For The Elderly

Transylvania Is First County In State To Begin New Program

Social Services Director Don Morrison appeared before the County Commissioners at their meeting Tuesday night to discuss plans and a starting date for the Day Activity Program for elderly persons in Transylvania County. This County will be the first in the State to begin this new, federally supported program of day care. The program will be conducted in cooperation with the Transylvania County Recreation Department. There will be two centers — one at Silvermont in Brevard and one in Rosman.

County Commission Chairman Bill Ives reported to his fellow Commissioners that the State Division of Water and Air Resources had completed its study and had presented the Commissioners with a very detailed report showing specific locations for wells in the future for a public water supply. The Commissioners voted to write a letter of thanks to the Department for this extensive work that was done at no cost to the County.

Commissioner John Folger presented a resolution to establish a County Health Council. The purpose of this Council would be to study the existing health facilities and to help plan for the future needs of the County. The resolution passed and then the following seven persons were named as the initial members: Dr. John Truesdail, Chairman; Charles Picklesimer; Mrs. Walter McKelvey; Dr. Glen Matheny; Gordon Kendall; Dr. Don Kimmerring; and Rev. Recreation Director Craig Freas was in the audience and said that he was very eager to help on this project and there seemed to be a general feeling that construction could begin if a suitable site can be found in the near future.
