

Another Pistol Shooter Fined

FRANK REYNOLDS SAID HE WAS SHOOTING AT SOMEBODY IN HIS YARD SUNDAY NIGHT WHEN HE DISTURBED WHOLE SECTION OF CITY.

A negro named Frank Reynolds was up before Mayor Leigh this morning on the charge of disturbing the peace by firing a pistol Sunday night at his home near White street, in that section of the city known as the Race Track. He was released on the payment of costs of court, which amounted to $1.95. His fusillade was among the many shots heard that night in different parts of the town, and owing to good work on the part of the police, he is the second who has been arrested on the charge.

In stating his case this morning before Mayor Leigh, Reynolds said at eleven o'clock he heard somebody moving around in his yard and he at once got his pistol and commenced shooting at the noise. The shots caused some little excitement and it was comparatively easy for Chief Bell to trace the disturbance to him. Under the conditions, however, which were rather extenuating, he was not required to pay a fine.

There are a number of persons, and it is evidently the same crowd, who make a practice of shooting pistols on the streets for no other purpose than to disturb the peace and the officers have made many fruitless attempts to detect them. During the past few days they have been more successful than ever before and the public hopes that the extent of the law will be used in each case.

Not much stock was apparently taken in the "man in the yard" story of Reynolds. In the present crusade, the police hope to break up the disturbances, and no matter whether the shots are fired on the street or in the yard they will have to answer for it.

Probably Saved The Baby's Life

A small child, not more than eighteen months old, created considerable notice last night on Main street, and it is very probable that its life was saved by Mr. R. H. Raper. The tot was first seen nearly opposite the government lot, paddling along by itself. It kept on up the street and attracted general attention when it passed the corner of Main and Polndexter, on which a crowd was standing. The child continued to walk towards the wharf and seeing this, Mr. Raper followed and when it had nearly reached the water front, he took it in charge much to the dissatisfaction of the child who resisted and screamed the whole way as it was brought back up the street. When the corner was reached again, the child was taken in charge by its father, Mr. H. H. Lavenstein, who had been searching for it some time.

CONSTABLE TOSSED BY ENRAGED BULL.

St. Louis, Oct. 16.—Deputy Constable William Egan, of Justice Spaulding's court, is wearing a new suit of clothes, the suit he formerly wore having been destroyed by an infuriated bull while he was serving a writ of replevin.

The Jersey bull strayed away from his owner, George Wright, some time ago. He was picked up by Benedict Kunekler. Kunekler advertised the finding of the animal and Wright went to Kunekler's place and claimed him. The men disagreed as to the amount of compensation to be paid for the keeping of the bull and Wright brought suit.

He sent a man with the constable to bring the bull home. The bull obeyed. Egan ran for a fence, but the bull was upon him before the fence was reached. The bull attempted to gather the constable on his horns and give him an upward toss. Fortunately for the constable, the horns went no farther than his clothing, which was badly torn.

Will Open Big Furniture Store

MESSRS. QUINN AND COMPANY, OF KINSTON, HAVE RENTED HUGHES BUILDING ON WATER STREET AND WILL AT ONCE PUT IN MAMMOTH STOCK.

Messrs. Quinn and Company, a well known business firm of Kinston, are now negotiating to establish a big furniture store in this city. They have a representative here today and he has already secured the store room in the Hughes building on Water street, directly opposite the Arlington hotel. The store will be renovated thoroughly and all changes made in the interior to make it a convenient place for the handling of a large stock of all varieties of furniture. As soon as the store has been fitted, the stock will commence to arrive and within probably another month, Elizabeth City will have added another large, up-to-date mercantile establishment to her already long list.

At the present time it is not known whether they will move their business from Kinston or whether this will be a branch store, but the representative of the firm said their stock would be as large as any carried by the present dealers, which means that it will be among the largest in the State.

COLUMBIA HISSES DIXON.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 16.—Probably because the scene of the play is laid at Piedmont, this State, one of the largest audiences in recent years saw Thomas Dixon's "Clansman" here last night. That the play was not unanimously approved was shown by the hissing during the performance. During the third act, after numerous calls, the author appeared before the curtain. For several minutes Dixon stood facing the hissing, which was more marked than at any other time before he could speak. After some pleasant references, he said:

"God ordained the Southern white man to teach the lessons of Aryan supremacy."

In concluding, he said that he had always observed there are two divisions in the South—those who would hiss and those who would applaud those who are trying to portray the true evils of the South.

"There were scallwags then and there are scallwags now," he concluded.

After the performance, a party of young men called at Dixon's hotel and asked to see him. As if anticipating hostility, Dixon declined their request. A note was then drawn up, in which the young men expressed their opinion of the play, and sent to the author's room.

