

Fashionable Marriage Today

MISS LOUISE GREENLEAF BECAME MRS. EDWIN R. OUTLAW AMID SCENES OF GREAT BEAUTY AT CHRIST CHURCH—HAPPY PAIR NOW ON HONEYMOON.

One of the most beautiful and attractive weddings ever witnessed in this end of the State took place today at 11:15 o'clock at Christchurch, the principals being Mr. Edwin R. Outlaw, a prominent young business man of this city, and Miss Louise Greenleaf, one of the section's most graceful and accomplished young ladies.

The quaint old edifice has been the scene of many marriages, but never before has it won such a splendid air of beauty and joyousness. Since Monday a number of young ladies had been engaged in making the decorations and their consummate skill in such work brought out some effects never attained before. The color scheme was yellow and white which was carried out in elaborate designs and clusters of chrysanthemums. The several aisles were literal lanes of floral wonders, the flowers being attached to the ends of seats and through the whole was entwined yellow and white tulle, which heightened the attractiveness of the whole.

The altar was the crowning glory of it all and the pen of a Byron would be required to do it justice. It was one magnificent mass of the purely blending colors of yellow and white, with every particle arranged so that it would show to the best advantage, and whether married or unmarried one was made to feel by the glamor, that no possible objection could be entertained to participating in an event set in such excessive splendor.

As soon as the doors of the church had been opened a crowd of eager, interested people made their way in and as if by magic the auditorium was filled to the last seat in a moment, while an overflow waited on the street anxious to catch a glimpse of the young bride-elect, the other members of the party and the dazzling costumes.

While the ceremony was being awaited, Mr. W. H. Green sang a baritone solo, every word of which spoke of love, and the accompaniment being softly played on the organ, it was a fitting introduction to the event.

Promptly at the appointed hour the party arrived in carriages, assembled in the vestibule, and forming in the prearranged manner, marched up the aisles to the rhythmic strains of the wedding march, rendered in finished style by Mrs. L. M. Meekins. The bride, bewitchingly costumed in a broadcloth suit, with hat to match and carrying a bouquet of white bride's roses entered on the arm of her father, Mr. W. H. Green.

Mr. Pennington, of Fardor, the best man, both of whom wore the conventional black, and by her sister Miss Bertie, who was maid of honor and who wore a handsome white lace robe over white taffeta, with black velvet picture hat, and carried La French roses. The ushers were Messrs. W. G. Suco, Joseph Greenleaf, Blucher Ehringhaus and Ben Brown, who also wore black, with light gloves, the gift of the groom.

The altar was awaiting Rev. L. Williams, the rector, who performed the ceremony with all the impressiveness of the Episcopal faith. When the mystic words had been spoken, the strains of the wedding march rang out again and the party marched out, this time with Mrs. Outlaw leaning on the arm of her husband.

They were driven immediately to the Norfolk and Southern depot, where amidst showers of rice and the congratulations and well wishes of many friends they took the north-bound train enroute to Baltimore, Washington, New York, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and other points of interest. They will be at home in this city in about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Outlaw were the recipients of numerous valuable and useful presents—just 275 in all—which alone attest as to their universal popularity.

Among the out-of-town visitors were

Mutineers Are Found Guilty

Wilmington, N. C., Nov. 7.—Arthur Adams and Robert Sawyer, two of the three mutinous sailors from the schooner Harry A. Berwind, were found guilty of murder on the high seas in the federal court today and judgment was reserved until tomorrow morning, pending argument by counsel of a motion for a new trial upon the ground contained in a bill of exceptions filed today.

Today's proceedings consisted largely of argument upon a motion by defense to exclude the log book of the schooner, which the district attorney at length withdrew, argument by counsel to the jury and his honor's charge, which was regarded eminently fair to both sides. The jury deliberated upon the case less than two hours.

This evening Henry Scott, the third of the mutineers, was placed on trial for his life, Attorney William J. Balamy appearing for the defense.

HANGED HIMSELF IN CELL.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 7.—Albert H. Darwin, a prisoner at the county jail, charged with murder of Mrs. Anna Gray, of Joliet, Ill., committed suicide in the cell today by hanging. Darwin eloped with Mrs. Gray from Joliet several months ago to Akron, Ohio. Later they came to this city. When the woman decided to return to her husband and children, she was shot and killed by Darwin.

Darwin had been on trial in Criminal Court during the past week. It is thought that the failure of a plot to escape from the jail led him to commit suicide. The jail officials discovered that several bars had been sawed from a window in one of the corridors.

Darwin left a letter addressed to F. A. Scott, his attorney, telling of his purpose to take his life, but denying connection with the attempted jail delivery.

ASSASSINS' PLOT FAILED.

Mount Vernon, Ohio, Nov. 7.—A train of rain-soaked fuse leading through the yard and to a box of dynamite beneath his bed-room window were found by Jarvis Shellenbarger, brother of the late Sheriff Shellenbarger, murdered last June, today while raking leaves at his home.

The police are searching for evidence connecting the dynamite with accomplices of Hildreth, now in jail for the murder of the Knox county sheriff.

