

A GROUP of Rosman High School students has just completed a nine-week mini-science class in Taxidermy for which they'll get one-fourth unit credit. Shown with their fish, animals and other stuffed critters are Instructor Dwight Howell, Gary Chapman, Teresa McCall, Karen Owen, and Nelson Fisher.

Keith Chappell with his mounted deer head and squirrel. Instructor Dwight Howell said this youngster has a real talent for taxidermy.

Frank Jones and Valerie Wilson work on their fish.

R. C. Wise Promoted By Olin

Robert C. Wise has been promoted to financial analyst in the Controller's Department of Olin Corporation's Fine Paper and Film Group, according to Marvin Johnson, controller.

R. C. WISE

Wise was supervisor of manufacturing cost accounting in the Film Division Financial Analysis section prior to his new appointment.

Before joining Olin as cost accountant in April 1970, he worked with E. I. DuPont in Waynesboro, Va., and with the American Enka Corporation.

A native of Candler, he completed schools at Enka and entered Western North Carolina University at Cullowhee. He graduated with a B. S. degree in Business Administration.

He is a member of Laurel Hill Methodist Church at Candler and Lee Lodge 209, Masonic Order, at Waynesboro.

He is married to the former Carolyn Warren of Candler. Mr. and Mrs. Wise have three children and live at Horse Shoe.

Veterinarians Vie For Schools

It's hard enough to get into medical schools these days, but students seeking admission to veterinary colleges have an even harder row to hoe.

Latest statistics show that 1 in every 2.7 students applying are now accepted by the nation's medical schools. Veterinary colleges, on the other hand, have room for only 1 in every 7.4 applicants.

The crunch is so bad at Kansas State University, says one official, that some of the state's students have sought admission to a veterinary college which KSU helped organize recently in Nigeria.

Average enrollment in the nation's 19 veterinary colleges is now about 325.

STUFFED CELERY SNACKS

Florida celery stuffed with a smartly seasoned mixture is not only most appetizing, but eases calorie-counting guilt feelings because the celery itself has only 3 or 4 calories per rib.

To prepare celery for stuffing, separate ribs and wash well. Remove coarse leaves, but keep intact any young tender inside leaves. Let stand in salted ice water for about 3 hours or until crisp. Dry ribs with paper towel; cut in serving lengths and stuff.

There are, however, calories in a stuffing as rich as this: Blend 8 ounces softened cream cheese, 1/4 cup crumbled Roquefort cheese, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts and a dozen drops of hot pepper sauce. This mixture fills about 9 ribs cut in 3-inch lengths.

Equally good, but comparatively low in calories is this stuffing: Combine 1 cup dry cottage cheese, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons red caviar and 1/16 teaspoon crushed garlic. Stuff into crisp ribs.

When you think of prescriptions, think of VARNER'S. adv.

REPORT FROM U.S. Senator JESSE HELMS

WASHINGTON—Just before the Congress went home for its Easter recess, a piece of legislation was passed which will result in piling another enormous chunk of Federal debt upon the backs of the working American taxpayers. Nobody is certain just what this one piece of legislation will cost. Estimates range from $25 billion up to $40 billion.

This legislation was raw politics at its worst. Even Senators who supported it were admitting that it was a "Christmas tree"—or, as one of them described it, "an Easter basket." I wish the American people could examine this legislation, and understand the harm it will do to them in terms of inflation and taxation.

GIVE-AWAY—It was the old give-away philosophy, gone wild. Millions of Federal checks will be mailed out. All sorts of tax concessions were written into the law in an obvious effort to buy votes in the next election.

I am proud that most of the North Carolinians writing to me were not fooled by the promises of something-for-nothing. They understand the bad economics of this legislation. They understand that, as a result of this legislation, their food bills—in fact, the prices they pay for everything—will go up.

HYPOCRISY—What bothers me most, however, is the hypocrisy of some people in public office. Some of the most pious speeches about inflation are made by the very Senators and Congressmen who voted for this kind of legislation.

When voting records are checked, it becomes clear that the very people in the Congress who have caused inflation are the very ones who go home and make the loudest speeches against inflation.

They can't have it both ways. If they are really concerned about inflation, then they must stop voting for every big-spending appropriation proposal that comes down the pike. They must join the small minority of us who have been fighting for cutting spending and a balanced Federal budget.

AMENDMENT—In the midst of the debate on this measure, I sent forward an amendment to put the matter in perspective. I did not expect my amendment to pass, and it didn't. But it did serve to put the debate in perspective.

My amendment called for a reduction in the salaries of Senators, Congressmen and Cabinet Officers. I proposed to reduce our salaries by the exact percentage that the Federal Government fails to balance its budget.

I frankly told the Senate that this was an opportunity for Senators to put up or shut up. If we really want to do something to stop inflation, then we must balance the budget. And if the Congress doesn't want to face up to its responsibility, then I feel that we ought to be penalized.

