event that a large number of those attending were tourist and visitors from other areas. Many local people did turn out, but in some instances, they were outnumbered by visitors.

"We tried to have such a variety of events scheduled that there would indeed be 'something for everyone,' and I certainly feel that that was the case," Mr. Matheson noted. "Artistic endeavors in all forms were in evidence, and if you didn't like painting, music, drama or crafts, you could even come down Davidson River in an innertube," he said.

The Festival of Arts was sponsored by the Brevard Chamber of Commerce with many organizations supporting

Department Of Agriculture Issues New Food Stamp Rules

The Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued new regulations for the food stamp program.

The regulations implement amendments to the Food Stamp Act contained in the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 (Public Law 93-86). They also include revisions resulting from the Supreme Court decision that the "tax dependency" and "relatedness" provisions are unconstitutional, and make other necessary changes in the program.

The new regulations will become effective upon publication in the Federal Register, scheduled for Monday, July 15.

States must complete implementation of the new provisions which directly relate to the certification of households by Nov. 1, 1974, for all new applications and any subsequent applications, and by March 1, 1975 for all other households.

The new regulations make the following changes:

- Broaden eligibility categories to include the elderly in federally sponsored housing, and drug addicts and alcoholics in private nonprofit residential treatment facilities.
- Allow the elderly to use food coupons to purchase meals in specified communal dining situations.
- Require states to give welfare recipients the option to have costs of their coupons deducted from their grant and the coupons mailed to them. (States must implement this provision by July 1, 1975).
- Allow recipients affected by the unavoidable breakdown of food stamp equipment to apply for food stamps under emergency eligibility standards.
- Require that income include the actual value of housing received in kind from an employer but not in excess of $50 per month.
- Allow households living in remote areas of Alaska to use food coupons to purchase certain hunting and fishing equipment for procuring food.
- Require that recipients be citizens of the United States or legally permanent residents.
- Ban participation by strikers after a court has determined the strike illegal.
- Reduce from 15 to 10 days the advance notice period given households whose benefits are being reduced or terminated.
- Provide for a standard utility allowance unless the recipient can verify his actual costs.
- Require recipients to report changes in their income and deductions within ten days, if the change is $25 or more. Similarly, states must act on such changes within ten days.
- Prohibit states from using personnel or facilities from either side of a strike or lock-out to certify households for the food stamp program.
- Require that after 30 days from the date of registration for employment all able-bodied food stamp recipients accept jobs outside their major field of experience.

Brevard Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Siniard and granddaughter Gay Rutledge of Kingsport, Tennessee, visited friends and relatives for several days before returning home. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Spouse and Miss Lilly Siniard accompanied them on the return trip.

Local Doctor Keeps Academy Certification

James H. Sanders, Jr., M.D., of the Brevard area has completed continuing education requirements to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Practice.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

The requirements call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership.

The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.
