

It's Bicycle Overhauling Time.

You can't do much riding at present, the weather is too uncertain. Why not bring your wheel to us and have it thoroughly overhauled, cleaned, repaired, oiled, and properly adjusted, the cost will be very small, and we feel certain you will be well repaid the first ride you take.

By experience we are taught that bicycles, as watches, must have proper attention to insure the best service, they should not be allowed to run to long without cleaning, though they are apparently in first class condition.

Our work-shop which is most complete, is under our personal supervision and we will assure you, your work will be done in a manner that will please and cause you to remember us when such is needed on your wheel.

Thinking you for your patronage, we await your commands and remain,
Very Respectfully,
HATHAWAY BROS.

LOCAL NEWS.

We had a call on Friday from Mr. Percy McMullan, of Hertford, who contemplates settling in this city to practice law. We predict his success.

These halcyon days of the reign of Gentle Annie are bright, balmy and beautiful, and all the more so for the rude blasts of Boreas of a recent date.

Mr. George W. Pendleton, of Norfolk, a native and former resident of this county, made us a pleasant call on Monday. He is here visiting relatives.

Joseph D. Stevens, a well known citizen of Indiantown, Camden county, departed this life on Monday, aged about 50 years. He had been sick for some time.

Dr. Albert Newton, the Oculist, presented us with a pair of eyeglasses on Tuesday, that are delicious to look through, and have added much to our comfort. Thanks.

Do we ever outlive our fondness for a monkey and a hand organ? We don't. This week, we had to stop on Main street to live over our boyhood for a few happy moments.

As we read the signs ahead of us, the opening of the new century in 1900, will show us things that will make glad the hearts of the dwellers in this community. New enterprises.

Solicitor G. W. Ward, returned from Washington, N. C., on Friday, where he went to prosecute the State Docket. He had a pleasant time, in the court and out of it, and expresses his gratification at the polite and kind reception that he met with.

We wish some of our friends in the legislature would send us a copy of the bill granting to Elizabeth City the right to issue bonds for the improvement of the town. We are frequently asked for information about it, but have never seen the full bill.

The Raleigh Christian Advocate, the new organ of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church South, was issued on February 15th. Its editorial management is by Rev. Dr. T. N. Ivey. Its capital stock is $10,000. It is ably edited and will doubtless be a great success.

We had a kind and interesting letter, one day last week, from Rev. R. J. Walker, formerly rector of Christ Church, this city. He and his household are well and pleasantly situated in St. Thomas Parish, near Charleston, S. C. He has kind and tender memories of his old parishioners, and sends kind regards to them.

There were some errors of nomenclature last week in our article on the prize essays at the "Edenton Academy." "Jack" should have been "Harry," and Dick's historical essay should have been on "Sir Walter Raleigh" instead of other things. "Twernt" is what "done" it.

Mr. J. Norman Whitehurst, son of Capt. Whitehurst, made us a pleasant call on Monday. He is one of the Naval Reserves and was at the New Bern Fair last week. He gives a glowing account of the fair and of the competitive drill in which our company won the prize, and he was pleased with the manner and matter of Mrs. Holister's graceful address in presenting the flag to the Naval Reserves.

Mrs. R. B. Creecy Jr., and son, John, of Salem, this county, are in the city visiting her parents.

Miss Mattie Brothers, of this city, is taking a special course at the Ryland Institute, Norfolk, Va.

Mr. George W. Brothers has accepted a position on the staff of the Virginian-Pilot, as correspondent from this city. Mr. Brothers is one of our best and most popular citizens and we congratulate the Virginian-Pilot on the acquisition.

Mrs. C. C. Pool, our new post-mistress, entered upon the duties of the office on Wednesday. We shall make no factious opposition to her administration of the responsible position, and we are sure she will do her best to satisfy the public.

The great master bivalve, known as the oyster, who keeps his mouth shut when Commissioner Allen shows himself, need not feel hurt when Allen sticks a knife in his mouth. Be quiet, honey, he don't mean any harm by it, and if he does swallow you, he can't bite you, for he's got no biters.

F. H. Zeigler, the Economist's first devil boy, now one of our best and most prominent citizens, and our foremost sportsman, altho a successful business man, was in to see us Saturday and told us more about game birds and bird dogs, in an hour's talk, than we ever knew before in a life time of observation.

Several questions are unsettled among us: Is the disease prevailing among us contagious or epidemic? Is it of a mild or virulent type? We wish the boys of the A. C. I., who are members of the Gaston Society, would tackle the questions in debate, and lead us out of the wilderness of controversy into the clear sunlight of truth.

We had a pleasant call on Tuesday from one of our best friends, Mrs. Mary S. Midgett, of Rodantha, Dare county. She is one of those "mothers in Israel," who looketh after the whole household of children and grandchildren, shares all their cares, rejoices in all their happiness and sheds a ray of sunshine over the family circle.

