THE DEMOCRATIC VICTORIES IN THE WEST.

The elections in the West last week were signal triumphs for the Democrats. The Mayor's election in Chicago was an overwhelming Republican defeat. In the last election they carried everything before them. and now the tide has changed and inspired the Democratic party with new hope and courage. In other parts of the West, and particularly in Ohio. the same flood tide of Democracy prevails. What is the cause of all this? lar mind? The cause is a in natural causes. The people were deceived by the Republican leaders. They were promised better times, greater prosperity and more money. They were promised bread and were given a stone, and the people their false friends. History will repeat itself at the next National election and the lesversed.

With this prospect before us on guard but those of stalwart convictions, and with a history that cannot be misunderstood.

No parties are perfect and without fault, but in balancing street. accounts no political party has such a record as the Democratic party, or a grander array of home in Windsor last Monday. great party leaders? From the earliest period of our history they have been foremost in every good word and work. The party has a vitality that bee, of Wallaceton, formerly of Camnone can compare with, and den, gave us a brief call this week. unless all the lessons of our his-republican government. Looking at home we find North Carolina in a leprous embrace with an incompetent herd that have brought the administration of the State and for Washington, N. C., where she local governments into disgrace. The people of the State everywhere feel it. They will woman, departed this life near here change it or the consequences of mis anagement will be an incalculable calamity.

THE MISSISSIPPI FLOODS.

The floods of the Mississippi river are without abatement and the prophets are all at sea Towns are inundated in every direction. Houses are washed away and their wretched tenants are flying to every available place of safety. Some are huddled with flocks and herds upon the higher places, and themselves or their cattle, are Is it the instability of the populappealing for assistance, for humanity's sake. It is truly fundemental one and founded distressing to hear their piteous appeals for help and charity.
