

SUPERIOR COURT HAS ADJOURNED. Judge Webb Leaves For Baltimore.

It was not more than half an hour after Judge Webb had sentenced Tom Walker to be hung yesterday afternoon, that the March term of the Superior Court adjourned sine die.

Judge Webb left last night for Baltimore, to take his daughter, who has been ill in a hospital, to their home in Shelby.

During the solemnity of the trial of Walker, an incident occurred that caused a little ripple of merriment. It was just after the news reached the court room Tuesday that Walker had attempted suicide and the great crowd was waiting breathlessly for the arrival of the physicians to inform the court of the nature of Walker's wounds, that a tall, dark mustached man, a little the worse for drink, a stranger heretofore, arose from his seat and with uncertain steps, passed in front of the judge, to whom he waved his hand and said: "When you need me, judge, just send for me. I think I will go and take a nap." Judge Webb looked at the fellow and then turned to find the members of the Bar in a titter. When the judge, with an expression of "thirty days for contempt, sir," on his face, turned again to this important personage, he had disappeared. Then the stera lock disappeared and he smiled with the Bar and the spectators.

The following cases were disposed of during the term:

Tom Walker, murder, guilty, and sentenced to be hung on April 15.

Henry Pickett, carrying concealed weapons, pleaded guilty and sentenced to six months on the county roads.

James Blake, larceny, guilty, and sentenced to six months on county roads.

Howard Melvin, affray, guilty, sentenced to four months on roads or a fine of $10 and costs. He paid the fine and costs and was set at liberty.

Robert McCain, assault with a deadly weapon, in shooting and seriously wounding his brother's wife, found guilty and sentenced to eighteen months on the roads.

Ephriam Brown, carrying concealed weapons, pleaded guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

James Buchanan, grand jury returned a true bill for murder in the first degree; State accepted a plea of guilty of manslaughter; sentenced to twelve years in the State prison. The judge afterward reduced this sentence to eleven years. Buchanan, it will be recalled, killed Neill Kelly, another negro, in Rockfish.

Ed Williams, embezzlement; jury verdict of not guilty.

Graham Underwood, carrying concealed weapons; pleaded guilty and fined $10 and costs.

Why Do We Not Have a Union Depot in Fayetteville?

Is it not about time the people of Fayetteville were agitating for a Union Depot? The appended quotation from the Wilmington Messenger calls to mind the fact that Goldsboro— which has not half as many trains as Fayetteville—has secured a splendid union depot through the efforts of its citizens, backed by the Corporation Commission.

Says the Messenger:

"The Goldsboro Union Depot. Mr. Joe Leitner, the well-known local architect, member of the firm of Leitner & Wilkins, has returned from Raleigh, where on Wednesday he submitted the plans drawn by them to the corporation commission, for the new union station at Goldsboro. In regard to the matter, the Raleigh Times has the following:

"The members of the corporation commission are to-day considering the plans which have just been submitted for the new union passenger station which is to be built at Goldsboro for the use of the Atlantic Coast Line, Southern and Norfolk & Southern. Mr. Joe Leitner, of the firm of Leitner & Wilkins, of Wilmington, architects for the Coast Line, is here to go over the plans with the members of the commission and to explain anything that they may desire to know in regard to them. He was in Goldsboro yesterday and the plans were viewed by a delegation of citizens and they seemed pleased at the proposed station as it showed up from the drawing which had been made."

"The building is to be 220 feet long and 75 feet wide, will be of yellow pressed brick, with tile roof, the floors and heated by steam. It will be absolutely modern in every respect and in general appearance will be much like the union depot at Durham. Umbrella sheds will be used and there will be three of them. The building is to be three stories high and on the second floor will be the offices of the three roads. A tower will add to the effectiveness of the building. The new depot is to be located several blocks from the present station."

DATE OF FAYETTEVILLE FAIR. Will Probably Be Held the Fourth Week in October.

Mr. J. L. Tillinghast, secretary of the Cumberland County Fair Association, has received a letter from Mr. Garland Daniels, of the Greensboro Fair Association, giving the schedule of fairs agreed upon. The circuit begins in Virginia the first week in September and winds up in Charlotte the fourth week in October. This schedule leaves Fayetteville and Raleigh out. Raleigh, however, will hold the State Fair the third week in October, the same week that Greensboro is scheduled to hold her fair. Fayetteville will probably follow Raleigh and Greensboro, coming on the same week as the Charlotte fair.

Grand Jury Report.

The following is the report of the grand jury for the term just ended: State of North Carolina, Cumberland County. Report of Grand Jury for March term, 1907, Criminal Court. To His Honor Judge Webb, Presiding. The grand jury has examined 25 bills of indictment and rendered 20 true bills, 2 not true bills, and in all other bills of indictment the witnesses failed to answer and the bills were returned to the Solicitor. We have made four presentments. We have examined the Court House and offices and find the same kept cleanly and nice. We recommend that a bell be placed in a suitable place at the Court House to be rung just prior to court convening for the benefit of all attending court. We found the jail badly in need of repairs, especially the plumbing, and we recommend that the county commissioners be instructed to have all needed repairs done under the supervision of our sheriff as we think he knows best the needs of the jail. W. H. POWELL, Foreman.

Dunn Votes For Dispensary.

In the election held in Dunn yesterday the dispensary won by a majority of ten votes, after a strenuous fight. There were 137 votes for the establishment of the dispensary and 127 against the dispensary in favor of prohibition which now prevails in the town.

Until the polls were closed both sides were claiming a victory and the close vote indicates how well the people of the town were divided. The prohibitionists waged a strenuous campaign from the first, closing with addresses by Governor Glenn, Mr. J. W. Bailey, of the State Board, and other champions of the cause.

There were quite a number of bets made in Fayetteville on the result.

School Close at Godwin School House.

It was the privilege of a large congregation to attend the school close at Godwin school house, Thursday night, March 21st, and to speak of the occasion it was simply grand.

The singing, recitations and dialogues proved that the children had not spent the winter dreaming, but had (like the wise servant of old) improved their talents.

The songs of freedom and the six little girls dressed in the stars and stripes, red, white and blue, and two boys with badges of the same, showed that the youth of to-day had not forgotten what their fathers fought for.

We are glad to know that the grand old word, "Freedom," can still be heard from the mouths of our boys and girls.

The addresses delivered by Rev. D. B. Antry and Mr. J. M. Willford were extra. We would like to hear from them again.

The instrumental music, beautifully rendered by Miss Horne and Messrs. Geddies, Sessions and Williamson, added much to the interest of the occasion.

We would be glad to attend another one.

Hon. W. W. Kitchen Here May 20th.

Hon. W. W. Kitchen, Congressman from the Fifth District, and the leader of the North Carolina delegation in Congress, will deliver the annual address before the graduating class of the Fayetteville Graded School, on Monday night, May 20th.

Mr. Kitchen is one of the most eloquent speakers in the State, and is one of the ablest men in Congress.

This visit will also be of interest at his time as he is a candidate for Governor to succeed Glenn.
