The mud has subsided, and the dry land has again appeared.

The President has nominated Thomas Settle to be United States District Judge of Florida.

J. G. Heap has just returned from his annual trip to the Northern markets and reports everything dull in the superlative degree, so far as Mica is concerned.

There are times when men ought to deliberate, but when a man is at the top of a twelve foot ladder and an old sow is rubbing her back against the foot of the same, action should be the motto.

A CHAPTER OF HAPS AND MISHAPS.

Hans Spiedelbarger is a man of expediency and has a way of doing things peculiarly his own. Not long since he bought a turkey or rather he concluded that he might, could, would or should buy one.

Went to the store and tried for three days to get the head of something to ride for he had come to the conclusion that a farmer out on Rock Creek had or ought to have a turkey for sale and if he did have one it would be a big one.

Bugs touched somewhat with the "Philosophy of German" Hans thought he would take a jug along to put the turkey in of course, and started.

On his road he fell to cogitating upon the Presidential question and for getting the turkey purchase in his meditations, he came to the conclusion that about three miles further on there was some of the best apple brandy that ever ran from a still.

Hans thought that if he could not get meat he would have drink and rode on and made a trade for one gallon of that drink.

Now whoever made that jug intending that its capacity was four quarts was guilty of a fraud, for the vessel only held seven pints, and Hans had brought eight pints and the question now was, what to do with the surplus pint.

The occasion sometimes develops the man and Hans was equal to the emergency and he wrapped himself carefully around the pint of Apple Jack and started for town.

Now came still evening on, and twilight had in her sber livery all things clad.

And Hans was some distance from home, when a sudden revolution took place with the Spiedelbarger brain and Hans found himself on the ground.

At the top of the jug broken off, some of the brandy spilled and the mule on top of the saddle. How long things remained in this state is not known but some time in the night a good Samaritan came that way and put the saddle on the mule, Hans on the saddle and the jug in a sack on Hans.

You may break up the jug as you will a few drams of brandy will remain there still.

This was true in this case and Hans took upon himself the office of gauger and counted himself in for a drink.

Revolutions never go backwards and again a movement was made and Hans revolved forwards over the miles head.

And quickly as I promptly he laid himself down by the roadside unshy and mry.

The jug broke to pieces, the brandy all gone and Hans was alone in his glory.

The mule having concluded that he must finish the journey alone.

How Hans made out that night is left in doubt, but sometime in the latter part of the next day a procession entered town, slowly and sadly, consisting of one mule, one saddle, but not sober Teuton, and the owner of that mule, who had gone out to bring in the scattered forces. After it is known who will be the next President Hans will write a full history of his adventure.

The joint committee for counting the Electoral vote will consist of three Republican and two Democratic Senators, three Democratic and two Republican members of the House and Chief Justice Clifford, Miller, Strong and Field these four will select another Associate Justice as the fifth Judicial member of the commission.

VERY USEFUL TO EVERY ONE.

It is no longer a person get back so long a profit for a very little money, as to expend it in learning out to go, when to get it and how to get it, and words, to have his own a very little money. Here is one way to do this.

The publishers of the "American Agriculturist" so named because started 35 years ago as a rural journal, but since greatly enlarged and improved to suit the daily wants of every man, woman, and child in City, Country and Village.

It is packed full of useful information that every one ought to have. Many single hints and suggestions will repay more than a whole year's cost of the paper.

PETITION FOR CHEAP TELEGRAPHY.

WE, the undersigned, citizens of the United States, do humbly petition your honorable body to pass such a law as shall enforce the provisions of the Act passed by Congress on July 24th, 1866, viz:

The United States may for postal, military or other purposes, purchase all the telegraphic lines, property and effects of any or all companies acting under the provisions of the act of July 24th, 1866, entitled "An act to aid in the construction of telegraph lines and to secure to the Government the use of the same for postal, military and other purposes, or under this title as an appraised value to be ascertained by five competent disinterested persons two of whom shall be selected by the Postmaster-General of the United States two by the company interested and one by the four so previously selected.

To these provisions the Western Union Telegraph Company has filed its assent.

We believe that the telegraph belongs properly to the Post Office Department, that it should be incorporated therewith and worked for the benefit alike of the Government and the people.

We believe that the privileges extended to the Western Union Telegraph Company have been generously abused; that its exactions have become unreasonably high; that enormous amounts of public money have been expended to its benefit; that the creation of a large bonded debt, have necessitated the high rates charged, notwithstanding the reduction made by other companies.

It is evident that the Government could not be obliged to pay more for these lines than it would cost to duplicate them.

We believe that a uniform rate as low as 25 cents, can be made for messages throughout the United States, the same being the rate in Canada and England—and that with an increase of business such as has followed cheaper postage and the postal cards, a still lower rate can be made.

And your petitioners will ever pray.
