

CANDIDATES START HEAVY BLOWS LAST DAYS OF CAMPAIGN

Stedman School House Filled With an Enthusiastic Crowd of Voters.

BIG DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS

Is Prediction of all the Demo- cratic Candidates.—Each of County Democratic Candidat- es in Excellent Speeches.

Four things necessary to make our country what it ought to be are good homes, good churches, these first and above all, then good schools and, one of the greatest, good government said Hon. J. A. Oates before an audience filling the school house of Stedman last night. Mr. Oates had strict attention and made one of the best short speeches of the campaign.

He continued by stating that the fourth government, was the one of the four things most interesting now, "Government," he said, "is the rule of the people and the authority of the people. It is the duty of the people to get together and choose representatives who will carry out their will. When the wicked rule, the people mourn but when the righteous rule the people enjoy peace and prosperity. Gentlemen, this is exactly the difference between the Republican and Democratic party. Republicanism is centralized authority in the hands of the few while Democracy is the rule of every man. There is an example of this right here at home. The Democratic candidates appearing before you tonight were nominated by the voters of Cumberland county, over 1,800 of them in the county-wide primary, while the Republicans were named in secret with an exception or two," said Mr. Oates.

"I will be re-elected. The county will give Democratic majority of over 500," was the assertion of Mr. Oates which caused prolonged applause.

Origin of Two Parties.

"Gentlemen, let us review the origin of the two parties," he continued, "the Republican party was born in the north out of the hatred to the southland. The Democratic party organized by the people with its aim a government by the people. I do not like to mention the partisan question but since Charles Whiskers Hughes has aroused that question and he is the first to mention it in a campaign for the past ten years, I must resent it. He says there are too many North Carolinians in office. Now gentlemen would you vote for a man who has said there are too many of the citizens of your own state in federal office? No, you answer; then I declare to you if Hughes is elected it will be as it has been under Republican administration before, and the southern man will be thrown out.

Mr. Oates explained that the Wilson administration had made it possible for the farmer to realize the high price established by the law of supply and demand, by controlling the nation wide railroad strike movement and enacting the eight hour law. He stated that if elected to the Senate he would do all in his power to secure such changes in our law as the cabinet judgement of the people shall say is best, and that he would endeavor to secure legislation so that the farmer would know what kind of fertilizer he received for his money.

TEUTON ALLIES DEAL THE ROUMANIANS HARD BLOW

Battling Twelve Miles Within Roumanian Border Capture Two Towns.

London, Nov. 1.—Sweeping down the mountains from Transylvania the Austro-German army has struck a new severe blow against the Roumanians. Battling 12 miles within the Roumanian border they have occupied two towns.

The advance is taking its course southward of Rothenthurn Pass and the towns of Rakovitsa and Titeahli have been occupied by the Teutons, according to an official admission from Petrograd.

The official report from Bucharest today tells the Roumanians have taken 600 prisoners.

Official admission of the Austro-German success followed unofficial dispatches, which for a time, created great rejoicing here. These reports had declared the Roumanians, striking the invaders heavily, had pressed them across the frontier, and were once more fighting on Hungarian soil. It is expected here that Russia will hurry aid to Roumania.

The Roumanians have retreated to the southward according to the petrograd has made application to the secrete defense of Campulung.

POLITICAL LIGHT IS CAMPAIGN NEED SAYS PRES. WILSON

Says We Should Not Make the Mistake Europe Made two Years Ago.

Against Use of Foreign Rela- tions for Domestic Political Advantages That Those on Other Side Are Guilty of.

(By International News Service.)

Buffalo, Nov. 1.—President Wilson made a strong appeal today for looking honestly, calmly and thoughtfully and in a non-partisan manner at the problems confronting the country. He spoke before the Elliott Club of the city. The President was greeted by prolonged hand clapping, contrasting with his comparatively cool reception in the streets. "What we need in this campaign is political light, not heat," the President declared. "I will be glad next week when the campaign is over so we can talk sense again."

"Our economic policies can never be the same again," he stated, "it would be a disastrous mistake to supply the theories of Europe two years ago," he added. "We have a new place in the world, a place of such influence that our position will be completely changed in 20 years. One can confidently predict what that position will be.

"I want to register my solemn protest against the use of foreign relations for domestic political advantage," the President declared. He launched into a spirited denunciation of those "on the other side who had done so."

Hope and Fear Hurl Roumania Into War

Why Roumania hopes to get out of the European war and what she feared would be her lot if she failed to take sides with the Entente Allies are questions logically sent forth and answered in a striking communication to the National Geographic Society from John Oliver LaGorce. The Society makes public a portion of Mr. LaGorce's letter in the following war geography bulletin just released from Washington:

"Few states in history have been called to such momentous decisions as Roumania faced when it plunged into the Niagara of blood carnage that has rolled down over Europe for these two long years.

