

THE DAILY INDEPENDENT

1908 COMBINED WITH THE INDEPENDENT, A WEEKLY ESTABLISHED BY W. O. SAUNDERS IN 1908 1936

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1936.

MARITIME FORECAST

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh north-west winds, diminishing and fair weather Monday.

SINGLE COPY 5 CENTS

THE WEATHER

Forecast for North Carolina: Fair and clear Monday; Tuesday generally fair.

No Warrant For Munden's Arrest Follows Sensational Confession To The Officers

His Employers Must Prefer Charges, If Any

An Empty Bill Fold

As to All of His Pocket-Books When Searched at Hospital

Charles Munden, who is recovering from a serious wound suffered in a fight with a man named Williams, and which he himself says was self-inflicted, is in a hospital where he is recovering rapidly. It is reported that he has no money on his person and that he has no pockets in his clothing. The police are reported to have searched his pockets and found them empty. It is also reported that Munden has confessed to the officers that he has no money and that he has no pockets in his clothing. The police are reported to have searched his pockets and found them empty. It is also reported that Munden has confessed to the officers that he has no money and that he has no pockets in his clothing.

TODAY'S LOCAL CALENDAR

A. M.
8:30—Men's Christian Federation.
10:00—Superior court opens.
12:00—Red Cross canvassers' luncheon. First Baptist Educational building.
P. M.
1:00—Rotary club.
3:30—First Methodist W.M.S.
4:00—First Baptist Jr. G. A.
7:30—Peachontas; Kiwanis Jr. Glee club.
8:00—American Legion.
Library Hours: 10-12, 2-6.

Blucher, Jr. To Be Sworn In This Noon

Will Be Inducted Into the State Bar by Judge W. L. Small

With his mother, father, grandfather and several high State officials looking on and beaming their approval, Join Christoph Blucher Ehringhaus, Jr., son of Governor and Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, will take the oath of an attorney before Superior Court Judge Walter L. Small in the Pasquotank County courthouse today around noon.

Judge Small said last night that the hour of the induction ceremony probably would be around 12 o'clock since a party from Raleigh that is scheduled to be present can not reach here before 11 o'clock today.

While Judge Small, a former law partner of Governor Ehringhaus, is scheduled to deliver the oath, he indicated last night that he would extend that courtesy to the Governor if His Excellency would accept.

It being customary for some person, an attorney or the father of the applicant, as a rule, to present an applicant for a license to practice law in the courts of North Carolina, Governor Ehringhaus, himself, will probably present young Blucher.

Among those who will witness (Continued on page eight)

Negotiations To End Strike Are Resumed

Secretary Perkins Hopeful of a Fair and Just Settlement

Washington, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Negotiations between shipowners and union leaders looking toward settlement of the Pacific coast maritime strike will be resumed at San Francisco tomorrow, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced tonight.

"I am hopeful that a resumption of negotiations will result in the parties to the maritime dispute reaching a fair and just settlement of their differences," Miss Perkins said.

The secretary made the announcement after talking by telephone with her assistant, Edward F. McGrady, who is in charge of the labor department's conciliation efforts on the west coast.

