valuable professional work, was donated by Mrs. Mitchell, "out of gratitude for the excellent care I received during a recent hospitalization."

Nashville, Tennessee, and has done graduate work in art at the Chicago Art Institute, the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, and with several private instructors.

All of her paintings are done outdoors, on the spot.

Mrs. Mitchell has exhibited at many places, both with groups and in one-artist shows. She has received numerous prizes and awards for the excellence of her work.

She paints primarily for her own pleasure, she says, but has sold many paintings.

"We are very grateful for Mrs. Mitchell's valuable gift to the hospital," says Mrs. Hunter.

Far Away Places

The U.S. imports as well as exports agricultural commodities — and from places that one might not suspect. For example, we imported about a million dollars worth of fine animal hair — mostly cashmere and camel hair — from Outer Mongolia last year.

From The Broadcaster Marriage & Death Arrive At BHS

"Death: The Inevitable," "Ecology and Literature" and "Marriage and Communication" are the three new English mini courses that are being offered at BHS this fourth nine weeks.

"Marriage and Communication", taught by Mrs. Gail Lathrop, is a communication course. Students in this course will concern themselves with problems dating couples and marriage partners have in their attempts to communicate. Students registering for this course had to register with a partner.

"Death: The Inevitable" will be taught by Mr. J. Dean Henson. This course, which is a literature course, will acquaint students with different views of death. The study of customs, fears, taboos, and superstitions about death will be studied. Through literature the student then may draw his own opinions about death. "We try to teach our kids how to live but shy away from the most important event in life — death."

Mrs. Margaret Meany will teach "Ecology and Literature", a literature course. The literature of ecology is a study of man's literary outcries for understanding, recognition and action. In this course the student will study man's pleas to his fellow man to: Please listen! Please help! Please act!

Driver's License Examiner's Office Now Open All Week

In order to better serve the Transylvania County area, the Brevard Driver's License Office, located in the jail building, is open on Friday.

Examiner Wilson feels this will help to alleviate the crowded Mondays which he is experiencing.

The urges everyone to be sure and check their driver's license on Friday as they can expire over the weekend.

"The new office hours Monday through Friday, will be 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. with 12:00 to 1:00 p.m. being closed for lunch," states Examiner George Wilson.

While everyone should have their hearing tested annually to prevent an undetected hearing loss, persons working in noisy environments should have their hearing tested at more frequent intervals to be certain a hearing loss does not go undetected, officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation urge.

The first object of art to be accepted by the new Building and Equipment Priorities committee of the Hospital Auxiliary, Transylvania Community Hospital, is a watercolor painting by the well known local artist, Mrs. Beth Mitchell. The painting, approximately 18 by 25 inches, will hang in the Snack Bar off the main lobby.

The purpose of the new committee, according to John W. Bailey, Hospital Administrator, is to accept and submit for approval to the Administrator or the Board of Trustees, all proposed individual gifts of furniture, appliances or art objects to the hospital. This will be done in order that art objects and other gifts may be coordinated with the building decor and original furnishings.

Chairman of the Priorities committee is Mrs. R. M. Thomas, another well-trained and accomplished local artist.

Mrs. Mitchell's gift, a naturalistic painting of the Roy Orr barn on Hannah Ford Road entitled, appropriately, "Roy's Barn," is particularly

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

To The Democrats of
BUNCOMBE AND TRANSYLVANIA COUNTIES

By

Dr. Wilson Lyday

Candidate For The State House of Representatives

I was raised on a farm in Transylvania County and I am a Life-Long Southern Baptist and a Life-Long Democrat. I have practiced medicine as a family physician in Brevard for the past 30 years. My wife Jackie and I have operated a small cattle farm for the past 16 years as a sideline enterprise. Therefore I am vitally interested in the N. C. Agriculture Dept. and in all aspects of farming in Western North Carolina.

I graduated from Western Carolina University at Cullowhee in 1934 as a teacher. I taught and coached football at the former Valley Springs High School in Buncombe County the 1934-35 school year before entering Wake Forest University Medical School in the fall of 1935. My salary for the eight month school term at Valley Springs was Seventy Dollars per month paid by the State of North Carolina. So you can see that I am keenly interested in all phases of public education in North Carolina from our kindergartens to our graduate schools.

We are going to have such tremendous changes in the above two fields in our state over the next twenty years that it could well be called a revolution. These great changes will be based on the realization that there is no limit (in sight at least) to what YOUR youngster's brain can do and can do rapidly if given the proper motivation, opportunity, and discipline.

VOTE for a man for the State House that can see these great changes coming over the next twenty years. —Dr. Wilson Lyday from Brevard, candidate for one of the four seats to the State House of Representatives from the 43rd House District of Buncombe and Transylvania Counties in the MAY 7th DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.