"But both hope and fear beckoned the Roumanians—the hope of a greater Roumania and the fear of a strangled homeland.

"The brave people of this little kingdom—for it is less than one fifth as big as Texas—have many proverbs. The water passeth and the stone remains, they say, referring to their own persistence as a people in spite of the floods of humanity that have swept over their territory.

"In the whirlpool of racial rivalries of southeastern Europe—where Roman and Gosh, Hun and Slay, Magyar and Mongol, with all of their de-

Escaped British Patrol Passing Beneath Powerful Flotilla of British Warships Which Has Patrolled New England Coast.

(By International News Service.)

New London, Nov. 1.—Looming up out of the fog and rain like a gray ghost of the sea, the German merchant submarine arrived in port early today on her second voyage to the United States.

The submarine docked at 2:30 o'clock at the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Company. The voyage from Bremen was made in 21 days which was four days longer than the Deutschland took on her maiden trip.

Captain Koenig reported that the voyage had been made without incident and that all of her crew were in good health.

The Deutschland passed beneath the powerful flotilla of British warships which has been patrolling the New England coast since the raid of the "U-9."

It is believed that the Deutschland's cargo consisted of dye stuff and chemicals similar to those she carried on her first voyage. The cargo is said to be worth one million dollars.

During practically all of her 3,000 mile voyage the Deutschland passed through stormy weather by her powerful motor drove the craft thru the bilows and the master seamanship of Captain Koenig saved her from mis-

FOOTBALL SATURDAY DONALDSON-CARY

Both Teams in Form—Close Game Predicted Between the Schools.

Donaldson has succeeded in securing a game with the heavy team from the Cary High School for next Saturday, and the present indications point toward a hard fought and spirited contest. Although Cary is one of the leading prep schools in the state still this is the first year in football, but in spite of this handicap she has been showing very good form, only recently holding the strong Raleigh High to a close score. Donaldson also lost to Raleigh by 9 to 0 score therefore if comparison of scores means anything these two teams will be somewhat evenly matched and Donaldson will have her hands full to capture her winning drive. The Cary team is being coached by Ted Stafford, former star for A. and M. who has his men are expected to show the usual coaching ability by the brand of playing they will exhibit on Saturday.

The Donaldson boys have been working with a vim since they defeated Wilmington last week and their aim is no more defeats of victories. From among some of her friends in close touch with her camp it has been learned that Donaldson is playing something in the way of a big surprise which they intend springing at the game Saturday. Not only to demoralize Cary but also to furnish some spectacular plays for the large crowd which is expected to be on hand to encourage them in their splendid playing they have exhibited this year. These boys have been showing extraordinary form for Fayetteville.

The lineup will be awarded later.

SUBMARINE POLICY UNITED STATES AND GERMANY OUTLINED

Official Statement by Secretary Lansing and Count von Bernstorff.

NO CHANGE U. S. ATTITUDE

While Bernstorff Declares Ger- many has Made Her Pledges to the United States and Does Not Desire to Violate Them.

(By International News Service.)

Washington, Nov. 1.—Secretary of State Lansing announced today that the State Department would neither act or comment on the cases of the Marina and Rowanmore, British ships supposedly sunk by German submarines until the German government has had an opportunity to investigate the incident.

A reasonable time will be given after the investigation being conducted by this government has been completed to reply to the State Department's requests for information concerning the attacks. Mr. Lansing indicated that it might be necessary for the submarine commanders to return their bases before Germany can furnish the information sought.

Both Secretary Lansing and Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, were designed to remove any misapprehension which might exist regarding the policies of either government.

Count Bernstorff said: "I have asked for information from my Government because I have considered every report until now improbable, on account of the German pledges and also on account of the fact that I do not believe anybody at four o'clock in the morning could see a torpedo looking like a white fish. "The German government has given its promise, and the German government has always kept its promise.

Mr. Lansing said: "I have to say I can give out in regard to the Marina and the other vessel in which you are interested, but I feel that I ought to say this and you may quote me if you wish: "The fact that a political campaign is in progress will do no way vary the practice of the department in regard to making a full investigation of cases of this kind. We shall do it as we always have and with as much celerity as possible.

"And I would like to say one other thing: "The question has been raised as to whether there has been any change in policy on the part of the President or the department in regard to submarine warfare since the Sussex, and I wish to say emphatically that there has been no change in any particular.

The policy referred to by Secretary Lansing was that declared in the several notes of the United States to Germany in the subject of submarine warfare in which it was declared that warning must be given and provision made for the safety of passengers and crews before a merchant ship is sunk.

The fact that the Marina carried a 17 inch gun, and is believed to have been previously in the admiralty service may affect materially the decision of this government.

Dispatches from London stated today that the Marina may have engaged in admiralty work not long before she was destroyed.