A prominent negro educator who witnessed the performance by invitation, afterward declared that it would hurt Southern prosperity more than any other one thing. He said it would incite feeling between the races. He termed Dixon's profits "blood" money.

KILLED HIS SON'S WIFE.

Slayer, Who Registered as Woman's Husband, Then Committed Suicide.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 16.—While driving in a hack from a hotel to a railroad station this afternoon, E. H. Darrow, sixty years old, shot and killed his son's wife Lillian Darrow, and then shot himself dead in the same place, the right temple.

The hack driver, without stopping to investigate, drove to a police station. Both occupants of the carriage were found sitting upright on opposite seats, dead.

The cause of the murder and suicide has not developed. E. H. Darrow and his daughter-in-law came to the Arcade Hotel on October 10, registering as "E. H. Darrow and wife." They went away, but returned again Saturday, and this afternoon started for the railroad station, ostensibly to take a train for Sioux Falls, the home of Mr. Darrow's son.

Letters were found on the woman's body, unsigned but apparently from her husband, indicating that they had had trouble. The writer of the letters protested undying love for the woman, and said that he was dying of a broken heart.

Many Criminal Cases Continued In Federal Court

SOME OF DEFENDANTS "HAD NOT BEEN FOUND," WHILE ABSENT IMPORTANT WITNESSES DEFERRED SOME HEARINGS—INJUNCTION DISSOLVED IN CASE OF GREENLEAF vs. SUFFOLK LUMBER COMPANY.

Federal court convened yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the number of spectators to find seats in the court room exceeded that of the morning session. Numerous criminal cases were called as they appeared on the docket but owing to different reasons, not one of them was heard through to a verdict, some being dismissed and some continued. On the civil docket one case was called and tried—that of H. T. Greenleaf against the Suffolk Lumber Company. This commanded a good deal of attention and the attorneys for both sides made strong speeches.

Cases Rapidly Disposed of.

Directly after court had convened the case of United States vs. L. H. Griffin, of Martin county, was called. The charge was removing and concealing spirituous liquors. This was one of the best known cases on the docket and the spectators were all attention when it was called. It was of short duration however, being quickly nopped with leave.

The next was United States vs. R. E. Sample; the young man who remained in jail here for several months, being under arrest for using the mails for fraudulent purposes. This case against him was continued on account of the fact that he is now serving a sentence in the penitentiary. His home is in Washington county.

The next appearing on the docket was that of United States vs. John Skinner, colored, of Perquimans county. Against him was the charge of retailing spirituous liquors, but it will have to be called again, as John was not present; in fact, he has not been seen at all since shortly after he was confronted with the charge.

The following case was exactly similar only the defendant, who was William Halsey, was from Pasquotank county. Halsey has not been found since it became known to the officers that he was retailing booze, and his case was continued.

The next was the case of United States vs. C. C. De Cormis, of Gum Neck, in Tyrrell county, a case well-known and much discussed throughout the district since his arrest by the government officers. The charge against him was retailing liquor without license. On account of the absence of a number of the defendant's witnesses, the case was continued until next term, the defendant being required to furnish bail in the same sum he did before.

His preliminary hearing took place here and it will be remembered that several witnesses testified that he sold liquor to many people in and around Gum Neck, and officers who worked up the case expressed confidence that they could get sufficient evidence to convict him.

The next case was United States vs. Frank Rhodes, of Norfolk, for embezzlement. Rhodes is the young man who, it is charged, opened mail pouches on the Norfolk and Southern train and removed therefrom a large number of stamps. The case was promptly continued, the defendant being absent.

The next case to be called was that of H. T. Greenleaf, Sr., against Messrs. W. H. Bosley, of Baltimore, and T. G. Skinner, of Hertford, or generally known as the Suffolk Lumber Company.

Mr. Greenleaf brought suit to secure an injunction restraining the cutting of timber from the vast tract of land known as the Terry tract, which is within a few miles of this city. The injunction was dissolved and the removal of timber will continue.

This is a case of long standing and was started in Raleigh. While the final settlement of the suit was pending the lumber company continued to cut timber and the suit yesterday was merely to stop this. It will be finally settled at Raleigh sometime in the near future.

In the case yesterday able counsel was employed by both sides and strong speeches were made before the court.

Norfolk Couple Married Here

Mr. William Oliver Breeden and Miss Grace M. Trower, are the names of the well known and popular young Norfolk couple who were married in this city yesterday. Immediately after arriving they went to the court house and secured the necessary paper from Register of Deeds J. C. Spence, their names not appearing on the little list Mr. Spence keeps in the back of the book, to whom he has been requested not to issue license. From there they sought Rev. A. P. Tyer at the Methodist parsonage, in the parlor of which they were made man and wife in a most impressive manner by the mentioned minister.