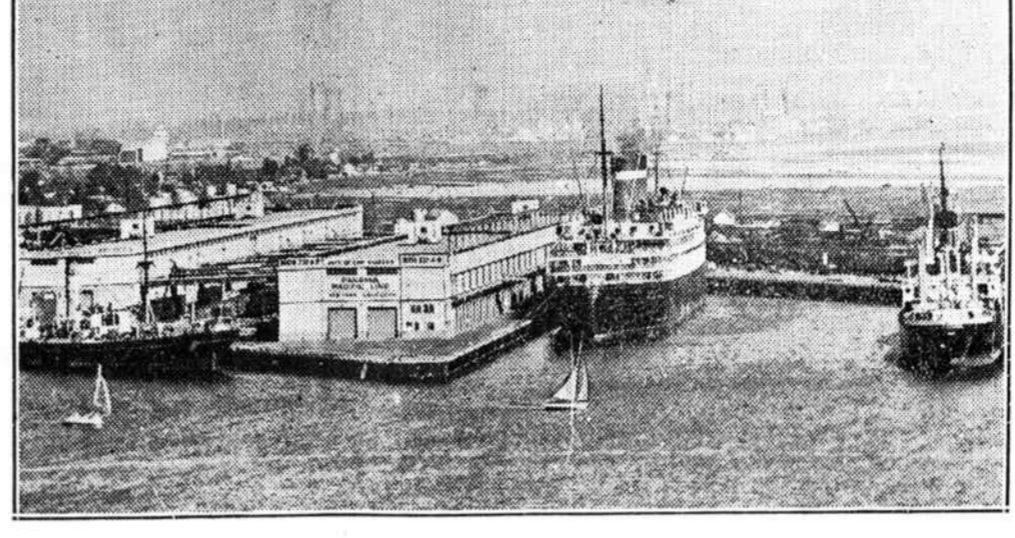

McGrady has been working ceaselessly to bring the warring factions together and Miss Perkins said tonight that "the department of labor stands ready to aid in every possible way to bring about a speedy adjustment in the interests of the general public and the parties directly concerned."

The secretary said McGrady, a "trouble shooter" of the department, "has all the authority I think is necessary for mediation and conciliation" and that she had full confidence in his ability to handle the negotiations. She did not anticipate any necessity for direct intervention in the crisis by President Roosevelt.

It has been indicated that strong federal pressure for settlement of the current strike would be brought upon the shipowners involved, under the maritime commission's broad authority, unless the deadlock is broken soon.

Secretary Perkins prepared, meanwhile, for a discussion of general labor problems tomorrow with two governors and representatives from 39 states in a conference called to propose desirable legislation for the nation's workers. She said purpose of this conference, the third of its kind, was to "exchange information among the states to promote a sensible program" for labor legislation.

As Idle as a Painted Ship Upon a Painted Harbor

UPWARD of 50 ships crowded dock and anchorage facilities in Los Angeles, Cal., harbor, as the sea-men's strike gripped the waterfront. Here are some of the ships tied up in the harbor.

'Madrid Is Ours' Is Rebels' Claim

Insurgents Invade the Suburbs of Capital

Violent Fighting

Inhabitants Pour Boiling Water and Burning Oil On the Invaders

Seville, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Rebel General Gonzalo Queipo De Llano announced tonight over the radio: "After today's advance on the Madrid front, our troops are only 2.1 miles from the Puerta Del Sol." The square he mentioned is in the heart of Madrid.

"Madrid is ours. Viva Espana!" Queipo De Llano continued. He said that during today's air bombings the insurgents had tried to respect embassies and hospitals.

The Nationalist militia he announced, had advanced in the direction of Casa Campos, but was driven back after a fierce hand-to-hand encounter.

Loyalist planes, he continued, unsuccessfully attempted to bomb Getafe. Numerous small points in the vicinity of Madrid, he added, were taken at the bayonet point.

Queipo De Llano said the children, old persons, and foreigners in Madrid would be respected by the Rebels, but added: "However, the Nationalist command will treat harshly all bearing arms or who have borne arms against the Nationalists."

"Madrid citizens, throw down your arms and return home. Stay there and you will not be in danger. All found in homes without arms will be respected."

Red X Head

Dr. E. H. Potts, pastor of the First Baptist church, is chairman again this year of the local Red Cross roll call, which gets under way today. Says Dr. Potts: "The roll call begins today and will continue until the day before Thanksgiving Day. Let's everyone join immediately and thus enable the workers to close on time without any great rush. Join the Red Cross."

Freighter Isis Believed Lost With All Hands

Hamburg-American Line Ship Comes To Grief In Rough Gale Off the English Coast.

London, Monday, Nov. 9.—(U.P.) The Hamburg-American freighter Isis was believed to have foundered in a gale about 200 miles off the English coast today, and it was feared all hands were lost.

The Isis, a Hamburg-American liner, sent out a distress call at 1:15 p. m. giving its position as about 200 miles off the English coast in the Atlantic.

