A Splendid Scene.

An Associated Press dispatch from

Denver vesterday says: cheers from ten throats, with the swell of political oratory and the inspiring spectacle of a vast multitude of people the Democratic National Convention began its deliberations to-day. The session. lasting a little over two hours, was more notable for its impressive magnitude and spectacular efforts than for the business accomplished. It gave however, the opportunity for the awakening of echoes of convention enthuslasm, the keynote speech of the temporary presiding officer, Theodore A. Bell, of California, a heated skirmish incidental to the contest in the Pennsylvania delegation and finally an unanimous tribute of homage and res pect to the memory of the late Grover Cleveland. But the enthusiasm of the session was comparatively brief. intermittent and tempestuous, without that long sustained and frenzied clamor which is still reserved for the future. The day was devoted to the primary formalities and the commit tees appointed are now at work perfecting the permanent organization to proceed to-morrow.

Meantime the convention hosts chafe over the two day's delay, which must intervene before their great pur pose is accomplished— the nomination of a presidential candidate. The tide of Bryan sentiment sweeps on, gathering force as it proceeds and to-night the chorus of "Bryan, Bryan" is well nigh universal. "It was a stiring scene which was spread before Chairman Taggart at noon to-day, when with uplifted gave he sought to bring order out of the confused babel of sound and motion. The splendid amphitheatre, decorated with flags and bunting, was packed to its utmost limits with a dense and seething mass of humanity. Below in the central arena sat the delegates fust two more than an even thousand and back of them the 1,000 alternates -these two thousand the real conven tion with the destines of the party in their hands. Flanking them and sweeping around the hall were the long lines of eager, expectant onlookers rising tier on tier and gallery or gallery in solid masses, the brightness of the women in their gay costumes vieing with the splendors of Old Glory, which hung at every hand.

"Here and there amid this bewilder ing throng stood out the notable groups of leaders. Immediately in front and under the presiding officer's eye, were ranged the Nebraskan delegation, bronzed sons of the West headed by the cowboy mayor. Dahlman, the personal spokesman of Bry an. Well in front were the New York cohorts, with Chief Murphy, cold and impenetrable, and Judge Parker, rather serious faced. Further back Col. Guffey was the smiling center of his Pennsylvania adherents, and near him James Kerr, who is struggling to displace Guffey and take up the leadership. Illinois was to the left center. with the rotund Roger Sullivan to the fore. Further back Tom Johnson, the fighting mayor of Cleveland, moved ig his adherents until the gave sent him to his place among the distinguished guests upon the platform Near him there sat a notable groupthe venerable Senator Daniel, of Virginia, a type of the old-time Southern er, with Towne, the Vice-Presidential candidate and orator, and the tall, blonde waspy Congressman Sulzer, of New York. With the Virginians could be seen Governor Swanson: with Nevada's Governor Dickerson, and Senator Newlands; with Kentucky, Senator McCreary; with Missouri, Senator Stone, and occasionally ex-Governo Dockery and the redoubtable Champ Clark; with Idaho, former Senators Dubois and Heitfeldt and others to numerous to mention. "Off to the left the President" daughter, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, in fetching gown and Lady Gay Spanker hat with flowing plumage smiled from one of the boxes, and from another box, looked out the daughter of the Nebraska leader, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, beaming as she awaited the naming of her father for the presidency. On the platform, too, were many representatives of foreign countries, young Viscount De Chambran, of France; M. Kroupfsky, of Russia; Hon. H. F. Charters, of England and the ministers of Argentine Greece, Belgium and Chile."

Anti-Bryanites Capture Delegation.

By telegraph to Observer. Denver, July 8.-The anti-Bryanite captured the North Carolina delegation in the election of committeema at the meeting held for organization last night. at length, Senators Simmons and Overman, John D. Bellamy and Paul R. Means opposing the motion to give the two alternates a voice in the misting. Governor Glenn and Major Hale and others argued that the State was entitled to 24 delegates, and that such being the case, Gen. Carr and Mr. Arendell ought by right to be permited to take the places of the sheet felegates. Senators Simmons and Overman held that the two alternates resent could not act as delegates because they were not elected by the inrepresented districts. This line of argument prompted Governor Glenn to remark that the delegates not only ought to see that the four districts have representatives in the convenion, but that if they desired the maority under the instructions given by the State convention, could bind all the delegates. There were prompt replies of "No. No. No." from Senaor Simmons, Col. Means and Mr. Bel amy. A rising vote was taken, which howed eight for and eight against The motion, therefore, did not prevail and General Carr and Colonel Areatell were denied the right to act as telegates, though six delegates were absent. This was the preliminary to the pte for membership on the resolu ion committee. The fight was be ween Senztor Simmons and Major E Hale. It was decided to vote by Simmons received eight and dajor Hale six votes. Two delegates lid not vote. Afterwards the elecion of Senator Simmons was claimed is an anti-Bryan victory.

AN INTERESTING CASE BEFORE COUNTY BOARD OF EDU-CATION.

Croatans Want Separate School Es tablished.

The County Board of Education me it the Court House on Monday with Chairman J. A. Oates, Capt. J. H. Curie, and County Superintendent of Schools, Mr. B. T. McBryde present The third member of the Board, Mr. I. W. Hall, was unable to be present, owing to Illness.