They left on the last train in the evening for Norfolk, where they will continue to reside.

This marriage was not in the form of an elopement, as they generally are when Virginia couples visit the city, but was a simple case of taking advantage of the many conveniences thus afforded. This was the second license issued here during the month.

Beautiful Home Wedding Today

MISS ESSIE ALBRITTON BECAME MRS. A. H. TUTTLE JUST BEFORE NOON AT HOME OF SISTER, MRS. F. W. ANDREWS—THE FATHER NORTH THEIR FUTURE HOME.

An unusually beautiful home wedding was solemnized today just before noon at the residence of Mrs. F. W. Andrews, on Walnut street, when Miss Essie Albritton, of Bethel, Pitt county, became the bride of Mr. A. H. Tuttle, of Michigan, a travelling salesman who visits this section at regular intervals.

The parlors of the home had been tastefully decorated in handsome floral designs and when the party had assembled, each wearing becoming costumes, the scene was one of great beauty. The ceremony had been prearranged in every particular and at the improvised altar the couple met the Rev. H. M. North, of City Road church, who performed his respective part in a most impressive manner.

After a delicious repast at the residence of Mrs. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle were driven to the Norfolk and Southern depot, where amidst a shower of rice and the congratulations of many friends, they took the north-bound train en route to Boston, New York and various other points of interest, one of which places will be their future home.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. F. W. Andrews and an aunt of Misses Leila and Mary Andrews, of this city, and having visited here on several occasions, is quite well known.

CULLOM TO FIGHT TO INCREASE POWER OF THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Closely following the criticism made by Dean Rogers, of the Yale Law School that the President of the United States is possessed of too much power, it is the contention tonight by Senator Cullom, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, that the President should be given even greater power in dealing with foreign nations.

The Illinois Senator proposes to busy himself at his committee room from now until Congress meets, and he will have his hands full of "unfinished business," he says. More power for the President is a very important part of the unfinished business.

Attention of the country was first brought to this country at the time the President agreed with many foreign countries on special treaties of arbitration.

These treaties were rejected by the Senate for the reason that Senators thought they gave the President the right to act in certain circumstances without the "advice and consent of the Senate." The treaties were beaten, largely because at that time the President was freely and harshly criticized for his acts in Panama, and especially in San Domingo, in the latter case he having been charged with desiring to put into effect an agreement with a foreign nation without the consent of the Senate.

Senator Cullom is a close friend of the President. He proposes to follow his chief in the matter of rate legislation, and there is little question that he will revive the arbitration treaties in question.

WILDCAT KILLS DOGS; WOUNDS THREE MEN.

They Thought It Was a Coon Until Ate Off a Man's Ear.

Plainfield Conn., Oct. 16.—The most exciting coon hunt ever seen in this section of New England started from Volunetown Saturday night. James Munroe, of Boston; Leon Tripp and Frank Harris, of Worcester; Joseph Kelley, of Troy; Jim Sherman, of this town, and Tom J. Parks, of New Haven, composed the party. They gathered in seven ringtails in Long Woods, between here and Brand's Iron works.

About midnight Teddy, a fine dog owned by Tripp, treed a supposed raccoon. But one shot from his master's gun elicited proof that the coon was a thirty-pound wildcat. Teddy and two other dogs lost their lives. Munroe lost one ear and Tripp, and Harris were badly torn by the animal's claws.

Elizabeth City vs Washington Fish Situation

Daily Economist:

Owing to the article in yesterday's publication of the Daily Economist bearing such a tenor as to mislead the minds of the public as to Elizabeth City having a market, we wish to announce alone could have handled every fish that has been caught and ped to and through Elizabeth since the first day of May, 1905 would only be too glad to have an opportunity to buy more than it is no longer a fact that Elizabeth City is without a market, but the fact that the most of the fish pack their fish at the fisheries lower sounds, and ship to the markets without giving the Elizabeth City buyers an opportunity to buy them, and another notable fact we pay them a larger net price than they ordinarily get for their fish than with the qu stock considered. Hoping it will serve to effect from the mind that Elizabeth City is without a market for fish in almost any quantity on good merchantable fish.

We are very respectful

DUDLEY

We would ask Dudley and others to read the article alluded to does not state that Elizabeth City is without a fish market, but that kind to successfully cope with Washington dealers, a fact well known to the lower sounds fisheries no one else. The market was is one to send boats, boxes to the fisheries to purchase fish, paying there the full market price, then, and not until then, with Elizabeth City equal Washington in fish.

So far as markets are concerned there is another first-class market besides Dudley and Company, on Polndexter street, who sends the boats, boxes, ice and fish to the fisheries in the district. It is a matter to which we can do no harm and all interested parties are invited to enter.
