

THE HIDDEN FIRE BUG

Defective Electric Wiring is Disastrous—Be Sure Your Wire is Good and Well Installed.

Hidden between the walls of your house, under the floors, in the attic and down in the cellar, run rubber-covered wires bearing the electric current.

The rubber insulation is put around the wire to keep the current where it belongs and prevent short circuiting, leakage of current and fire.

If your wire is good wire, well insulated and properly put in, your house and its contents are absolutely safe from electric current fires.

But if you have poor wire, poorly installed, you have a fire-bug in your home—working behind your back, ready to start a fire without warning day or night.

There are two important things that you should know about your wiring: First, is the wire itself safe?

Good wire, properly installed, is absolutely safe. Good wire, poorly installed, may be safe or otherwise—all a matter of chance.

Poor wire is unsafe to begin with, and, if improperly put in, is a real menace.

BONFIRES.

The season of the year has arrived when parents should warn the children of the danger of bonfires.

The season of the year has arrived when parents should warn the children of the danger of bonfires. Every precaution should be taken to prevent children from being burned to death while playing around burning leaves.

HORIZONTAL EXITS.

The most efficient means of escape from any floor or any building is through the horizontal exit.

SENDING IN AN ALARM.

Locate the nearest fire alarm box to your home if it opens with a key, and one who keeps the key.

If you don't know where the nearest alarm box is located, use the phone and ask Central to give Headquarters and tell the Fire Department operator exact address of building where the fire is.

GOOD BOOK.

Prominent educators who have reviewed the manuscript say that "Safety Scout" is admirably adapted for a book, as well as for home reading.

THE SAFETY SCOUT'S PLATFORM.

Paris, Nov. 25.—An order of the day has been issued by General Joffre, warning the soldiers to subscribe to the new war loan.

French Vessel Escapes From Submarine

Paris, Nov. 25.—A French sailing vessel attacked by a German submarine escaped unhurt, although several shots were aimed at the vessel by the Germans.

HERE IT IS

An Authority Since 1828

It is the same old book that used to hang by the fireplace when you were a child—the same one that your grandmother used to treasure and read carefully every day.

But the 1916 edition has a lot of new things that didn't appear in the old book. Times have changed—conditions have improved—and Turner's Almanac has kept up with the procession of Progress.

There are facts, information, entertainment and statistics in the 1916 Almanac that are not found in any other publication. It tells some wonderful things about North Carolina—and tells them in an interesting way.

If you can't get a copy from your bookseller or drug-gist, send 10 cents, stamps or coin, and a copy will be mailed to you promptly.

A FABLE FOR BUILDERS.

Last summer a GOOD CITIZEN of a certain town, not over a hundred miles from almost EVERYWHERE built a WOODEN house for a WOMAN AND HER CHILDREN. HE built the chimney of BRICK because HE HAD TO DO SO.

One morning the WOMAN woke up with FIRE ALL ABOUT HER. She tried to GET TO HER CHILDREN. IF she got to them, NO ONE EVER KNEW IT.