It is thought that the plot was arranged to blow up the home of Shellenbarger Sunday evening, but the torrents of rain which fell soaked the fuse and thus prevented the explosion.

It is believed that it was the intention to destroy one of the leading witnesses in the murder trial in the death of Sheriff Shellenbarger.

Sheriff Shellenbarger was shot by a man in a skull and crossbones, a prominent business man, going to his home this morning and shot himself through the heart upon his bed. He had been married just one month. His wife hearing the report of the pistol, ran in and threw a bucket of water on him to quench the fire which was burning his clothing.

Mr. Owens was held up two nights ago and robbed. This morning he found his pistol which the robbers had taken from him under the door-steps. After going to his place of business he found in his mail the skull and crossbones letter with the words, "Prepare to meet thy God." Owens immediately went home and killed himself.

Reception Was Splendid. The reception given last evening at the Greenleaf home was among the most sumptuous occasions ever arranged in the city and features were introduced never attempted before.

The first part of the evening was an at home for married people, and there were fifty guests present. From nine o'clock the reception for young people lasted until a late hour. At this time there were forty-five guests present. Among the features were novel souvenirs presented to each guest.

Music was furnished by the Symphony Orchestra.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT.

A prayer meeting will be held tonight at the City Road Methodist church that will be unusually attractive. Everyone is invited to be present and participate.

The Safe-Blower's Son and the Hold-up-Man's Boy (to high Life Insurance official's child)—Get away from us, our governors won't let us associate with a fellow what has such a reputation as yours.

Will Open Big Clothing House Here

Mr. Harry Lavenstein has returned the store on the corner of Main and Poindexter streets now occupied by Dr. H. T. Ayldett, for his brother-in-law, who is a prominent dry good dealer of Baltimore. On the first of next March an up-to-date clothing, gent's furnishing and shoe store will be opened therein and the business will become a fixture, a lease of considerable length having been secured on the building.

Before the new business is opened the store will have undergone a thorough renovation at the hands of mechanics and painters and will look altogether like a new place. The partitions will all be removed and the entire ground floor devoted to the stock of clothing, etc.

ESTABLISHED THREE BRANCH STORES.

That the Globe clothing and furniture store is receiving large patronage goes without saying when it is known that within the last few weeks it has opened three large branch stores on Poindexter street, the establishment of which the owner found necessary. The three branches are now in full operation and, with the Globe, are offering some of the most remarkable bargains ever given in the city.

The management invites the public to visit the stores and examine the stock, including the latest styles in everything to wear.

FRIGHTENED TO SUICIDE

Vienna, Ga., Nov. 7.—Alarmed by receipt of a letter upon which was written a skull and crossbones, Howard Owens, a prominent business man, went to his home this morning and shot himself through the heart upon his bed. He had been married just one month. His wife hearing the report of the pistol, ran in and threw a bucket of water on him to quench the fire which was burning his clothing.

Mr. Owens was held up two nights ago and robbed. This morning he found his pistol which the robbers had taken from him under the door-steps. After going to his place of business he found in his mail the skull and crossbones letter with the words, "Prepare to meet thy God." Owens immediately went home and killed himself.

There's no beauty in the all land That can with her face compare, Her lips are red, her eyes are bright, She takes Rocky Mountain Tea at night.

Standard Pharmacy.

I bought enough Davis 100 per cent Pure Paint to put on three coats. After putting on two coats, the work looked so well I found it did not need a third coat and returned what was left. My painter said he had never used another paint that would cover as much surface as Davis 100 per cent Pure Paint.

Giving Saloon Men Away.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 7.—It was today learned that Wiley P. Black, the saloon keeper whose license was revoked because of the allegation that he ran a wine room in connection with his saloon, where prostitutes gathered and where liquor was sold to them, and who asserts that every saloon keeper in the city is guilty of the practice, has today given the chief of police the names of a number of witnesses to substantiate his assertion.

The names of thirty-five witnesses against one saloon keeper were furnished, and Black stated that he would furnish two hundred more against other saloonists whom he alleges are guilty of the practice.

This action may be of far-reaching and sensational consequence, for the board of alderman has announced its intention of dealing summarily with any saloonist against whom the allegations are proven. The chief of police stated this morning that the matter would be investigated, and if sufficient evidence could be adduced indictments would follow.

Four Killed, One Hurt in Collision.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 7.—A passenger train on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad bound for Watertown, today collided head on with a locomotive drawing two freight cars, near Liverpool, six miles from here. Four men were killed and one seriously hurt. Milton F. Toms, of Lyndonville, mail clerk, is one of the men killed. The other dead were members of the engine crews. No passengers were hurt.

A Wonderful Saving.

The largest Methodist church in Georgia, used 32 gallons of L. & M. mixed with 24 gallons of oil, thus making paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. They calculated to use 100 gallons of other paint. Saved about $80, and also got a big donation of L. & M. Dealers gladly sell L. & M., because their customers call for it, and say they used it 12, 14 and even 20 years ago.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for linseed oil, which you do in ready-for-use paint.

Buy oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents per gallon, and mix it with L. & M. Paint.

It makes paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. Sold by D. M. Jones Co., Elizabeth City, N. C.