Samuel T. Ansell, of Currituck county, graduated at West Point on February 15, in a class of 72 cadets. He graduated No. 31 in the class. Considering the disadvantages under which Cadet Ansell labored when he entered the Military Academy, his rank at graduating, was a very creditable one. James A. Woodruff, of Vermont, took No. 1. The graduates will be assigned to their regiments.

T. J. Murdan, Jr., one of Betsy's boys abroad, who has been living in New Orleans, where he went from Natchez, Mississippi, for several years, is visiting his parents and friends in his old home. Tom was once our pupil under the cypress tree, in days long gone, and remembers his old school master with kindly feelings. We met him on the street and he will be in to see us in a few days.

We are raising our ears to hear the monster steam whistles making their way to South Mills to enter the D. S. Canal. We invite them to take a rest here and brace up. They will find here open hands and hospitable hearts. Betsy took her first steps in walking from the old canal, and she turns to it in hope to help her now in her mature manhood on her march of destiny. We look for the grand reopening of the old waterway in March or April.

The new owners of the Seaboard Air Line at its Northern connection on Chesapeake Bay, The Baltimore Steam Packet Company, are carrying out plans in Baltimore which indicates that their policy will be as that of the former company. Work is in progress on extensive wharves and warehouses on Light street, which will be used by the Old Bay Line for its passenger business as soon as they are completed. The wharves are nearly 300 feet in length and give ample accommodation for the large steamers of the company. The buildings will include offices and waiting rooms and will have a large storage capacity. The work is being done under the supervision of General Manager John R. Sherwood, and is being pushed ahead as rapidly as possible. In addition to the new wharf the Old Bay Line will also have its extensive wharves at Union Dock, giving it two terminals in Baltimore for the use of its fleet, which comprises five large and powerful steamers.

The industrial conditions in the North and the South approximate in similarity. The cotton planter at the South is struggling against impoverishment by raising cotton in the field and the manufacturer by weaving it in the factory. They have got to get together or starve.

The representative of the Eco-nomist will be at Currituck Court next week, and we hope the courtesies and the kindness that he has heretofore received, will be again shown him. For nearly twenty-eight years the Economist has been identified with Currituck county, and we have always striven to do our duty to the grand old Democratic stronghold, and we are proud that time has not diminished our friendships with its best men, or our interest in everything that pertains to the land we love and admire.

The venerable Thomas L. Sanderson departed this life on Monday morning, at his home in this town, aged about 82 years. He was one of our oldest and most esteemed citizens, full of godliness and a faithful member of the Methodist church. He had been in feeble health for several years and finally succumbed to age and its infirmities, and took to his bed some weeks before he died, welcoming the final summons with resignation and faith. His remains were taken to his old home in Currituck county on Tuesday and interred in the old family burying ground.

James Bond & Sons, of Baltimore, are in the commission field for the North Carolina fish trade. Their reputation as reliable and active fish dealers is of the best and has been maintained for half a century by two generations. James Bond, Sr., was always our ideal of a good man, full of kindness and benevolence for all the unfortunates among men. His presence always made us happier and better for his coming. His sons, we have never met, but we always hear that they are the worthy sons of a worthy father. For nearly thirty years they have been friends and advertisers in the Economist.

Dr. W. S. Temple, one of the most prominent citizens of upper Pasquotank county, departed this life on Wednesday morning, after a short illness, aged 62 years. Dr. Temple was one of our most prominent and influential citizens. He was a true man in the highest sense of the word. He was upright in his life, quiet and amiable in his disposition, and as courageous in his convictions of the right as any man. In his profession he held high position in the front rank, and his influence was always on the side of right and justice. The death of such a man as Dr. Temple was a public calamity and his loss will be long felt in the community.

The importance of an Industrial Fair. The history of Industrial Fairs in Elizabeth City is a history of dismal failures. We see no good reason why it should be so, unless it be that we are built that way. And we cannot see any reason why we should be built that way. We have a productive back country, and we are in sight and contiguous to broad waters. We are connected with the outside world by railroad and steam boats. We are at the head of the sound and river trade of East Carolina. We shall soon have the Roanoke and the broad waters tributary to our business, and we shall tap the Norfolk trade from North Carolina passing by our doors, and if our business men don't avail themselves of their opportunity, then the hand of destiny will turn another way from where it has pointed for over a hundred years, and our business men are not made of the material that we are won't to ascribe to them.

An Industrial Fair is one of the most important agencies in the development of towns and cities in these latter days of our history. They were so in the dark ages of antiquity and their great influence has been felt in the century now closing. A town that has no attractive Fair, is behind the times, a poor man at a wedding, a girl out of the fashion, the fifth wheel of a coach, no where. We have an illustration at our doors. Look at New Bern with its two thirds of semi civilized population. It is behind Elizabeth City in business, in enterprise, in push. Nature has done less for it than E.

