In addition, the new crop of wheat is now being harvested, and will require the bulk of the time of the mill, night and day, to accommodate my patrons, many of whom some in wagons 15 to 30 miles to mill in order to get my O. K. FLOUR for their wheat. This extra demand upon my capacity absolutely compels me to restrict my wholesale meal trade for a while. In the meantime, I will try and maintain stock enough to supply my regular trade at the mill at the popular prices always to be ob-

I'll do my best to supply the best bread making material and high-grade feed stuffs to those who have so generously patronized me for the past 20 years. Respectfully, JAS. D. McNEILL, Prop'r,

MERCHANT MILLS. Mill kept open until 9:30 Saturday nights for the benefit of the laboring people.
