

Cook's 7 Cs. J. N. EMMITT—For Sale. J. D. McNeill—Fire Notice. D. G. MacRae—Commissioner's Sale.

Through from Wilson. Col. Gardner informs us that by the 1st of October trains will be running over the Wilson Short-cut from Wilson to Fayetteville.

Meeting of the Township Democratic Executive Committee. We would remind the members of the several township executive committees that there will be a meeting of said committees in the Town Hall on Saturday next, 18th inst. A full attendance is requested.

In Their New Quarters. Messrs. Rankin & Scomb have moved into their new store, and, big as it is, they haven't any more room than they need. Stacks of goods are piled up in "rich profusion." As we have before mentioned, this is one of the largest and best arranged business houses in Fayetteville.

The Mendelssohn Quintette Club. We have received from the agent a letter, stating that this celebrated concert company will appear here during this season. The Mendelssohn Quintette Company has almost a world-wide reputation, and a rare treat is in store for the people of Fayetteville. Miss Alice Ryan, is the "prima donna soprano."

An Error Corrected. In our report of the County Commissioners' Court, published last week, the last item under the head of bills allowed should read, "A. A. McCaskill, full fees in case of lunacy, $1.00," instead of "A. A. McCaskill, issuing warrant, $1.00," as printed. We make this correction at the request of the Clerk of the Commissioners' Court.

Religious Notes. Night services in the Fayetteville Baptist Church will be resumed next Sabbath at 8 p. m. Daily religious services were conducted by the Rev. F. W. Eason at the Baptist Church in Manchester, this county, during all of last week. Twelve professions of religion were made. Rev. Mr. Edwards, the regular pastor, is continuing the meeting during this week.

The Membership of Cumberland and Harriet. The following resolution, adopted by the Cumberland County Democratic Convention Sept. 4th, was inadvertently omitted in the proceedings of that body published last week: "Be it Resolved, That the Secretary of this Convention be instructed to inform the Harriet County Democrats that hereafter Cumberland will claim the right to name the Senator twice to Harriet's office."

A Hammoth Newspaper. We saw the other day a copy of the Melbourne (Australia) Leader, which had been sent to Mrs. N. H. Cohen, of our town, by her brother, who lives in Melbourne. The Leader is a weekly journal of art, politics and everything in general, we should judge, for it contains 48 pages of 5 columns each—240 columns—affording ample room for the editor to treat on every known subject.

A Merited Compliment. Mr. Hal. W. Ayer, traveling correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer, who, by the way, is a very graceful writer, has this to say of one of Fayetteville's oldest business houses: "Probably the most extensive carriage and buggy works in the State are located here. State papers almost from 1820 to date contain advertisements of A. A. McKethan & Son, carriage manufacturers. The buildings cover and enclose about an acre of ground and are in charge of a foreman who has been in the employ of the firm for fifty-one years and never lost any time from sickness."

Farmers, Read This. Tobacco planters who bring their weed to Fayetteville will not only have the advantage of dealing with a warehouse where they can get full value, but will find Fayetteville merchants wide-awake and ready to sell goods at close figures. We can safely say that Fayetteville merchants carry better selected stocks than any tobacco town in the State. In most tobacco towns the merchants carry mixed stocks. In Fayetteville a dry goods merchant sells dry goods only, and a grocer sells groceries only. Of course, when a merchant deals in only one line, his stock is better selected and larger and his prices are very apt to be lower. Hence, Fayetteville's advantage can be seen at a glance.

A Thorough Study to be Made. Attention is called to the following from Washington City. It will be noted that information concerning the earthquake, "even of an apparently trivial character," is desired from every possible source: "WASHINGTON, Sept. 6, 1886.—The Geological Survey, in pursuance of the purpose of the Director to make a thorough study of the phenomenon of the earthquake of August 31st, has prepared a circular to be sent to all parts of the affected area and adjacent country, calling for detailed information upon the subject from whoever may have information, even of an apparently trivial character, to impart. The server is requested, first, to state his own position, whether indoors or out, upstairs or down, whether standing, walking or sitting, and to describe the ground of his locality, whether rocky, earthy or sandy."

Called to French at New Brunswick, N. J. The Henderson correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer writes that Rev. M. V. McDuffie, of the Baptist Church at Henderson, has accepted a call lately tendered him by the Remsen Avenue Baptist Church of New Brunswick, N. J. This is a large and prosperous church of a city of 20,000 inhabitants, about thirty or forty miles from New York city.

The Rev. Mr. McDuffie is a native of Fayetteville, and is well-known to most of our readers, who will be pleased to hear of his success and usefulness in life. He is a very eloquent preacher, and from the account given of his work by the correspondent, has been doing good service in Henderson. Mr. McDuffie entered the pastorate of the Baptist Church in January, 1881, while a student at Wake Forest, where he graduated in June of that year. During his pastorate a new brick church has been nearly completed, at a cost of $5,300, and of the present members of his church sixty-eight have been added during his administration, while in the line of missionary work he has organized a church at Middleburg and one near Littleton. The correspondent says: "He is one of the ablest of the young men of this State, and hosts of his friends will regret his departure."

Meeting for the Relief of the Charleston Sufferers.

In accordance with the call published in last week's OBSERVER AND GAZETTE, a meeting of the citizens was held on Monday afternoon last, in the Town Hall, for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of suffering Charleston. Capt. N. W. Ray was made chairman and Messrs. E. L. Pemberton and S. G. Worth were appointed secretaries.

Dr. J. A. Hodges and Mr. James D. McNeill, who have just returned from Charleston, were called upon to give the meeting some idea of the suffering and destitution in that place and Summerville. These gentlemen addressed the meeting, and their remarks were very clear and forcible, showing that the state of affairs was most deplorable and that the newspaper accounts had not been at all overdrawn. Several other gentlemen made speeches, favoring immediate action in behalf of the sufferers.

Dr. Hodges, in his remarks, said that he had no wish to make a statement which would paint Charleston's condition as so deplorable that any person would be induced to give beyond his means. He knew our people were poor, and he simply desired that each individual should contribute according to his ability. The suffering and destitution, however, appealed to the sympathies of every one. Not only were houses destroyed and people thrown out to sleep in the open air, but the sanitary condition of the city was most terrible—filth and garbage abounding everywhere, which was certain to result in sickness and death if the condition of affairs was not bettered. Dr. Hodges' experience as a physician peculiarly fit him to judge of the needs of the people at such a time, and his words should not fall unheeded.

Maj. McRae reminded the citizens of Fayetteville that in our great fire of 1831 Charleston came promptly to our aid with a magnificent gift of $6,000. Now let us show that we have not forgotten the generosity of our sister city in her hour of sorest need.

Mr. Thos. H. Sutton then moved that a committee of five (three white and two colored) be appointed in each ward to canvass for contributions, and also that the pastors of the different churches in Fayetteville and throughout the county be requested to take up collections for the same purpose. The motion was warmly seconded by Maj. D. G. McRae and Col. W. J. Green in appropriate speeches, and was adopted with the amendment that the canvassers (to be appointed by the chair) should report to an adjourned meeting on Monday afternoon next, 20th inst. The meeting then adjourned.

We hope that the citizens, throughout the town and county, will do all they can in responding to this call. We know the scarcity of money is very prevalent, but the great suffering and destitution entailed upon the noble people of Charleston and Summerville by the terrible visitation a few days ago appeal strongly to our sympathies. Let each individual, then, give what he can, be it much or little, and we are confident that the result will be a handsome donation from Fayetteville and this section.

The following is a list of the canvassers for Fayetteville appointed by the chairman: White—A. H. Scomb, A. Garrison, Joseph Atkins, A. B. Williams, M. Faulk, R. G. Haigh, R. W. Hardie, Geo. Rosenthal, L. W. Clark, T. H. Sutton, E. T. McKethan, W. H. Tomlinson, R. P. Buxton, F. R. Rose, G. P. McNeill, Colored—A. J. Chesnut, C. C. Bell, Geo. C. Scurlock, J. R. McNeill, A. J. Henderson, Thos. Broadfoot, J. S. Leary, Joshua Council. We have been requested to state that persons visiting Fayetteville from the country, who desire to contribute, can place their contributions with any one of the above committee.

A Vigilant Revenue Officer—He Gathers in the "Crooked" Whiskey. Col. J. A. Pemberton, deputy collector at this place, is "making things lively" for "blockaders" and illicit distillers.

About two weeks ago Col. Pemberton arrested and lodged in the Lumberton jail an illicit distiller who had been engaged in his "crooked" work on the South Carolina line. On last Saturday morning Col. Pemberton left Fayetteville at 3 o'clock, and after a ride of sixteen miles over a very rough road, succeeded in finding near McFayden's Springs the object of his search—an illicit whiskey distillery. The distiller, an old Randolph blockader, made his escape. Col. Pemberton seized the still—a 15-gallon concern—a keg of whiskey, a quantity of mash, low wine and everything else found on the premises.

On Tuesday night last our vigilant deputy got the scent of five barrels of "blockade" whiskey that had just come to town in a wagon. This too was seized for "crookedness" in stamps.

Col. Pemberton has in the last two weeks seized and detained together about 17 barrels of whiskey and brandy for violations of the revenue law.

We will say in behalf of the Colonel, that we do not think he at all takes a delight in these seizures, but he is determined to do his duty as an officer. From present indications we think he will soon have things pretty "straight" in his territory.