Only 19 Senators voted for my amendment, which was about what I had expected. One "liberal" Senator came over to my desk in a rage. "Look here," he said, "I can't make ends meet on what I'm making—and here you are proposing that my salary be cut."

I suggested to him that he could always resign from the Senate, if his $42,500-a-year salary wasn't adequate. Moreover, I suggested that he think about the hard-working taxpayers who earn only a fraction of what Senators are paid.

When he voted against my amendment, he literally shouted.

Jail Letter Is Released

—Continued From Page One so long a time these deficiencies still exist and continue to constitute a threat to the safety and security of persons confined, this agency can no longer bear the responsibility for continued operation of the facility.

Therefore I will recommend to the Secretary of the Department of Human Resources that the Transylvania County jail be closed effective July 1, 1975. The closure procedure will be followed in compliance with G. S. 153A-223.

Ample time, I feel, is being afforded you in this matter in that you may make alternate arrangements for housing Transylvania County inmates, and I trust that planning will progress at an early date for a new facility in order that the county will not be inconvenienced for an unduly long time.

Sincerely,

Woodburn Williams, Head Jail and Detention Branch

Where's The Salad Bowl? California, Arizona, and Texas produce about 90% of the nation's lettuce supply.

Spuds To The Rescue

In a new approach to non-chemical weed control, researchers are exploring the natural ability of potatoes to crowd out pesky weeds.

When you think of prescriptions, think of VARNER'S. adv.

Student Art Workshops

CULLOWHEE — Art workshops for high school students will again be offered by the Western Carolina University Art Department from 10 a.m. until 12 noon each Saturday, April 12 - May 31.

Ray Menze of the WCU art faculty will instruct students in still life and figure drawing, watercolor painting, outdoor sketching, collage, and printmaking.

Enrollment will be limited to 20 students on a first-come, first-served basis. A fee of $25 will include all supplies. The eight-week workshop will end with an exhibit and reception on June 1.

Interested persons should contact the Art Department by telephoning 293-7210, or send their check payable to Junior Art Workshop, care of Department of Art, Western Carolina University, Cullowhee, N. C. 28723.

Spring Stocker Sales

The dates for the Spring Stocker Sales in Western North Carolina are as follows: April 8, Canton, 10:00 a.m.; April 15, Asheville, 10:00 a.m. This year holstein steers will be sold at the stocker sales. All cattle will be graded and sized by weight. They must be castrated and dehorned. Farmers are reminded that their cattle must be checked in at the stock yards the day before the sale.

DO IT NOW Ladies! Kilpatrick & Sons Upholstery Co. DO IT NOW Ladies!

653 7th Ave. East

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C.

Annual Pre-Spring RE-UPHOLSTERING SALE WE SERVE ALL OF WNC DISCOUNT

SPECIAL

1975 PATTERNS — ORDERED MONTHS AGO — ARE ARRIVING & WE ARE CAUGHT SHORT OF STORAGE SPACE. WE NEED HELP NOW!! CALL AT ONCE!!! NOW!!! WE MUST SELL!!! CALL TODAY!

33 1/3 to 50% off

On 3 to 15 yd. remnants. Large enough for sofas & small 2-pc. suites, of Nylon, Herculon, Orlon, Linen, Vinyls, Tapestries, Damask, Brocades, Matelasses, Tweeds, Plaids, Floral, Solids, Stripes. WHILE THEY LAST.

20% OFF

ON ALL 1974 FABRICS IN STOCK & MANY SELECTIONS

10% OFF

On all 1975 Winter Patterns SENSATIONAL OFFER

EXTRA SPECIAL — ONE WEEK ONLY

GUARANTEED 7 DAY DELIVERY

FOR THE DIFFICULT — a very short TIME FOR THE IMPOSSIBLE — just a little LONGER

RESTYLE — REDESIGN — REBUILDS — REUPHOLSTERS — REFINISHES FROM INFORMAL EARLY AMERICAN - All the way - TO FORMAL CLASSIC TRADITIONAL

REGULGS & REDOWELS

FRAMES

RESETS & RETIES

SPRINGS

ADDS NEW

FOAM RUBBER

COTTON - FELT

HAIR - EXCELSIOR

DACRON

PADDING

WHERE NEEDED

NEWEST

FABRICS & VINYL

NYLON VINYL

HERCULON POLYESTER

ORLON ACETATE

LINEN VISCOSE

SILK

SPUN & FILAMENT RAYON

COMBED & MERGERIZED

COTTON FIBERS

LATEST

WEAVES & TEXTURES

BROCADES VELVETS

DAMASKS TAPESTRIES

BROCADELLES MATELASSES

FORMAL & MODERN

PATTERNS

SOLIDS PLAIDS

STRIPES TWEEDS

FLORALS

100% Customer Satisfaction

Antiques Our Speciality

Call Collect 692-3686

Kilpatrick & Sons Upholstery Co.

653 7th Ave. East

Hendersonville, N. C.

