

FOURTH OF JULY

There was quite a good gathering of representative citizens in the city hall at noon July 4th, for the quiet but intelligent and thoughtful observance of the national holiday.

On motion, it was resolved that a committee of ten citizens, with Capt. J. D. McNeill as chairman, be named to take steps for the proper celebration of July 4th, 1907.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. MacPherson was the scene of a pretty marriage on July 3rd at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Fannie B., became the wife of Mr. A. W. MacIntyre, of Clio, S. C.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. V. G. Smith in the presence of about thirty of the bride's nearest relatives and friends.

Immediately after the ceremony delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. MacIntyre is one of South Carolina's large and prosperous farmers, and Mrs. MacIntyre one of Cumberland's fair and accomplished daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. MacIntyre left on the 5 o'clock train for their home near Clio, S. C.

Call to Burgaw. Rev. V. G. Smith, pastor of Sunnyside Presbyterian church, has received a call to fill the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Burgaw, N. C.

Destroyed by lightning. On Tuesday afternoon lightning struck the warehouse of Mr. Downing at Cedar Creek, burning it to the ground, and destroying goods valued at $1,000 or more.

Moore's Creek. Mr. J. H. Grover, of this city, delivers an address at Moore's Creek Battle Ground on Friday, 20th inst.—not the formal commemoration of that historic engagement, which would be antihistorical, but a combined celebration and reunion picnic, which, it is expected, will be attended by a large gathering of the people of the lower Cape Fear country.

Some North Carolina Boys in Florida

BOONVILLE, Fla., July 1, 1906. Mr. Editor: I will endeavor to write a few lines to your grand paper. When I get home, because it tells me all of the news of the neighborhood.

Well, dear reader, I will try to give you a description of my trip: I left Fayetteville February 18, 1906, and speeded my way for the South. The first place—or at least the first town—was Florence, S. C. I reached that place at 9 p. m. I did not have time to get off and look around, but it looked more like a mill pond than it did a town, so the black horse sped away on her long journey.

Well, now back on my journey again. I am speeding down through old Florida now, but it looks like starvation. In the most of Georgia that I saw, I could not see a thing but frog ponds and palmetto bushes all over the woods, and once in a while I could see a little bunch of cattle huddled up together.

Well, now we awake in Florida, the first time in our life. There is a right good number of Tar Heel boys here: Messrs. Joe and Roland Hall, of Cedar Creek; W. L. Hall, of Roseboro; C. D. Sikes, of York; G. B. Smith, Bladen county, and the writer, who is from Fayetteville. Up to now, not any of the boys have left here except Messrs. W. L. Hall and G. B. Smith; that is, of the single boys.

Florida is a fine country for a young man to come to. It looks to me to be a good farming country, if the people could get hold of the timber.

Mr. Editor, spare me the space in your paper this time, and I will not bother you any more soon. Hope you and the readers of the Observer much success.

Yours truly, C. L. SMITH. Spout Springs, Fla.

Mr. Editor: I will step in and let the readers know that, although I have been absent for some weeks past, I am not dead yet.