City. But it has a mid winter Fair that is a success and is the best advertisement of the town that any town in North Carolina has. By this agency alone New Bern is better known than any town in East Carolina, and but for the unfortunate medley of its mixed population, it would lead the State, and owing, most of all, to its great fair. Why is this so? Mainly because the business men have taken hold of this institution of the town and made it a great success. Why have our fairs been a failure. Mainly, because our business men have stood off and not given them a hearty and cordial cooperation.

The times are auspicious for starting anew. In May, it is thought, that the old Dismal Swamp Canal will be opened to navigation, with such width and depth that the largest vessels, steamers and barges can and will pass through. The most sagacious and far seeing practical men say it will be a new departure in the business and prosperity of our town. A new railroad, the Elizabeth City & Western, is chartered and it will not be long before completion. Let us take time by the forelock and start a Fair. It will be a prime necessity to us.

Proof of the pudding lies in the eating of it. Proof of ROBERTS' TASTELESS CHILL TONIC lies in the taking of it. COST NOTHING if it fails to cure. 25 cents per bottle if it cures. Sold strictly on its merits by Griggs & Son, Dr. J. E. Wood and City Drug Store.

Our Naval Reserves at New Bern. Our Naval Reserves made a "ten strike" at the New Bern Fair last week. In a competitive drill at the fair grounds between the New Bern, Washington and Elizabeth City Companies, our boys, Capt. W. T. Old, commanding, won the prize of a beautiful U. S. Flag. In common parlance—"Eph Goo the Coon."

The handsome flag was presented by Mrs. Holister, a fair and youthful matron, whose gracefulness in its delivery and kind words of compliment won the admiration of all who were present.

We subjoin the closing part of Mrs. Holister's beautiful presentation address:

"When asked by the Fair Association to present the flag to the winning military company, I felt it quite an honor and said, 'with pleasure, I'll do my best.' Now seeing the competitive drill I know it is an honor far too great for me. A flag so meritoriously won deserves presentation by a most gifted orator. However, not being one, I can simply say to day's victory only proves you will win forever laurels on every field of action. I take great pleasure, I assure you, in presenting the Elizabeth City Naval Reserves this flag in the name of the New Bern Mid Winter Fair Association."

Take this flag, may it wave Proudly o'er the good and brave As an emblem of sacred trust. In cause that's right and just, Fight and die, if die ye must, But never let it trail in dust.

Love this banner as a token, That old barriers down are broken, And love flows full and free, Those who fought with Grant and Lee From north to south, from sea to sea Are brothers now, and e'er shall be.

Now this banner waves so lightly, Now its colors gleam so brightly, But, in years when hearts are hoary, May you tell with pride the story, How in battle rent and gory, It is e'en the same "Old Glory!"

Hyde and Carteret counties are not exempt from the operations of the general oyster law. We shall keep our right eye (which Dr. Newton, the oculist, says is our best eye) on the oyster fundam and our new Board of Commissioners, and shall look forward with hope to the best results from their appointment. We have often said that our oyster beds were a mine of wealth, and we want the Board to verify our declaration.

Since writing the above we have seen the following in the News and Observer:

"The new Shell Fish Commission" elected by the Legislature is composed of the following, who were named in the new oyster law:

Messrs. John W. Clayton, of Hyde; Geo. H. Hill of Beaufort; Daniel L. Roberts, of Craven; C. C. Allen, of Pasquotank; Robert Wallace, of Carteret; B. D. Scarborough, of Dare; D. B. Hooker, of Pamlico.

The Board meets next Monday at New Bern, when a chairman and Secretary will be chosen.

Resolutions. At a meeting held in their Army on Feb. 27, 1899, the following resolutions were passed by Elizabeth City Division Naval Battalion N. C. S. G.:

I. That we extend our hearty thanks to the New Bern Mid Winter Fair Association for their kind invitation to attend the Fair and for the courteous treatment we received at their hands. Success to Newberne Mid Winter Fair!

II. That we appreciate the hospitality of the New Bern Division Naval Battalion, and that we feel indebted to both officers and men for their many courtesies.

III. That while we feel thankful for the distinction of having won the Flag in competitive drill, we feel more honored in having had it so graciously presented by a hand so fair and with words so appropriate. In the silent folds of our colors we see a woman's face, as it smiles to the breeze we hear a woman's voice. Our Flag is sacred, and we bear the privilege of extending our heartfelt thanks to Mrs. J. A. Hollister.

IV. That we appreciate the many favors extended to us by the Norfolk & Southern Railroad and the officers of the Steamer Neuse.

V. That we are gratified at the good feeling existing between the Allegheny Fire Company Band and the Elizabeth City Division Naval Battalion, and hope that it may continue. The pleasure of the trip was greatly enhanced by their company.

VI. That copies of these resolutions be sent to the newspapers and also spread upon the minutes of this Division address:
