FAYETTEVILLE—A writer in the Raleigh Progress, writing from Fayetteville, concludes his letter as follows:

A short time before Sherman's visit I dreamed that I saw a grave of enormous length, and at one end stood a towering monument on which was engraved the singular "Fayetteville," "Prophetic dream!"

If this is a prediction of the future fate of Fayetteville, and the expression of a fear of the decrease of its trade and the loss of its prosperity, the writer had at one time, we admit, some show of reason for his forebodings. Doubtless, when he penned this choice literary morsel, displaying in such flattering colors his good taste, his courtesy, and, probably, if his past history were known, his gratitude for the place in which he was raised and in which he gained a support—he called to his mind the desolate appearance of the old town a few days after the great army, marching by wings and divisions through the "Sunny South," converged and formed one united and destructive host in Cumberland County, and swept through the streets of this place, to strike terror and horror to the faint and despairing hearts of aged men, pleading, helpless women and defenceless children. Doubtless he remembers that when the steady tramp of their victorious columns, growing fainter in the distance, was lost in their onward march, to be hurled against the opposing forces at Bentonsville, there to strike even unto death many for whom the people here were waiting and sorrowing; when the yells and oaths of robbers and marauders, and the tramping and neighing of booty-laden mules and horses, were at length heard no longer, the citizens gathered in the streets in little knots and groups, anxious-looking, care-worn and nearly heart-broken. Perhaps this correspondent has experienced of his own this period, and knows that all realized the fact that the short space of three or four days had been sufficient to dissipate the hard earnings of years, and scatter the whole wealth of a lifetime. Poverty, poverty, want and ruin were written on every face, and stamped as a blight upon every object. Bank stock was utterly worthless, the currency had become mere trash, the factories were burned, and real estate was without value.

It was a prospect gloomy enough to make the stentest heart sink, and it was calculated to discourage while it could not fail to cause grief and keen regret in the heart of every good citizen who really loves his native town. The disastrous effects of the late war upon Fayetteville were of course beyond the control of her people, and so far from having attached any disgrace, are, in our estimation, an honor to its history. This community labored devotedly for the Confederacy; the men and women toiled for it; they sent soldiers in defence of it, and almost maintained them in the field; they gave money in behalf of the cause; they staked all upon its success, and with the fall of the government the shock was proportionately severe. If the writer of the article to which we refer, is a native of Fayetteville, then the tone and spirit which he assumes in his correspondence to the Raleigh paper would lead one to doubt his affection for the spot which should be dear to him. If he is not, we question the good taste of writing anything upon a subject regarding which his information must necessarily be meagre and imperfect.

Lastly, we deny the truth of any such prediction. This important augur made quite an oracular sentence of his remarkable dream. But why the revival of the prosperity and thrift of Fayetteville should not be possible and even probable, we are unable to see. There are many resources for the accumulation of wealth and capital, entirely independent of the existence of the ordinary avenues and facilities for trade and barter, and they are too, the means of establishing a prosperity more durable and certain than that which is the consequence of mercantile business and the shipment of produce. It will be a long time, we confess, before the realization of any scheme for our improvement will take place. Our prostration has been too thorough to admit of a speedy recuperation. But the advantages for the establishment and carrying on of any and every description of manufactures are in our reach, in our midst, and in a degree superior to any other section of North Carolina. As the future takes some definite and gradually removed, and the energy and industry become available and developed, a field will be offered here for all the work that the hand has to do. We could, if necessary, refer to places in the Northern States and in England water-power for extensive machinery, which we possess, which from small, insignificant towns have grown to large, well built cities, supported solely by manufactures, and without any assistance from the usual trade of seaports or central commercial towns. We lack at the present day what they had in the beginning—a sufficiency of credit and capital. But if we will hereafter pursue the only course left for us, we may fit our children for fully regaining the fortunes we have lost. The last of the few years which we may have yet to live will show the blackened signs of ruin and warfare on every thing around us, but those who come after us may build upon our calamities wealth, riches and prosperity.

Let us commence in our common schools the instruction of the Physical Sciences, the laws of Mechanics, Natural (not mental) Philosophy, the principles of Mixed Mathematics, and every other important study calculated to make good managers and business men.