Crusade Against Cigarettes

There is at present every indication that an active crusade against cigarettes and diminutive cigarette "fiends" is pending in the city. The dopes were denounced in scattering terms at the last meeting of the aldermen and attention was called to the fact that small boys continue to smoke them on the streets regardless of the law. The police will be instructed to exercise the greatest vigilance to catch some of them and by example in the police court put a damper on the use of the wreckers of the young bodies and minds.

So far as whiskey is concerned the town is dry and it is regretted that there is no law by which an election could be held on cigarettes, for they would be driven out by an overwhelming majority.

It is the general hope that the authorities will draw the restrictions on the "coffin tacks" until they are throttled so vigorously that their sale in the city will be an impossibility.

DEATH OF PROMINENT CONFEDERATE VETERAN.

(Special to the Daily Economist.)

Currituck C. H., Nov. 7.—

Another comrade has been called to answer the last roll call. Comrade M. C. Taylor, died at his home on Church's Island, Currituck county, N. C., October 18th, 1905. He was born March 10th, 1832, and was 72 years, 7 months and 8 days' old. About the last request was that his camp badges be pinned on the lapel of his coat when buried, which was done.

He enlisted in Co. G., 4th N. C. Cavalry, army of Northern Va. commanded by Col. D. D. Ferebee. He enlisted early in the spring of 1862. He was also a member of Henry M. Shaw Camp No. 1304, Confederate Veterans. Comrade Taylor was a faithful Confederate soldier, true to his duties, absolutely fearless, sharing the few pleasures of camp with gentleness and meeting the dangers and privations of the field with undaunted courage. In an engagement with the 26th, N. Y. Cavalry at Middleburg, Va., which was fought June 10th, 1864, he was badly wounded in one of his legs above the knee, the bone so badly shattered that amputation was necessary. The writer fought by his side on the fearful day which he will never forget. There were twenty of us made prisoners and carried to the old Capital prison at Washington. The wounded and dead fell in the hands of the enemy.

Virginia Hills' your fame shall echo long; Your memory haunt the Carolina shores, And all the streams that in one countless throng The Currituck sound tributaries pour. Not all in vain, the future years shall learn From you that death is not the greatest ill; Life not the highest nor the chief concern But duty higher still. Then rest in peace; your memory shall remain, Green in our hearts in spite of fleeing years. Time leaves the glory while it heals the pain And wipes away all tears. JEROME B. LEE.

Officers Want A Bloodhound

THEY SAY GOOD WORK COULD BE DONE WITH ONE HERD SOME TALK OF THE COUNTY AND CITY PURCHASING ONE TOGETHER—"WOULD BE GOOD INVESTMENT."

As the law is violated and the offenders escape almost with impunity the local officers feel more and more the need of a bloodhound, well trained and competent to follow the trail the criminal until he is captured. It is a fact that a great number of evil doers are apprehended, and properly, but they are the perpetrators of minor crimes who make no determined efforts to escape. It is the shoot the burglar and escaped convicts from the chain-gang who make the need the dog felt acutely. When the negro Gibbs shot down his wife on the street and fled he would have been easily caught with the dog, while as it was pursued was not offered at all, because the officers had not the remotest idea in what direction to look. When W. Sutton ran amuck on several occasions, firing his pistol at policemen and in people's houses, his capture with the bloodhound would have been almost child's play. Again, when the negro convict made his escape from the chain-gang several weeks ago, he could have been caught the same day had the hound been put on his trail and would now be expiating his crime on the county roads. These occurrences are recent. In going into the past numerous instances could be recalled when a bloodhound in charge of determined men could have been of means of satisfying outraged justice.

The law is represented by men in the county and city as thoroughly competent as are generally found, and with the assistance of a trained bloodhound, no criminal would escape. There is some talk of purchasing one but nothing definite. If the county and city would buy one together and share equally the expenses, it is considered the expenditure, which would not amount to much, would be a judicious one.

LOCAL TOPICS IN BRIEF.

The flying horses, or merry-go-round, are being put up on the vacant lot next to the Bee Hive to possibly several weeks. With the came the usual hurdy-gurdy and crazy tunes will suffice to nearly madden those who will be compelled to hear them constantly.

The U. S. Boutwell, arrived in port yesterday afternoon to remain several days. Government business will be attended to, mail received, provisions taken on, etc. The Boutwell has just finished an inspection of buoys and beacons between this city and New Bern.

The foot-ball team of the A. C. L. and A. H. S. will meet on the gridiron next Friday afternoon for the second time of the season and will both put up the best game possible.

Tickets are now on sale here for the Carolina-Virginia foot-ball game to be played Thanksgiving in Norfolk, and they are going steadily. Many will buy them here in order to avoid the great crush in Norfolk, and the possibility of not getting a seat at all.

DANGEROUSLY ILL AT SALISBURY HOSPITAL.

Mr. R. A. Kellam returned from Salisbury, N. C., last night after having remained there sometime with his wife, who is being treated in the hospital.

Mr. Kellam stated today that she was seriously ill and that her condition had not changed much for the last night, when he was forced to turn here.
