Times Will Go Twice Weekly

Beginning next week The Transylvania Times will be published twice weekly—each Monday and Thursday evening—according to Clyde K. Osborne, editor.

The move comes at the request of advertisers and subscribers and has been in the planning stages for several weeks. It is felt that the semi-weekly publication schedule will benefit both subscribers and advertisers, and will stimulate reader interest and business in the Brevard area.

All subscriptions received through Wednesday, Nov. 13, will be honored for the full term. Increased rates for new subscriptions or renewals go into effect today.

Advertising deadlines will be noon Saturday for Monday's paper and Wednesday afternoon for the Thursday edition.

Weather

By Fred Reiter

During the past week, Brevard temperatures averaged 65 and 31 each day, with the week's highest reading being 70 degrees on Sunday afternoon. Low reading for the week was Monday morning's reading of 23 degrees. Snow was reported in at least one area of the county on Tuesday afternoon.

Extended outlook for Thursday through Saturday: chance of rain west Thursday and across the state Friday and Saturday. Cool daytime temperatures with highs around 50 mountains, ranging to mid 60s southeast. Moderating night time temperatures with lows from the 20s mountains to near 40 coast Thursday, warming to 30s mountains and 40s elsewhere Saturday.

Brevard weather data for the week was as follows:

Date	High	Low	Prec.
Nov. 6	67	33	0.00
Nov. 7	62	37	0.00
Nov. 8	66	37	0.00

Ives Says He Has No More Jail Plans

County Commission Chairman Bill Ives Tuesday expressed his disappointment that the jail bond issue did not pass in the recent election.

When asked what the commissioners would now do about a new jail, he said, "I will follow the mandate of the people and do absolutely nothing about constructing a new jail. I feel very strongly about the democratic process and since the people have voted not to have a jail built, no effort will be made to construct one."

In response to the question "what if the jail is now condemned and padlocked by the State?" Chairman Ives said, "This will throw a different light on the subject."

"We will, of course, temporarily have to provide transportation to house the prisoners in nearby jail facilities. It would then be our duty to restudy the question and most probably resubmit a bond issue to the people."

He was also asked why the commissioners had not built a jail when they found funds to buy a 1949 elementary school building and the old post office and were providing funds to renovate both structures.

To this, he said, "We have, as Commissioners, been provided with unique opportunities. The old post office suddenly came up for sale. If we had not bought it and used it as a library, it would have been sold for some non-public purpose and we felt it was too valuable to slip from public use."

"At nearly the same time, we were asked to help the school board by purchasing the elementary building from

Arson And Burglary Charges Face Man

A young Sapphire man is being held in Transylvania County jail in lieu of $11,900 bond on charges of burglary and arson, Sheriff's Investigator James Stroup said Tuesday.

The officer said that James Jackson Fisher was arrested late Friday and charged with taking $400 from the wallet of Clifford Reid while the man slept in his home at Sapphire.

The arson charges, Investigator Stroup said, resulted from three woods fires set between noon and dark near the Jelly House at Sapphire.

Mr. Stroup said that another suspect is being sought in connection with the fires.

Mr. Fisher also faces charges of assault on a female, the officer told The Times.

Concerning the woods fires, Investigator Stroup said, "We have had such incidents running out our ears for several weeks. It has been a bad year for woods fires, because it has been so dry."

He appealed to the public to report such fires immediately to proper authorities, and to report possible arson in such cases also.

few brief speeches.

Said Ives: "This may well be the first of a number of buildings within a new governmental center." He referred to the possibility of the school buildings across Morgan Street from the library being used by various agencies after they are vacated in December.

Mrs. Cecil Hill, vice president of the library's Board of Trustees, told Mr. Ives, and Mayor Charles Campbell of Brevard:

"We are deeply grateful to you for providing the money and the furnishings for this fine facility. You proved yourselves responsive to the needs of the citizens of this

1974 Yule Parade Set December 2

Plans for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here were announced at the Chamber's regular monthly meeting Tuesday night in the council room of the Brevard Municipal Building.

Dr. Wilburn Davis, chairman of the upcoming event, announced that the banquet will be held on Friday, Feb. 21, at the Brevard College cafeteria.