Death's Doings. The Washington Post announces the death in Washington city, on the 6th inst., of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Sprightley, mother of the late William Harmon Bayne. Mrs. Sprightley lived for a long time in Fayetteville, and had a large circle of friends. She was the wife of the late William Harmon Bayne, editor of the North Carolinian. After the death of Mr. Bayne, she married Mr. Sprightley, with whom she removed to Washington city, where she has since resided.

Mrs. Julia Overby died in Pittsburg, N. C., on the 6th inst. Mrs. Overby was the wife of Mr. Geo. F. Overby, formerly of Fayetteville, and had many warm friends and admirers in this place. She left two sons. The Record speaks highly of her virtues and noble efforts to aid her orphan sisters and maintain her little flock until death's summons came.

Collections in the Churches. At the citizens' meeting held last Monday a resolution was adopted, requesting the pastors of all churches in Fayetteville and Cumberland county to take up collections for the relief of the Charleston sufferers. We direct special attention to this call, and will add that all funds collected will be safely forwarded by the chairman of the meeting, Capt. N. W. Ray.

At the suggestion of the Rev. Dr. Huske, the meeting decided that the time of taking up collections in the churches mentioned above be left to the discretion of the pastors of said churches, so that ample notice might be given to the congregations.

An Appointment Worthily Reselected.

At a recent meeting of the Independent Company, Capt. J. C. Vann offered a resolution making the Rev. Dr. J. C. Huske an honorary member and Chaplain of that command. We print below the resolution and Dr. Huske's letter of acceptance.

WHEREAS The office of Chaplain of this Company being vacant and should be filled at once, and in the Rev. Dr. Joseph C. Huske we have a pure, christian gentleman, more than qualified to fill this honorable position; one whose name has been closely associated with and revered by this grand old Company for more than half a century; six brothers of whom, have served with honored distinction and gallantry in capacities from private to Major Commandant in times of peace, and in times of war; and whose six sons now swell our ranks with manly dignity, a credit to the command, an honor to themselves and a protection to our community; therefore,

Resolved, That the Rev. Dr. Jos. C. Huske be elected an honorary life member of this organization, and that he be elected to the position of Chaplain of our command by a rising vote.

The above resolution was unanimously adopted, and the secretary was requested to forward a copy of the same to Dr. Huske. Aug. 30, 1886.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 11, 1886. Mr. William J. McDuffie, Jr., Secretary, etc. My Dear Sir—Your letter conveying to me the resolutions of the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Company, of the 30th inst., electing me an honorary member and Chaplain of the same, has been received with feelings of unusual gratification.

I am reluctant, at any time of life and in my state of health, to assume a position which may involve duties which I should not be able to perform with efficiency. But thoroughly sympathizing as I do and ever have done with the grand old Company in all its interests, bound to it by ties so many and so strong—indeed I may say by the memories of a life-time—pride of its fame, and anxious to do all I can to promote its welfare, I cannot refuse a call so unanimous and one which does so great an honor to me.

I, therefore, hereby accept the office tendered to me by these resolutions and beg that you will assure the company of my deep sense of its kindness and my prayers to the Almighty for His blessing upon it. Yours truly, J. C. HUSKE.

Good for the F. I. L. Company.

At a meeting of the Independent Company on Monday night, 13th inst., (the first business meeting since the earthquake), the following resolution was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That in view of the disastrous earthquake in the city of Charleston and the urgent need of its suffering people, the officers and members of the F. I. L. Company are requested to contribute to a relief fund, said contribution to be forwarded without delay to the Mayor of Charleston.

Resolved, That the secretary and financial secretary be appointed to receive all contributions from the active, honorary and contributing members, and are requested to forward the same at once in behalf of the company.

Under this resolution the handsome sum of $125.00 was contributed by the members of the company. This is a good example for the rest of our citizens to follow, and if the same liberality and promptness in responding is universally shown, Fayetteville will have no cause to be ashamed of her contribution to Charleston.

Maj. Courtenay, present Mayor of Charleston, was commander of the company representing South Carolina in the Centennial Celebration at Philadelphia in 1876, and was thus thrown with the members of the Independent Company. Therefore, the handsome donation from our boys will perhaps give added pleasure from the pleasant reminiscences awakened of ten years ago.

The Cumberland County Fair.

We call attention to the proceedings of a meeting of the Cumberland County Agricultural Society, held on Thursday last. Several very sensible resolutions were adopted, showing that under its new management the Fair gives promise of renewed good work for our farming interests.

First, no gambling will be allowed on the grounds. Second, no free invitations will be extended to any schools. Third, the citizens of Marlboro Co., S. C., and Wilson Co., N. C., are invited to compete for exhibits at the next Fair.

It is such a self-evident fact that gamblers and swindlers should be kept out of the grounds that no comment is necessary on this point.

The Cumberland Fair claims to be devoted to the agricultural, and not the educational, interests of our people, we never could see the wisdom of having schools on exhibition, free of charge. Therefore, we think the Executive Committee did right in adopting the second resolution.

It is very important that Fayetteville and Cumberland county should take advantage of the new opportunities offered us through the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley and the Wilson railroads, and the invitation extended to Marlboro and Wilson counties by the Executive Committee is a step in the right direction.

LOCAL TWINKLINGS.

Mr. G. W. Williams, of Wilmington, is in town. Col. and Mrs. J. W. Hinsdale are in Fayetteville on a visit.

We regret to hear of the sickness of Col. C. W. Broadfoot.

Mrs. R. F. Peterson has returned from a visit to her parents in Sanford.

Scuppernon grapes are coming to town in great quantities. They are selling very low.

Mr. R. M. Nimocks has laid a solid cement pavement in front of his two handsome stores on Hay street.

Read Chief of Fire Department McNeill's notice in this issue. The matter he calls attention to is an important one.

Two more of our Cumberland boys, Josie McArthur and David McBrady, left for Davidson College on Saturday last.

On Sunday morning last at 3 o'clock fire consumed a small dwelling house in Campbellton, near Williams' oil mill. The house was owned by Mr. E. L. Pemberton, and was insured.

Read the interesting letter of Mr. James D. McNeill, giving a thrilling account of the state of affairs at Charleston. Some idea of how much the sufferers need help can be there obtained.

September: The delicious bivalve is in season. The poet says, "The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year." Maybe the poe was dyspeptic, and could not eat oysters. Or perhaps he did not like them.

We regret to learn that the Rev. J. M. Beasley was stricken with paralysis on last Sunday evening. Mr. Beasley was at supper with his family, and in his usual good health, when the stroke came upon him, descending the left side of his body. Dr. McDuffie, his attending physician, reports his case as gradually improving, however, and we hope to soon see him on our streets again.

Arkansas Democratic.

Partial returns from half the counties in Arkansas do not materially change the first estimates of the result. While the combinations between the Republican and other elements affected the result in certain counties and defeated local Democratic tickets, the Democratic losses and gains appear to balance each other throughout the State, and there is the usual majority for that party. The labor ticket carried two counties, and has received about 4,500 votes in the State, drawn equally from both the other parties.

MARRIED.

KENNEDY-JOHNSON.—In this town, on the 14th inst., by Rev. F. W. Eason, Mr. E. J. H. KENNEDY to Miss MARY K. JOHNSON.

DIED.

MCARTAIN.—On Sunday, Aug. 15, 1886, in Bladen county, N. C., at the home of her grandparents, MARY EMILY, eldest daughter of Colin and Lillie McArtain, aged 3 years and 11 days. Another namesed soul has learned the song of the redeemed, and with the Savior, who loves little children, waits to welcome her dear ones on the other shore. It is the belief of those who believe in such affecting dispensations of Providence the hand of love, yet we do feel and know that "God is love" that when hearts are clinging too fondly to earthly objects, in love He sends the death angel, and takes them away. One by one He is severing the ties that bind us to earth. God grant that one by one He is twisting the golden threads that will link us to the shining shore. Weep not, fond parents, for "it is well with the child." What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter.

How sweet it will be in that beautiful land, So free from all sorrow and pain, With songs on our lips and harps in our hand, To meet one another again. C. F.

SHRINER'S INDIAN VERMIFUGE DESTROYED AND EXPULSED WORMS THIRTY YEARS AGO.

We are glad to see the public waking up to the question of food adulterations. It is a vital one to every home. Among the principal necessities of the kitchen pure lard is paramount. Our families have recognized this in the favorite brand of W. P. Harvey & Co. It has been sold on this market a number of years with the greatest satisfaction. It is warranted strictly pure and free from all adulteration. Every one of our retail grocers keeps it constantly on hand. Mr. W. S. Cook represents W. P. Harvey & Co., Baltimore and Chicago, on this market.

Unprecedented Inducements IN CARPETS

Anticipating an advance in Carpets, Rugs, Oil Cloths, etc., I, a few weeks ago, made my selections, and secured the most extensive and perfect stock of this class of goods I have ever been my pleasure to exhibit. Heretofore I have not possessed that amplitude of store room necessary to properly exhibit and carry such a stock of Carpets as I desired. That, however, is now remedied, and with wide and spacious rooms and lofty ceilings, I show the handsomest exhibition establishment in the State. Floor coverings of every description have materially advanced in the last few days, but on account of our early purchases we are enabled to offer them at prices less than they would cost you ordered from New York.