The steamer wireless that its hatches were stove in and that water was pouring into the holds. Mackay reported that the British steamer S. S. Seminole was racing to the scene from 60 miles away.

The Westernland radioed it was searching the water for lifeboats but was hampered by darkness.

Show Boat To Skip N. C. and Try The South

N. C. Taxes Too High; the Floating Theater to Try New Territory

The news that the Original Floating Theater will skip Elizabeth City and North Carolina entirely this fall and will venture into virgin show boat territory further south for the first time was announced last night by Charles Hunter, impresario of the show boat, who was passing through Elizabeth City on his way south.

The floating theater, which has been playing here at least once every 18 months since it was built, and which wintered here for a number of years, left Onancock, Va., yesterday and is now on its way to Charleston, S. C., where it will play an engagement.

Mr. Hunter is on his way to Florida, and if the prospects are bright, the show boat will go from Charleston into Georgia and down perhaps as far as Jacksonville, Fla. It has never before been south of Wilmington, but now that the inland waterway from Wilmington to Charleston has been opened, Mr. Hunter and the owners decided to try the Southern territory.

"We are cutting out North Carolina this fall," said Mr. Hunter, "because, as I have stated before, the taxes in this state are so high we cannot make expenses."

Roosevelt Inaugural January 20th To Be Greatest In History

Washington to Loosen Up and Make Whoopee

Depression Is Over

Capital Expects a Capacity Crowd of a Hundred Thousand or More

Washington, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—A nation which gave Franklin Delano Roosevelt the staunchest vote of confidence ever tendered an American President tonight prepared to make his second inauguration one of the greatest celebrations of its kind in history.

Under the Norris "lame-duck" legislation, the inauguration will be held on January 20 this year instead of on March 4 as in the past, and newly elected senators and congressmen will take their seats on January 5. Whether Mr. Roosevelt will send his message on the state of the nation and budget estimates to Congress in its early days, as usual, or wait until after his inauguration, has not yet been announced.

Price Rise in Cotton Expected

New York Expert Foresees a Bullish Cotton Market

New York, Nov. 8.—(U.P.)—Benjamin Adler, cotton expert, tonight foresaw a bullish cotton market and predicted a rise in cotton prices because of expanding world consumption and the earliest harvest in history.

"Private crop estimates have been mounting in size since last week but cotton has failed to yield in price," he said. "Since August 3, when the first official estimate of the season appeared, until now, the market has fluctuated within a range of some 50 points. . . . Fear seems to be giving way to optimism and hope the world over, and this is especially true of cotton."

"The large ginnings of over 8,500,000 bales reported by the government as of October 17 gave rise to the belief in many quarters that the crop had been underestimated, while few have recognized these figures with the largest percentag picked and ginned to that date of any year on record."

"The use of early maturing varieties, the intense, forcing heat of the summer and the improved methods of getting the crop out are responsible for the earliest harvest in history. Unless a miracle has happened . . . the crop is not larger than the last bureau report made it."

"The outlook for cotton prices is bullish due to an advancing commodity price level and expanding world consumption which should increase more than 10 per cent over last season."

Weather Statistics

	Nov. 8	Nov. 7
	Sun.	Sat.
TEMPERATURE
Range for Nov.	53.20	35.20
Range 10 days	62.00	58.00
Range 30 days	62.00	54.00
Range 90 days	55.00	56.00
Range 120 days	8.80	2.80
Average for year	60.60	60.60
Barometer		30.18
PRECIPITATION (in inches)
Range for Nov.	2.60	2.60
Range 10 days	0.93	0.20
Range 30 days	1.43	1.40
Total for year	52.75	52.75
Normal for year	47.50	47.50
Normal for Jan.	4.45	4.82
Normal for Nov.	5.50	5.50
Normal for City
Normal for State

Monday, Nov. 9
4:00 a.m. p.m.
6:00 a.m. 11:15 10:13 10:25
11:15 11:45 9:12 9:53 10:35

Tuesday, Nov. 10
6:00 a.m. 11:15 11:02 11:09
11:09 9:42 4:35 10:42 10:49