As You Like It

Ham is chosen for a wide variety of occasions because of its adaptability. Even meat left over can be converted into a distinguished dish that merits a place on the company luncheon table.

Extra ham provides slices for super sandwiches or for pan-frying. Or it can yield cubes that add appetite appeal to salads, soups, omelets and a multitude of entrees termed "casseroles."

Morgan Optimistic; Predicts Election

U.S. Senate Candidate Robert Morgan at a reception in his honor at Transylvania Democratic headquarters in Brevard Tuesday afternoon expressed optimism over the outcome of next week's general election.

"I always feel a little apprehensive before a vote," he said. "But I have every confidence that I'm going to win. I think President Ford in his outrageous statements blaming Democrats for inflation and other national problems has helped me as much as any other one thing."

Also the pardon of Ex-

President Nixon, the surtax plan have helped, Mr. Morgan said. "Just about every time he opens his mouth he helps the Democrats."

The former Attorney General of N.C. has spent many weeks criss-crossing the state, and has visited every county in his campaign for the position now held by Senator Sam J. Ervin Jr., who decided to retire.

"But this week, I'm mainly just going around here and there and leaving the main part of the job to local workers," Mr. Morgan said.

Brevard Housing Authority Dedicates Low-Rent Units

HUD for financial aid in the construction.

Commission members named were L.E. Bagwell, Charles F. Himes, J.I. Ayers, Jack Bryant, and Mr. Hill. Otis Jones later replaced Mr. Bryant.

Cedar Crest Manor with 40 units was developed for elderly and retired persons and is located only a short distance from downtown Brevard at the corner of Oaklawn Ave. and Morgan St.

Beech Crest Manor, which has 14 regular family units is on the corner of Whitmire and Palmer Streets. Balsam Crest Manor, on Hillview St. has 38 units.

Cedar Crest Manor contains a large recreation area, which will also serve as a community center and it will be the site of a small medical clinic to be staffed by the Transylvania Health Dept.

In this building is a kitchen where residents of the low-rent housing will learn to cook and to take care of their new homes.

Said Authority Executive Director Charles Dunlop:

"We not only want to put these folks into better housing, we want to teach them how to benefit more fully, to enjoy and take care of their new homes."

Also in the community center will be a crafts workshop. "This will give our people something to do with their spare time," said Dunlop. "We will be showing movies, slides, and having other programs for them from time to time."

At present only six of the 92 units are not occupied, Mr. Dunlop said.

"And we have a long waiting list of persons wanting to move in."

Currently the largest family within the units has seven members.

Rents are determined by family income, number of persons in the family, and other factors.

Rep. Taylor Asking Farm Price Incentive

"If farmers are not given more financial incentive, many people in this world may eventually go hungry," Congressman Roy A. Taylor declared in a statement Friday.

The 11th District Congressman, seeking reelection on Nov. 5 said that in spite of the large increases in food prices, "most farmers' incomes have not kept pace with the rest of the economy."

"Farmers cannot be blamed for today's high food prices. Even when the farmer is being forced to sell beef animals below production cost, the price at the supermarket remains unreasonably high," Taylor said.

He warned that the farmer cannot continue in the business of producing food unless he receives a reasonable return for his labor and his investment, and, he said, the number of farms in North Carolina and in the nation is declining each year.

"It is plain wrong for consumers to expect farmers to work for 25 per cent less than the rest of the nation. The average farmer today is 55 years of age. His children have left the farm for more profitable and easier employment," said Congressman Taylor.

He added that unless present farm exodus and population increase trends are significantly altered, "a worldwide food crisis—more serious than the energy crisis—may be in the offing. There is a danger of mass starvation throughout the world if food production is not intensified, and population growth not controlled."

I'M CONCERNED!

As a taxpayer and citizen of Transylvania County, I'm concerned that crimes continue at a higher rate with such a small percentage of convictions.

If elected, I pledge to each of you that I will strive fulltime, as a 'Working Sheriff', to increase the rate of convictions by doing the following:

- JOHN J. "JULE" BROWN
- ★ DEPARTMENT TRAINING AND SKILLS
    - A. All deputies will be encouraged to take courses beyond the basic course.
    - B. See deputies have proper schooling in:
      - conduct toward citizens
      - apprehension and arrest procedures
      - breathalyzer operation and booking procedure
      - serving summons, warrants and legal papers
      - treatment and care of prisoners
      - marking and identifying personal property
    - C. To continue the development of new skills and improvement of older skills during entire time in office.
  - ★ PLANS POSITIVE ADMINISTRATION
    - Believes costs can be lowered while service is improved.

- Would keep public better informed of Sheriff Department activities.
- Would allow county cars be used only for official business.
- Would offer education to citizens and solicit their help in crime prevention.
- ★ EFFICIENT POLICE PROTECTION
  - Willing to cooperate fully with Brevard Police Department and other law enforcement agencies.
  - Expects to organize auxiliary deputies groups for help in contingencies.
  - Plan and help develop joint investigative unit.
  - Effective investigation and prosecution of drug users and distributors.
