Grow Your Own Food and Feed Crops or go Hungry.

By JOHN PAUL LUCAS, Executive Secretary North Carolina Food Conservation Commission

"Grow your own food and feed crops or go hungry". In less abrupt phraseology but in language just as easily understood, this is what the rest of the country is saying to the South this year.

Large quantities of cotton and tobacco are being raised in the South. It is urged to try to take care of a slight additional acreage, if they can do so without neglecting their accustomed crops.

The State in common with all the South has received solemn warnings from officials of the national government, including the secretary and assistant secretary of the Department of Agriculture, that the food and feedstuffs we have been importing will not be available this year because they will be required for our armies and the armies of our allies.

When one tries to envision the amount of meat, flour, corn, oats, hay, potatoes, etc., $80,000,000 or $100,000,000 will buy he begins to realize what a gigantic task the farmers of the State have imposed upon them.