The folly of making the practice of two professions,—the Law and Medicine—the great end of every course of education has by this time become apparent. All men are not suited for those vocations, nor does the world need the services of every one in the same department of industry. We must have machinists and mechanics, and with our own people self-reliant and independent, the future must bring with it success. The work of the hand is as respectable and dignified as the work of the head. "By the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," and he is the true man who labors best to fulfil the injunctions of his Creator.

MEETING OF MAGISTRATES.—We are glad to be able to announce to our readers, as a matter of general interest, that at the meeting of the magistrates of Cumberland County, held at the Court House in Fayetteville on Thursday, the 6th inst., an order was passed authorizing the committee previously appointed, to make a contract immediately to rebuild the County Jail.

There were also committees appointed to rebuild the following bridges on Big and Little Rockfish and Lower Little River—three for each bridge: McKee's Bridge, Davis's Bridge, McNeill's Bridge, and the bridge across Rockfish on the Gauden road. In fact steps were taken to put in good condition all the bridges south and west of us, with instructions to proceed at once with the work. We may expect an early repair and improvement of all the routes of travel to this place, throughout the county.

A New and Grand Epoch IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE.

THESE wonderful medicines are now so familiar to the people that but little endorsement of their value as a physic need be made. The pills of Dr. Magguel contain no mineral. They do not gripe, and they do not enfeeble the system by extreme purging. They are universal in creating

A VIGOROUS APETITE! And correspondingly strengthen the digestion. They tone the liver, clear the head, and steady the nerves. To those who are not familiar with the use of DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS as an anti-bilious remedy, the following extracts from various letters will be, it is hoped, of sufficient importance to justify the quoting of them here:

WHAT THE PATIENTS SAY OF DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE. "The best Pills for headache I ever had." "My liver works like an engine, thanks to your Pills." "I am pleased to say to you, Dr. Magguel, that I would not be without a box of your Pills for curing me of morning nausea for the world."

"You will find enclosed one dollar. Your Pills are only 25 cents, but I consider them worth to me one dollar." "Dear Doctor—My tongue had a fur on it every morning like the back of a cat. Your pills took it away."

I took half a pill and crushed it to powder, and gave it in jelly to my little babe for cholera morbus. The dear little pet was well in three hours after." "I suppose it is hardly worth while to tell you my burned foot has got well from the use of your Salve. Enclosed find 25 cents for another box to keep in the house."

"Send me another box of Salve." "Enclosed find 75 cents for two boxes of your Magguel's Pills and one of Salve." "The most gentle yet searching medicine I ever swallowed."

MAGGIEL'S PILLS AND SALVE Are almost universal in their effects, and a cure can be almost always guaranteed. FOR BILIOUS DISEASES Nothing can be more productive of cure than these Pills. Their almost magic influence is felt at once; and the usual concomitants of this most distressing disease are removed. These remedies are made from the purest VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS. They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed doses to the youngest babe. FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS And all eruptions of the skin the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS INVARIABLELY CURE THE FOLLOWING DISEASES: Asthma, Headache, Bowel Complaints, Indigestion, Coughs, Influenza, Colds, Inflammation, Chest Diseases, Liver Weakness, Costiveness, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Lowness of Spirits, Diarrhoea, Ringworm, Dropsy, Salt Rheum, Debility, Scalds, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases.

Each box contains 12 Pills. ONE PILL IS A DOSE. Notice—None genuine without the engraved trade mark around each pot or box, signed by DR. J. MAGGIEL, New York, to counterfeit which is felony. Sold by all respectable Dealers in medicine throughout the United States and Canada, at 25 cents per box or pot.

For sale by JAS. N. SMITH, Druggist and Apothecary, Market Square, Fayetteville, N. C. 20-wasw-12m Aug. 21.

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE! DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantities, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores, with a box or so of his wonderful and healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Magguel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so-called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Magguel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Magguel's Pills suffice to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no gripping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Magguel's Salve. In fact it is here announced that Magguel's Pills cure, Dyspepsia and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While our Burrs, Scotch Children's Cuts, and all abrasions of the skin Magguel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. Magguel, 11 Pine St. New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cents per box.