The most interesting matter the came before the Board was a petition from certain parties, who say they are Croatan Indians, living in Upper Car vers' Creek, for the establishment of parate school, to be known as The Croatan Emergency School, They claim that they are now compelled t attend the colored school, or attennone at all. The negroes of that disrict oppose the netition claiming that the majority of those who call them selves Croatans, are not Indians, but nulatoes. The Board directed its sec etary to summons all parties to ap ear before it for a hearing of the vhole matter on September 8th. It s expected that there will be lively

To the Honorable Board of Education of Cumberland County:

We, the undersigned patrons of th colored school in district No. 4, Car ver's Creek township, do earnestly protest against the establishment of what is known as a Croatan school in said district for the reason

First-That there is not thirty-fiv children who call themselves Croatans in said district, and that it is true that a large majority of those who style themselves such are not Indians but are mulatoes.

Second-That to establish school will entail a very great expense upon the county, in that there would have to be established a school of the kind in every community where there is a number of mulato children.

Third-That as they are informed and believes the Board has no legal right to establish such a school without, there is as many as thirty-five real Croatan Indians residing bonafidedly in the district.

Fourth-That these children whom parents are now calling them Cros ans have heretofore been attending the regular colored schools of the dis-

As to Manchester a report was made that this district had carried the special tax, and the commissioners had ordered a levy of 30 cents on property and ninety cents poll.

ondence from Denver to the Raleigh News and Observer of to-day save: "Senator Simmons, though a men ber of the resolutions committee, will have no part in the framing of a platform. A sub-committee of fifteen was chosen to frame the platform and the North Carolina Senator was not one of these. There was a reason for this. Senator Simmons is regarded asout of sympathy with Mr. Bryan's views. North Carolina would probably have secured representation on the sub-committee had some delegate like Governor Glenn or Major E. J. Hale been chosen for membership on the resolutions committee. It is not a question of men. Senator Simmons has splendid ability and experience, fitting him for the task of framing a platform, but entertaining the views he does the State is practically disfranchised on the resolutions committee. It is only the plain truth to say

"General Julian S. Carr tore the North Carolina standard from its resting place, soon after Senator Gore zave utterance to the phrase that set the delegates wild. He was amongst the first to reach the stage with the North Carolina emblem and was folowed by nearly all the other States. Then the march around the hall and the New York delegation began with General Carr, the North Carolina standard triumphantly toward the front. For more than an hour General Carr stuck manfully to the job but finally he surrendered to one of the younger members of the delega-

Mr. F. B. Arendell writes from Den ver last night about the wonderful emonstration:

"When Okiahoma's great silver-ton rued, sightless Senator, Tom Gore, in an impressive speech to-day at nine teen minutes after one o'clock, let the simple word 'Bryan' escape from his ips, the scene that followed has never seen equalled and can never be dosribed. An effort to pen-picture that one hour and more than a half, would bankrupt the English language and brow the pen of Macualey into the ands of a receiver. It was not yet ime for a Bryan demonstration. There vas one pent up and in waiting but really wanted to wait until the nominaing speeches were made. The eloment blind Senator didn't mean to do

He had been called on to enterain the convention because the comnittees were not ready to report and he wanted to make a speech and really the convention wanted to hear him make a speech, but he touched the electric button too quick.

"He says himself that he did no mean to do it but before he had been speaking three minutes he happened o remark that in the adoption of its constitution the new State of Oklahoma had by more than one hundred thousand majority rejected the advice of Secretary Taft and accepted the advice of Col. W. J. Bryan. He simply opened the flood gates without meaning to do it.

"The short sentence came from the gifted tongue of this wonderful blind man in that mellow voice which is characteristic of him. It had in it the tint of beautiful fiction, astound ing charm and electric eloquence that touch off the pent-up emotion of ten thousand men and women and at the mention of the name Bryan by the blind Senator the ten thousand men and women simply went frantic and remained frantic for more than one and a half hours.

"It was a scene never to be forgot ten and never to be witnessed again. It was a tribute never before country it was no courtesy demonstration. It had never been planned or declaimed about at this hour. It was simply a spontaneous expression of an uncon troalable volume of Bryan elation and appreciation that could not help from bursting, and when the blind Senator touched the electric button unawares in the manner he did, the great human machine had been set in motion and no power could stop it until it ran down. It was wonderful, simply wonderful."

The church was beautifully decorated with wedding bells, white lilles, ferns and palmetto. The altar railing was wound with white and green gar lands, and the elaborate platform was rofusely decorated with cut-flowers ferns, magnolias, etc. Just at the hour of eight the bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohen grin's wedding march.

The father here bestowed the bride to the groom, where, to the sweet mu-sic of "Hearts and Flowers," the Rev. Thomas A. Cox briefly but impres pronounced them man and wife ding march the party then left the church.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk princess, with maltese ace, and her veil fell gracefully from a beautiful wreath of orange blossoms She carried a lovely bouquet of white hydrangia and asparagus forn tied with an immense bow of white sating ribbon. The maid of honor was gowned similar to the bride.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and a few intimate riends and relatives of the contract ing parties repaired to the elegan ome of the bride's parents on Main street, where delicious refreshments were served. The parlors, halls and dining-room were tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut-flowers, pal netto, wedding bells and garlands, the color scheme being white and green. The gifts received by Mr. and Mrs Thagard are seldom surpassed, either in beauty, value or number. They came from throughout Georgia, Flor ida, Kentucky and both the Carolinas which fact attests the popularity of the young couple.

Miss Roberts is the fascinating and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Roberts, of Bristol, Florida, and has numerous and widely scattered friends who wish her much joy and Mr. Thagard was formerly a North Carolina boy, but for the past few years has made his home in Florida, where he has made much success. He has the best wishes of his many friends of Fayetteville and surround ing country for a long prosperous mar-