It will start at 7 p.m., featuring outstanding speaker-entertainer John Ed Davis of Shelby as the principal speaker.

Dr. Davis stated that Mr. Davis was outstanding in his field, and that the Chamber was most fortunate to secure his talents for the banquet.

It was also announced that Brevard's annual Christmas parade, sponsored by the Merchants Division of the Chamber, will be held on Monday, Dec. 2, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

The parade theme this year will be "Good Will Toward Men", and all clubs and organizations are urged to participate by entering a float

Operation Resumes At Plant

Wheels, idled for six weeks, began turning again Monday at the giant Olin industrial complex at Pisgah Forest as the strike of Local 1971 United Paperworkers International Union came to an end.

The workers voted overwhelmingly Sunday afternoon in favor of accepting a contract worked out by company representatives and agents of Union Local 1971. More than 1,800 hourly workers had been out on strike.

The vote in favor of ratifying the new proposal was 1,117 to 377. The employees of Ecusta Paper Division reported on their regular shifts beginning at 8 a.m. Monday. Film Division employees were contacted by their supervisors as to starting time.

Federal Mediator Eugene Garrey of Charlotte had called the committee back into session at the Holiday Inn in Hendersonville last Wednesday at 3 p.m. The proposal hammered out at the meeting was presented to the union members on Friday.

Settlement of the strike was announced jointly by the chairman of the bargaining committees: Paul D. Seagle, president of Local 1971; and Arthur Beddoe, Director of Industrial Relations at Olin's Ecusta Paper and Film division plants.

Joining Seagle in presenting details of the proposal to Union members at two meetings were other officers and members of the bargaining committee:

Serving with Beddoe on Olin's bargaining committee were Robert G. Cunningham, Jr., Robert H. Dowis, Jr., William F. Huffman, C. Cleaves Johnson, James G. Strong and J. Robert Robinson.

Promptly after result of the vote was announced Sunday, pickets were withdrawn from the plant entrance.

Turn Lanes At Schools Approved

N.C. Secondary Roads Councilman Charles Taylor announced Wednesday that his office has obtained approval from the Department of Transportation for construction of both east and west turn lanes for the new Brevard schools located on U.S. 276.

Mr. Taylor said that he had been working for the lanes to get traffic coming to and from schools out of the main flow of traffic and thereby reduce the possibility of accidents at the school entrance.

Construction for the turn lanes should begin as soon as rights-of-way are obtained.

Mrs. McMahon Winner In Complete Vote Count

Final and official returns from Transylvania County's unique two-day election last week show Mrs. Marian M. McMahon, the incumbent Republican as winner in the race for Clerk of Court.

Her total vote was 3,070, two short of a 400 majority over her Democratic opponent, Mrs. Jean Hooper, who garnered 2,672 votes.

The Clerk of Court race was the only one left in doubt after the first day of voting when The Times went to press last week.

The second day of voting was necessitated when one voting machine at Brevard No. 1 precinct, and the voting machine at Eastatoe malfunctioned.

An all-out drive was made by the Elections Board, workers in the precincts, party workers, and the sheriff's department to notify the persons who had used those machines to return to vote again on Wednesday.

At Brevard Precinct No. 1, officials said, 268 persons had used the malfunctioning machine on Tuesday. Of this number 100 came back Wednesday and voted by marking ballots.

At Eastatoe, 319 persons voted Tuesday, and 304 were contacted to return to the polls on Wednesday.

William Leonard, secretary of the Board of Elections, said agents of the State Bureau of Investigation were in Transylvania following the machines' malfunction to check on the incident.

They found nothing except machines which would not tally votes, Mr. Leonard said. The occurrence was believed to be unique in N.C. voting history.

Milford Hubbard, the incumbent and Democratic sheriff, proved to be the high vote getter in Transylvania's election, polling 4,098 in the official count. John J. Brown, Republican who opposed him, got 1,631.

Democrats claimed both seats on the School Board also, with Dr. Jerry Cabe the high man with 3,831 votes, followed by Board Chairman Eugene M. Morris who claimed 3,222 in the final count. They defeated Republicans Gerald E. Deaver with 2,199 votes and Mrs. Betty A. McGuire who
