Davis Fairley Marriage.

One of the most beautiful house marriages taking place as ent upper Cape Fear people in many | VER know nothing of the halcyon years was that which united Mr. E. G. Davis, a talented young lawyer of gray-haired remember when it was Dunn, and Miss Nan Fairley, the the wholesale grocery district of Fay- ble, thus relieving almost instantly charming daughter of Rev. David Fairley, at the family homestead last week, Rev. Watson Fairley, pastor of the Fayetteville First Presbyterian church, and brother of the bride, performing the impressive ceremony.

The hall and parlors of the hospitable country home were tastefully decorated in ferns, mistletoe, and other woodland greens, with an artistic setting of chrysanthemums and carnations, the color scheme being green and white. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and after the marriage a delighful wedding supper was served.

The bride was gowned in white net over taffeta silk, with the bridal veil and orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of bride roses. The maid of honor, Miss Ida Fairley, sister of the bride, wore pink organdie, and carried pink carnations. The bridesmaids were Misses Nellie Davis, Louise Robinson, Eloise McDiarmid, and Roxie Hodges, attired in white organdie, with trimming of green ribbons, and carrying maiden-hair

The best man was the brother of the groom, Dr. Hoagland C. Davis, of Baltimore. The groom's gift to his bride was a beautiful diamond and pearl brooch. The wedding party were entertained at lunch Thursday at Holly Hill.

D. Emerson, of Wilmington. The decorations of the altar were asparagus fern, with carnations and lilies of the valley, while the Southern smilax wound in graceful folds around the chancel rail. Over the broad mantel were vases of the gorgeous American Beauty roses, set off by smilax and Alpine violets. The hall was decorated in ferns and American Beauty roses, the lights softened by pink shades. The dining-room was "done" with rare skill and taste in white narcissus, carnations and smilax, the wedding feast table set off in bride roses and orange blossoms.
